STANDING FIELD CROPS COMPETITION 1920

CASH PRIZES FOR FIELDS OF OATS, WHEAT, BARLEY AND CLOVER FOR SEED. There will be competitions in the three counties, where there are five or more entries each for wheat, barley, oats and clover for seed.

The number of prizes, in each county, will be proportionate with the number of entries. Thus the greater the number of entries the greater will be the number of prizes. Prizes will be paid according to the score. For wheat and barley forty cents a point will be paid, for each point of the score about eighty. For oats and clover fifty cents a point will be paid for each point about eighty.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

- 1. A field of oats shall consist of at least five acres, of wheat and barley three acres, of clover one half acre.
2. An entry fee of $1.00 will be charged, for the first and fifty cents for each additional entry.
3. The entry fee shall accompany the application.
4. Entries should be made to the Department of Agriculture, Charlottetown, not later than August 21st, 1920.
5. Competitors should notify the Department of Agriculture at least one week previous to date on which harvesting will begin.
6. The judging will be done by representatives of the Department of Agriculture.
7. Competitors are requested to note the following requirements for standing fields of oats.
The field must be seeded with (a) Registered Banner Oats (b) Seed from a field, which had been sown with registered seed and inspected and approved while growing. (c) Seed from fields that have been two or more years in the competition and have scored not less than 19 1/2 out of 20 points for purity and approved by the Department of Agriculture.

JUST A GIRL BY JANE PHELPS

MARY'S BIG IDEA

Chapter 75 "I have been thinkin' of it ever since I went into the restaurant, Zena. It has always seemed to me that with all your education and my experience with 'hem workin' people, that we might do something ourselves." "I don't understand, Mary." "You see, all we need is a little money. Not so much to make a start."

"I suppose they borrow—if they have friends." "But if they ain't got no friends, but know they can make good?" "I'm afraid that no one would lend them money simply because they believed in themselves, Mary."

"Zena, how much could you get on your terms and waiting for an answer, she went on: "I know show you feel about them. But don't you think your Father would be happier to know they was makin' your life easier, than just to know 't you kept them locked up because he give them to you? I do, Zena."

"But that money, even if I could get almost what they are worth, wouldn't be a great amount, Mary. But do tell me what you have in your mind, I'm all in the dark." "Well, you know how them little tea rooms has sprung up all over Chicago? And—"

"Yes," I interrupted, a glimmer of her meaning coming to me, "I have noticed ever so many of them, and wondered how they all lived." "Lived! They make money, every single one of them. Folks will eat, Mary—all of them. Some eats because they has to keep alive, some because they loves, but no matter what their reason, they all eats. Now I've been learnin' a lot since I been in that restaurant. Folks like real simple things if they is cooked right, and served dainty like. Now my big idea is to get a 'tiny little place, learn to cook one or two things perfect, then serve them real dainty—like I said, we'd have to start with small of course, just two or three tables. But I bet we could make expenses if you would look after fixin' the place like you know how, with all them cute funny little candlesticks, and things that don't cost much, but people think makes a place swell."

"I wonder—" no one can know now Mary's idea appealed to me. To be my own boss, no matter how hard I had to work, to try to develop a business of our own—it would be fascinating! "I don't wonder a bit, I know we can do it. I hated to say anything, but I, Zena, because I ain't got no money—I mean I haven't got no money—is that right? But I'll work so hard until we get started, then I'll save every penny until I can put in just as much as you did. We'll make it go, Zena, don't you think so?" "Mary, ask Mrs. Fagin to come along."

The Best Boots for Boys

OUTFIT the boy with Palmer-McLellan Patented Farm Boots and he will have Footwear that will stand the most strenuous wear, in all kinds of weather, outlasting two pairs of ordinary boots, and will not rip or lose their shape. We own exclusively the patents on these boots. They are made from heavy Palmer-McLellan Chromolium tanned leather, shaped on right and left lasts, and fitted with strong counters to support the heels. The soles are nailed on by improved machine method. These boots have all the foot-fitting comforts of a real moccasin, but will hold their shape and outdoor footwear of much heavier construction for they are all solid leather.

Ask your dealer to show you Palmer-McLellan Farm Boots in their many styles and shapes, or write PALMER-MCLELLAN SHOEPACK CO., LIMITED, FREDERICTON, N. S.
