JAMES GRAIG RIDES, SHOOTS AND ROMANCES

In a swashbuckling Western that finds him riding, shooting and romancing, James Craig plays the leading role of a two-gun United States Marshal in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Gentle Annie," adapted from the story by MacKinlay Kantor and opening today at the Prince Edward Theatre.

To capture a band of train robbers operating in the lusty Oklahoma Territory of 1900, Craig as Marshal Rich Williams poses as a hobo. Rich meets Muddy Goss, kindly big-hearted pioneer woman and her two husky sons. Muddy's sons save Rich's life and he goes to live with them, becoming one of the family. In time, Rich looks on Muddy as his own mother. Then he discovers that her boys are the train robbers he is seeking, which brings the film to a dramatic climax with a thrilling and unexpected twist to the story.

Directed by Andrew Marton, the picture was produced by Robert Sisk and features also Donna Reed and Marjorie Main.

FOR SPRING LEG MAKE-UP

With warmer, sunnier days ahead—painted legs can solve any girl's stocking problem. But make sure you do a good job by your leg show! Most important is clear, smooth skin. To remove blotches and small flesh bumps, work up a good whipped cream lather with your favorite beauty soap and using a rough wash cloth or brush—scrub vigorously. The more elbow grease you use, the sooner you'll have that satiny-smooth texture you're after. Now for your liquid stocking. Cup your hand and pour out enough leg do to cover the entire leg. Starting at the foot spread liquid with a circular motion of both hands. This gives better results than upward strokes. Do work fast, using a light touch. When leg make-up has been applied, smooth lightly with the finger, blending in uneven spots. Don't attempt to patch spots after the liquid is dry or results will be streaky. And remember, if you dress before legs are dry—pin up your skirts to keep make-up from rubbing off. When rain spots liquid stockings, wait till your skin is dry, then rub spots briskly with hands or tissues.

Do You Know?—

A High School is Needed. It has been found that in schools preparing for university entrance only it is the girls who continue school, the boys drop out. This condition is bad — most communities depend on men for leadership—if the leaders lack education how can the community be progressive?

Keen Interest In Community Concerts Shown

The mid-week check-up of workers in the 14th annual membership campaign of the Charlottetown Community Concerts Association, was held Thursday afternoon at campaign headquarters at the Maritime Electric Company on Grafton Street.

With reports received from only a portion of the workers, the membership roll shows a substantial increase over last year. The results bid fair to be highly gratifying and if the closing figures are as comparitively good, Charlottetown will have a really outstanding series of concerts next season.

Mrs. Sistare of New York, who is here assisting the workers during the campaign announced that one of the concerts—probably the first of the season will be given by the famous Platoff Russian Don Cossaks, an aggregation of 27 members who will give a thrilling program of Russian songs and dances.

All former members and prospective members are urged to hand in their membership fees at the earliest possible moment as when the campaign closes on Saturday afternoon, no more members will be received into the organization.

During the past fourteen seasons the Charlottetown Community Concerts Association has presented some of the finest artists available, including Nelson Eddy, Leonard Warren, Lansing Hatfield, baritones—John Dudley and Frederick Jaegal, tenors—Erno Balogh and Reginald Stewart, pianists, Jean Watson and Helen Oldheim contraltos, Rose Bampton, soprano—the Russian Imperial Singers—and Joseph Szigeti and Toscha Seidal, violinists. The past season's concerts were all of an outstanding character and included Lorenza Alvary, bass-baritone, William Primrose, violist and the famous Trapp Family Singers. Many of these artists have attained to the very highest rank in their particular field and most of the singers are members of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Charlottetown is indeed fortunate in having these series of Celebrity Concerts, which are the equal of those heard in any large city.

Should the membership reach the objective planned by the association before the closing time on Saturday, the membership will be closed and a waiting list of names will be kept as has been done in many other Maritime cities, including Sydney, Halifax, Saint John and Moncton, where the membership has grown to such an extent as to make it impossible to accommodate the large numbers who are clamoring to attend. So great is the demand in Halifax for admission to their concerts that two concerts by each artist or group have to be given in order to accomodate the extremely large membership. Both Saint John and Sydney have large waiting lists and in the past three years, the Moncton membership has grown to such an extent as to overflow the large high-school auditorium so that hundreds have been disappointed in their desire to become members of the Moncton Association.

Join the Charlottetown Community Concert Association today and avoid disappointment.

Ajax Oats Not Promising For P. E. I. Growers

"Many inquiries have been received recently regarding Ajax oats," reports Dr. J. A. Clark, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station here. "This variety has been tested at the Charlottetown Experimental Station for the past five years and does not appear to be very promising for this Province."

Ajax, developed at the Rust Laboratory in Winnipeg, came from a cross between Victory and Hejina. It carries considerable resistance to stem rust and is moderately resistant to crown rust. It is early maturing and produces straw of good length. It addition to its rust resistance Ajax has quite a bit of resistance to both loose and covered smut and to halo blight.

In yield tests at Charlottetown over the five-year period 1940-1944 Ajax was about five bushels per acre lower than Erban. It matured four to six days earlier than Erban and was slightly higher in percentage of hull. Straw length and strength were about the same for both varieties as was weight per measured bushel. The kernels of Ajax are inclined to be rather thin and small giving the threshed grain a poor appearance.

"Except for its disease resistance and early maturity there seems to be little reason for recommending Ajax in this Province," Dr. Clark states.

Rationed Diet Needs the Vitamin-rich Vegetables

Serious reduction in meat and butter rations has increased the need for fresh, vitamin rich vegetables in the diet. Victory gardeners should make sure that they grow and use the kinds which will supply the requirements for good nutrition.

A national nutrition conference, called to discuss the problem, agreed the daily ration of vitamins required by an active adult to maintain good health should include 5,000 international units of Vitamin A, 600 international units of B1, 75 milligrams of C, and 2.7 milligrams of B2.

The armed forces are being fed by experts who see to it that their vitamin intake is adequate. But civilians, who must also maintain maximum health, should look out after their own vitamin supply by choosing foods which will provide it.

The phrase generally used to describe vegetables rich in vitamins is: Green leafy and yellow vegetables. But that phrase is inexact. more definite information is needed, and this can be found in the vitamin table which accompanies this article.

Many vitamin tables have been published, no two of them alike. Do not be disturbed if this table does not agree exactly with other tables you may have seen. Take it as a general guide to the relative value of vegetables you can grow in your garden. Remember that vegetables supply minerals and other food factors as well as vitamins. But check your garden list with this table, and be sure that you are growing enough of the vitamin-rich vegetables to supply your family with a full quota of the vitamins they need.
