DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

CHICAGO, June 21.—The investigations and expressions of 700 trained political observers for the press begin to give the Democratic National Convention assembling here on Monday, some form. Medical Ass'n. Convention

TORONTO, June 21.—(By the Canadian Press)—The committee on general purposes of the Ontario Medical Association tonight continued discussion of the problem of the indigent patient, started today at a meeting of the Canadian Medical Association Council.

Both associations today decided medical practitioners are not bound by oath of their profession to give free medical treatment.

The attitude of both organizations was that the practice of giving free treatment has become a tradition with the medical profession and that especially in times of financial stress, this imposed considerable hardships on doctors whose practices were among the poor.

Schooners Lose Race With U. S. Tariff Laws

BOSTON, June 21.—Two Canadian schooners loaded with lumber lost their race in an attempt to get into a United States port before the new tariff laws became effective today. The schooners were the Vilda A. and the Margery Austin, each loaded with lumber from the Maritime Provinces. The first was bound for Boston and the second for Beverly.

The new laws make a difference of from $1 to $3 per 1,000 feet in the tariff on lumber, and this, port officials said, would handicap the lumber trade from Canada which has been carried on for 100 years. New taxes also apply to importations of coal from Great Britain, Holland, Germany and Russia and of oil from Mexico and the Dutch West Indies.

TORONTO, June 21.—(Wednesday)—By the Canadian Press)—Special despatch to the Toronto Mail and Empire from its Ottawa correspondent under date of June 21, says:

Fraud, perjury, forgery and misrepresentation, employed on a scale which officials fear is extensive, have been uncovered in the granting of war pensions to ex-soldiers and their dependents, it was reported today in the Capital.

"How many thousands of dollars have been lost through the payment of pensions to persons having no right to them could not be learned, but it is declared that investigations now in progress have revealed an average of one fraudulent case a day over the past few weeks.

"Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, could not be reached tonight for an official statement on the sensational disclosures made by officials checking pension claims.

"In some cases, it is declared, as much as $5,000 or $6,000 have been paid on cases where, through misrepresentation, the Department was wrongfully led to believe that a claimant deserved compensation."
