ELECTION OF JOHN STANFIELD FOR COLCHESTER

Was Elected Yesterday by a Majority of Two Hundred with Four Places to Hear from Which Will Not Affect Result

JOHN STANFIELD.

TRURO, Nov. 28.—(Special)—Stanfield, Conservative, was elected by a two hundred majority with four places to hear from which will not materially affect the result.

The above news which was received in this city yesterday afternoon of the election of John Stanfield, of Truro, N. S., to represent the county of Colchester in the Dominion House of Commons was received with welcome by his many friends in Charlottetown.

That a great deal of interest was felt in his election was manifest from the fact that enquiries came to The Guardian from nearly all parts of this Province yesterday evening, desiring to know whether Mr. Stanfield was elected or not. It is a strong testimonial to his personal popularity, that he has so many friends here anxious to learn of his success.

The Guardian was happy to afford those asking information that Mr. Stanfield had been handsomely returned by a majority of 200, and in every case the news was greeted with satisfaction, many adding that it gave them pleasure to know Mr. Stanfield had succeeded, notwithstanding the hard fight he had during his pre-election campaign.

As intimated in The Guardian of the 14th inst., when a brief sketch of Mr. Stanfield's career was given, the successful candidate was born in Charlottetown, in 1869. While he was very young his parents moved to Truro, where the family has since resided.

John Stanfield is associated with his brother in the large and well known enterprise of Stanfields Limited, who are so well known as the manufacturers of Stanfields underwear, and many other woolsen manufactures and whose mills have lately been enlarged and greatly extended.

Mr. Stanfield ran as an Independent Liberal-Conservative, and is looked upon as a strong man, who will make an excellent representative in Parliament.

With his host of friends The Guardian joins in extending congratulations.

The King Puts a Stop to the Naval Disput

His Majesty Pours Oil on Troubled Waters—Public Startled by the Animosity of High British Naval Officers

LONDON, Nov. 27.—The squabble between Admiral Lord Charles Beresford and Rear-Admiral Sir Percy Scott is merely a manifestation of an internecine feud which, it seems, is involving all the leading officers of the British Navy. They are dividing as opponents of or supporters of First Sea Lord Sir John Fisher, and for some time partisans of both sides have been inspiring opposing newspapers with all manner of inside information calculated to harm their adversaries and incidentally, the prestige of the navy.

Lord C. Beresford is regarded as the leader of the Anti-Fisher party, while Sir Percy Scott is a devoted adherent of Sir John. But Scott overstepped the mark when he hoisted the signal of contempt for an order which did not originate with Lord C. Beresford, but with the Admiralty Board itself, of which Sir John Fisher is the chief.

Lord Beresford signalled to the vessels of his fleet, which were at target practice, to come in and get in ship shape for Imperial German inspection.

Thereupon Sir Percy signalled to his squadron.

"Paint work appears to be more in demand than gunnery. So you had better come inside the breakwater in time to paint your ship and look pretty by the 8th."

By the special intervention of King Edward the whole affair is being hushed up. The glimpse, however, which the British public has been afforded of the personal animosities prevailing in the higher ranks of the English Navy has been rather startling.

PARLIAMENT WAS OPENED YESTERDAY

A Raw Cold Day, Brilliant Ceremony and The Speech As Forshadowed—The Debate On Address Goes Over Till Monday Afternoon Next

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—(Special)—The Dominion Parliament was opened today with the usual ceremonies.

The weather was not propitious the day being raw and cold with touches of snow on the foot and a few snow flurries.

There was a fair attendance outside the building but the scene within was brilliant and the ceremonies well attended.

The speech from the throne was substantially as forecasted in the Guardian yesterday.

The debate on the speech will not be taken up until Monday on account of the drawing room tomorrow evening.

In connection with the bill to increase the members of the Railway Commission the name of Wm. Whyte of Montreal, Manager of Eastern division of the C.P.R. has been mentioned as one of the new commissioners.

There is no doubt that Mr. Whyte will get an offer of the position but the salary may not be a sufficient inducement for him to accept.

David Pottinger, General Manager of the I. C. R. has been spoken of as another possible commissioner.

SAD DROWNING ACCIDENT IN THIS PORT YESTERDAY

George Gilfoy of Schooner Alhambra Falls from Mainboom

Early yesterday morning a regrettable accident took place on board the schooner Alhambra in this harbor. The vessel belongs to Lunenburg, N. S., and is commanded by Capt. Wm. Gilfoy.

The captain's son George D. was one of the crew, and yesterday morning about seven o'clock he was engaged getting the schooner ready to leave port. While out on the mainboom taking a reef in the sail he most unfortunately slipped off the footropes and fell overboard.

The young man, who was only twenty-three years old was unable to swim, and although his father promptly threw a line over to him, it seems that he was either too dazed to catch it, or else did not see it. A dory was at once got overboard, but before it reached the spot where the young man was last seen the body had sunk. It was blowing heavily at the time which made the attempt at rescue difficult.

The sad affair created much sympathy, for the victim of the accident was a very fine young man.

The Alhambra had been loaded with produce up the East River, and was on her way to Halifax.

The schooner remained in port, and all day yesterday the tug Wm. Atken was engaged in the task of dragging for the body. Up to last night it had not been recovered and the search will be continued today.

The deceased leaves besides his father, his mother, a brother, also on the Alhambra, and two sisters to mourn their loss.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Croscoll's Tablets, ten cents per box. All druggists.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY WAS OBSERVED BY CALEDONIAN CLUB

In a most Enjoyable Manner Last Night in their New Hall.

Anticipating the anniversary by a day or two, the Caledonian Club of this City last night observed their annual celebration of St. Andrew's Day, with all the honors.

In their new Hall they and their friends gathered together and spent one of the most enjoyable evenings in the Club's history.

A. S. P. M. after a blessing pronounced by the Rev. Thomas Fullerton the members and their guests sat down to tea, a most enjoyable meal, followed by "the haggis" which warmed the hearts, and kindled the patriotism, of all those who partook.

Very interesting speeches appropriate to the occasion were made by His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, by Rev. T. P. Fullerton, R. V. Geo. E. Ross, and other speakers, and further enjoyment was added by songs from Miss McNair, Miss Ethel Stewart and others, and a recitation by Miss McKeezie.

Later on, after the "feast of reason and the flow of soul," the younger members, and their fair friends, tripped the light fantastic toe over the splendid surface of the polished floor, and spent some most enjoyable hours.

The occasion was one of the happiest anniversaries ever observed by this popular Club.

THE NEW ARRIVAL OF WHAT? AND TO WHERE?

These are the questions you may keep asking today, and then go to Wonderland and have the answers.

The New Arrival is an especially fine film; runs the whole length of a reel in depicting its subject, and ranks among the finest yet shown here. Just by way of keeping you guessing, no description of the picture will be given. There are many new arrivals; new arrivals in the home; in the Universities in the cities. Come and see to which this particular new arrival belongs, and how the story ends.

Cohen's Bad Luck is the second picture, while An Unnatural Father speaks for itself a powerful series of illustrations. Mr. Harney will sing "Won't you come over to my yard and play that you're my little girl"

This song made a mighty hit last evening when it was rendered for the first time here by Mr. Harney, and it is rarely beautiful in both word and musical setting.

So Wonderland pursues the even tenor of its way, and always provides the very best entertainment possible. It is more popular than ever, and it has become the regular order of things to drop into Wonderland of an evening and share in the wholesome, good fun and clean entertainment it so unflinchingly provides.

WEALTHY MAN SHOOTS WIFE AND SUICIDES

By Leaping from Ninth Story Window in New York Hotel, Being Instantly Killed, No Known Cause for the Crime

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—(Special)—John Whitley, one of the leading dealers in stoves, ranges and house heating apparatus in Brooklyn, and vice president of Rollins Roll bearing D. or Hanger Co. killed his wife with two pistol shots today as she lay sleeping in a room on the ninth floor of the Hotel Belle Claire.

Whitley then leaped from the window into the street, being killed instantly by the fall.

Whitley was 60 years old and his wife 38. No motive for the murder and suicide could be discovered.

A Deplorable Tenement Fire In New York

Was the Work of Incendiaries—Thirteen Lives Were Lost and Many Were Injured—Pathetic Sights Discovered By Firemen

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Thirteen persons lost their lives and several others were injured a few days ago in a tenement house fire at 109th Street, and Second Avenue.

All the dead were Italians. Seven of the thirteen were children. The bodies were found huddled together in rooms on the top floor of the four-story building, where the terror-stricken people had been driven by the flames which rushed up from the lower floors. They had been caught and swept down to death before they succeeded in reaching windows which led to the fire escapes and safety.

Some had been enveloped in the flames and burned alive. Others overcome by smoke had been spared the agonies of death in the flames.

That the fatal fire was the work of incendiaries who sought revenge, is the opinion of the police and firemen who made the first hasty examination. Three weeks ago three Italians were caught in the act of attempting to rob a safe in the saloon of Giuseppe Cudano, on the ground floor.

The safe contained over $2,000 which the saloon keeper's friends had withdrawn from banks during the money panic. The would-be robbers were arrested and are now awaiting trial. The fire of today started in Cudano's saloon and the police believe that it may have been the work of friends of the prisoners, who took this means of squaring the account with the saloon keeper.

Cudano first discovered the fire when he went down to his place of business early this morning.

So quickly did the flames spread that almost before the firemen arrived the whole building was a furnace, and it was impossible for anyone to enter. Even the cries of the agonized women and children were drowned by the roar and crackle of the flames, the hissing engines and the frantic crowd which pressed as closely as possible to the fire lines. Not a single person was seen to appear at any of the windows of the blazing building with the exception of those on the second floor, from which several persons reached the fire escape and were rescued. The reason for this was explained when, after the flames had been partially checked, firemen fought their way through the smoke to the upper floors.

There they came upon piles of dead where they had fallen victims to the rush of flames and smoke even before they had a chance to attempt to save themselves.

In one of the heaps the fireman found a woman who had made one last desperate effort to save the life of her baby, even when she knew that she herself was doomed to a horrible death. She had folded her arms tightly around the little one, and then huddled down close to the floor her own body protecting that of the child. The mother's body was badly burned.

That of the child bore scarcely a mark, yet it was dead from suffocation. On every side of the mother and child lay the bodies of other victims.

CHANGE OF PROGRAMME

Musically And Pictorially At Fairyland.

The magnificent pictures shown at Fairyland on Wednesday and Thursday nights have elicited the highest praise from many delighted and enthusiastic patrons. The attendance on both nights was very large, and appreciation raked supreme. The specialties which included the illustrated song by Parker Hooper and the Scottish dance, by Guy Scott, also same in for a generous measure of commendation.

To-night, there will be an entire change of programme. The longest of the moving pictures, from a reel of 1200 feet in length, is entitled "The Ruler's Redemption." It is a realistic melange of tragedy and redemption; it is descriptive of Western life. The villain after running the criminal gamut, is finally influenced for good by a little child and led into the right path again. The plot is engaging and full of heart interest. The scenes are superb.

"The Square Deal," is another drama marked by the sensational and exciting element. The fate of the gambler is graphically portrayed by the wonderful motion photography that allows no movement to escape.

Through the darkness of the tragedy breaks the enlivening light of the comedy, "Happy Bob" appears again in a new role, he gets the worst of the game as first, but eventually gets the better of it. It is highly amusing.

There will be a complete change also in the musical programme. E. H. Mitchell, the well known vocalist of this city, and the popular representative of the Great Western Life Assurance Company, will sing an illustrated song "When the Roses Kissed the Autumn Leaves Good-Bye." The lantern slides for this song are all from Edward Island scenes beautifully colored by J. A. S. Bayer. They are brand new pictures and are certainly artistic gems. Altogether, the whole performance will make a most enjoyable entertainment.
