

Tenders for Silver Black Foxes

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned until 26th, of August for the purchase of two pairs extra Silver Black Foxes, owned by the Eldorado Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd., one pair two years old, having had a litter this spring, the other pair pups, brother and sister. The pair of pups may be tendered together, or separately, as suits buyers.

BREEDING, &c.

The two-year-old female, also, the pair of pups, is taken from litters of that famous fox styled in the Prospectus of "The Sovereign Silver Black Fox Co. Ltd." Page 3 of which Dr. Dalton is chairman, "the most prolific fox in the world."

She was formerly owned by the Hon. Chas. Dalton, and carries the aluminum button in her ear, referred to on same page of above mentioned Prospectus, in Chas. Dalton's certificate, as "only used by him on his best stock."

She raised 45 pups in seven years for Mr. Dalton, (being of a nervous temperament her removal to new quarters doubtless caused the loss of her litter last year.) This year however, she was mated with a splendid young Raymer dog, and raised five black beauties, two of which we now offer for sale.

Mr. Dalton has tested the London market with a few pelts of her offspring some years ago, and some of them nearly touched the $2000.00 mark.

The mate of the two-year-old female was selected from the Dalton Ranch under a written agreement, by a foxman and fur dealer and pronounced by Professor Jones, as one of the best specimens was ever privileged to see.

In consideration of the above, all of which we can prove by documentary evidence if necessary, we can justly claim this quartette are equal, and in some respects superior, to any foxes on the market.

For further information, apply to undersigned. Address all tenders, ELDORADO SILVER BLACK FOX CO. LTD., care of President, J. K. Stanley, Hardware Merchant, Charlottetown, P. E. I.

THE INSTITUTE CORPS.

Ontario Government Keeps Eighteen Lecturers Busy In Rural Districts.

There was a time when men said to their sisters, daughters, and wives: "Your place is in the home"; and when they looked askance at anything like a woman's club, especially in the rural districts. It must have been to overcome some such little prejudice on the part that the members of the Women's Institute chose their beautiful motto: "For Home and Country."

Mr. George A. Putnam, superintendent of institutes in Ontario, states in his 1913 report that the total number of Women's Societies in the province is 750, and membership over 22,000. To keep every member in touch with the most up-to-date information on all vital subjects affecting the home and rural life, eighteen lecturers are sent out at two different seasons of the year to address the various practical nature of the addresses. Each is a specialist in her line of work, and their earnest, practical talks on all subjects in which women are interested cannot fail to have a tremendous influence on provincial life.

During the past year instruction was given to 1,667 persons in cooking and food values, home nursing, or sewing. These subjects indicate the very practical nature of the addresses. The list of lecturers includes one medical doctor, several graduate nurses, two or three graduates of Guelph Macdonald Institute, one full-fledged optician, one graduate of the American College of Mechanical Therapies, besides many who have undergone that most efficient of trainings, a long and successful life on the farm. Surely the executive has spared no pains to give the women of Ontario the best brains the country affords.

One is pleased to note how the child comes into his own at the hands of these women who are working in the interest of home and country. More than half the lecturers have subjects dealing with children, while three or four more speak a special word for the growing girl and young woman on the farm. Miss A. M. Horton makes the child a special study. Mrs. E. B. McTurk, of Lucan, is an inspector of Barnardo girls in Ontario, and has had great success in dealing with difficult cases; while Dr. Annie Backus, along with Mrs. McTurk and many others, is particularly interested in the Medical Inspection of Children in Rural Schools.

Eleven of the speakers give talks on Health and Home Nursing. One wonders how a malignant germ continues to live in the homes of the women who have heard Miss Mary Murdoch on "Bacteriology in the Home," or Mrs. Parsons on "Home Nursing," or Miss E. E. Smillie on "Disease Germs." Mrs. F. W. Watts, of Toronto, explains to each of us how to be beautiful, while Miss Ethel Robinson, a practical farmer's daughter, gives demonstrations in physical culture.

But if one kind of subject furnishes more practical information to the woman on the farm than all the others, it is that supplied by the ten lecturers who deal with practical farm problems, while seven at least of these influential ladies are distinctly literary in taste.
