BY GEORGE MAGUIRE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, April 6—(CP)—Manhattan's surprising Rangers, more potent than ever in their previous playoff games, jolted Detroit Red Wings back on their collective heels tonight with a smashing 5-1 triumph in the first game of the best-of-five Stanley Cup final.
A capacity crowd of more than 16,000 delirious fans cheered the Rangers on as they opened with a three-goal spurge in the first period; added another in the second and then matched single tallies with the enemy in the third.
The game was replete with thrilling and dramatic moments. The first occurred when Manager Jack Adams of the visitors had to replace his all-star goaltender, Normie Smith, after the first period.

Ice Races At Clermont

The Community Driving Club, held their final race of the season on Tuesday, March 16.
The snow fall of the early hours of the morning followed by a soft easterly wind left the course in a very soft condition for racing, but that did not stop some of the keen fans of horse races from being in attendance. Only one class was called consisting of Mac Volo, owned by Frowse Yeo and Senator Crow, owned by W. B. McNeill, Helena Witte, owned by George Sobey and Joe Louis, owned by James Bernard. The latter horse had to be drawn, owing to a mishap while scoring. Mac Volo carried off the honors with Helena Witte, pushing him all the way down the stretch and Senator Crow a good third. The Club wish to extend their thanks to Mr. Robert Phillips and Mr. W. B. McNeill both of Summerside, for their generous donations for prizes. The following is a summary of the class.
Mac Volo, owned by Frowse Yeo, driven by Tyndall Semple, 1. 1. Helena Witte, owned by George Sobey, driven by Earle Semple, 2. 2.

C. N. Police World's Champion Shot

NEW YORK, April 6—Sergeant Robert George Pickrell, of the Canadian National police and world's champion revolver shot, gave the United States Army a lesson in marksmanship at Fort Wadsworth here today. Using Bob Donahoe of the Pathe newsreel as a target, Sergeant Pickrell outlined him and his camera with fifteen shots while Donahoe worked his camera so that theatre audiences all over the world will be able to know what it feels like to be shot at. His colleague cameraman Larry O'Reilly also of the Pathe News worked a second camera to show that the human target practice was genuine.
The performance was witnessed by a squad of soldiers from the eighteenth Battalion United States Infantry, under the command of Lieutenant McGehee, and when the various exhibitions were completed Sergeant Pickrell was besieged for advice and autographs.
In addition to outlining the figure of cameraman Donahoe, Sergeant Pickrell also made a number of shots at the regulation revolver targets that are used by the American Army, although an extremely strong and chilly wind was blowing directly off New York's outer harbor on the shore of which the range is located. Sergeant Pickrell complained that the bulls-eye was really too big and so from a distance of forty yards he made his own bulls-eye by placing five shots around his first shot. He was so accurate that the entire group of shots could be covered with a fifty cent piece. The United States Army is giving this target to use as an example of the degree of accuracy which can be attained by a revolver shot.
J. N. Walsh, sports editor of Pathe News, who directed the picture, stated that in his experience he had never seen such accurate shooting, especially under the extremely bad weather conditions which prevailed.

Manhattan Marvels Are "Hot Stuff"

BY HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK, April 6—The "red hot" New York Rangers emerged from tonight's one-sided championship victory over Detroit Red Wings to find a congratulatory telegram from—of all places—Asbestos, Que.
The Rangers have developed a new slogan—a dangerous goal on every stick. Manager Lester Patrick grinned as he contemplated the five goals his blue shirts scored in the Stanley Cup series opener. Two of them were by his husky son, Lynn, and one by Joe Cooper whose last previous goal was scored when he played last season for Philadelphia Ramblers, Rangers' farm team.
"We've got two strikes on them now," Patrick chortled. "They've got to win two straight before we start worrying."
Roland Rondeau of Asbestos in Quebec's eastern township sent the telegram from the "fiery town" to the "team on fire." It said best wishes "to Lynn and the rest of the boys."
Ott Heller was the only one to show visible marks of battle. He sported a chunk of sticking plaster on a head cut he received prior to his third-period brawl with Eddie Goodfellow.
Over in the dressing room of the losers they talked like winners. The contagious grin was missing from the ample face of Manager Jack Adams but with amazing confidence he said:
"This is a five-game series and I still think we can take them."
Adams had no alibi for the woeful showing of his skaters in the first period which actually wrote their defeat in three insurmountable goals.
"On the night's play, the better team won but we're far from being down," he said.
Adams revealed that he pulled Normie Smith out of the goal after the disastrous first period to save him for the games to come, not because of the arm injury he suffered against Montreal Canadiens last night.
Smith himself said "I'll be in there for the next game. I think it will be a winning one."

Junior Rivals To Meet In Another Game

Tonight is hockey night once more at the Forum with another double bill being staged, Junior Abbies and Rangers, apparently never tiring of meeting each other will hook up in another of their gruelling battles and this time the Abbies will be out to avenge their setback last week when the Rangers haltered a decision over them in a game that very nearly ended in a riot.
As a climax to the night's program Cross Roads and Dunstaffnage will hook up in their battle for the Island rural title and this game will furnish any fireworks that the junior tussle may lack. But it is hardly necessary to say that the juniors will not be pulling any punches.
Action, Action, Action 's what is in store for the fans tonight.

Hoop Playoffs Open Friday

MONTREAL, April 6—Doug Robertson, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, announced tonight it will be necessary for McGill Grads and Saint John Consols to adhere to the schedule for the senior Eastern Canada game semi-finals calling for the two-game series at Saint John, April 9 and 10.
Earlier the vice-president had fixed April 15 and 16 as the play-off dates or possibly one day earlier were it convenient for the Consols, the Maritime Province champions.
Robertson said the C.A.B.A. play down schedule requires completion of the best-of-five Canadian senior final series between the east and western Dominion champions at Vancouver by May 3.
Winner of the Eastern Canada semi-finals between McGill, Quebec titleholders, and Consols must play Windsor Fords, the Ontario champions, at Windsor, Ont., April 16, 17 and possibly 19 in a best-of-three series, he added.

Montreal Canadiens May Play Exhibition Game Here Early Next Week

Before the Forum closes its doors for the season hockey followers may have a chance of witnessing the Montreal Canadiens, runners-up this season for the National Hockey League title in action on Charlottetown ice.
Such was the information conveyed by Manager C. F. Archer of the Forum last evening. Mr. Archer has been in communication with Manager Cecil Hart of the "Flying Frenchmen" and a telegram received last night was reassuring to say the least. However, nothing definite on the matter is known as yet but on Canadians arrival in Sydney for their exhibition series Thursday definite word will be known.
If Canadians do stir their stuff here the Forum will likely be packed to the doors. Happenings in the camp of the Canadiens the past month headlined by the death of Howie Morenz has brought the Canadian team into the glare of publicity more so than ever before and then the team's stirring comeback against the Red Wings had every hockey fan in Canada pulling for them to come through.
It would indeed be a treat to watch them in action.

Ramblers Blank Syracuse 2-0

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
PHILADELPHIA, April 6—Philadelphia Ramblers tonight scored a 2-0 victory over Syracuse Stars in the first game of their best three-of-five series for the championship of the International-American Hockey League.
The New York Rangers farm club scored two goals in the third period and prevented an airtight defence. A near capacity crowd of 6,000 almost lifted the roof when Bobby Kirk fired in the first goal at 8:50 and Clint Smith the second at 13:36.
Despite the intensity of the play there were only four penalties. One was a major to Bryan Hextall of the Ramblers who swung on Norman Mann after the Star winger cut Hextall's eye with the butt of his stick. Mann went off for two minutes.

Jimmy Braddock, Jersey City heavyweight boxer, lost a 10-round decision to Billy Jones, Philadelphia negro, at the Quaker city, seven years ago tonight. The verdict was roundly booed. Braddock has gone a long way since then, winning the world's heavyweight crown from Max Baer June 13, 1935. Braddock has yet to defend his title.

Braddock Turns Backwoodsman

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 6—(AP)—Swinging a heavy, double edged axe, James J. Braddock, the backwoodsman, chopped down trees in the wilds near his camp for two hours today in the first training move of his campaign.
Braddock planned to saw them into four foot lengths and then cut them for fuel for the fire-place in the log cabin that will be his home for the next five weeks.
Muddy roads, deep with ruts and melting snows, will not keep the champion from his road work. He intends to start hoofing over them tomorrow.

Looking 'em Over At The Citrus Circuit

(By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer)
NEW YORK, April 6—Backtracking the major league spring baseball trail from Havana through Florida to New Orleans, with nominations:
Hardest Worker—Shanty Hogan, the reformed fat man with Washington, was tops as he hustled for and clinched the first string catching job with the Senators.
Greatest Nose Maker—Mickey Owen, new addition to the St. Looney gashouse gang, won by a few hundred echoes over Dizzy Trout of Detroit.
Biggest flop—Dizzy Dean's hold-out campaign.
Biggest surprise deal—Sale of Al Simmons by Detroit to Washington for a little more than the $7,500 waiver price. It was the first time owner Clark Griffith has bought a major league player outright.
Most improved player—Red Rolfe, New York Yankee third baseman, gets the palm among regulars.
Leading optimists—Clark Griffith and his manager, Bucky Harris. They have a hunch their Senators, not the Yankees, are going to win that American League banner.
Nerviest Holdout—Charlie Ruffing, the Yankee pitching red head, who thinks a grand is too good to miss by signing for $15,000.
Happiest guy—Van Lingle Mungo, the big train of the Brooklyn pitching staff. For the first time since Mungo became a star, he got exactly the salary he demanded and is tickled about it. Van wants to pitch every day.
Soberest manager—Burlleigh Grimes, new boss of the Brooklyn seriousness gang, insists that there shall be no monkey-shine or daffiness, old Burlleigh hardly will smile.
Worriest Manager—Steve O'Neill of Cleveland Indians. Steve is worried lest something should happen to Bob Feller, pitching sensation.

Exhibition Game Ends In Draw

With two of the teams unable to reach the city owing to condition of the roads last night's rural hockey doubleheader had to be cancelled and in its place Cross Roads and Pownal, with several City senior players participating, took part in an exhibition game.
The game proved full of action with three fist-swinging episodes taking place during the fray but despite the high-powered battling the team's couldn't produce a winner, the contest ending 4-4.

Joe Louis Rests While Manager Maps Campaign

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire)
CHICAGO, April 6—Joe Louis came home from his barn-stomping tour today—so unconcerned over plans for fighting James J. Braddock that he flopped right into bed for an all-day nap.
Co-manager Julian Black said Louis would rest until Friday, when they plan to go to Hot Springs, Ark., or West Baden, Ind., for a two-week stay. After that, the negro, who weighs about 205 pounds, will head for the open spaces for a three-week wood-chopping and hiking siege.

Three-year Program Planned To Develop British Athletes For 1940 Olympic Games

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON, April 6—(CP)—A three-year program of international competition for the development of a strong 1940 British Olympic team may be extended to include Canadian and representatives of other Dominions and colonies.
"I personally would like to see the development of a British team of Empire competition rather than a team drawn from the United Kingdom alone," declared Brigadier General A. C. Critchley, Calgary-born English sports promoter who has offered a $50,000 guarantee to the Amateur Athletic Association for three international meets at White City here. It has been suggested they be conducted the first week in August for the next three years.
"It is certainly a matter for further consideration," was the comment of an official of the A.A.A. Already invitations have been sent to various countries, including the United States, to have representatives at the first meet on Aug. 2.
Profits from the meets will go to the training of the British team in preparation for the Tokyo Olympic Games.
If the plan to include athletes from the Dominions and colonies on the British team were carried out the meets would resemble the British Empire-United States meets, with the exception that other countries would also take part.
General Critchley, disappointed at the British showing at the Berlin Olympics last summer, decided on the three-year plan at that time.
 Trevor Wignall wrote in the London Daily Express:
"He felt we had the material but that it had not been given a chance of showing what it could accomplish. He promised that before the time arrives for another British side to leave this land he would at least make an attempt to introduce a system that has been in force in America for very many years."
"His idea was that we should view the games as do the Germans, Americans and Italians and Japanese... the general hope that our athletes will be dispatched to Tokyo in time to become acclimated and that everything will be done for their comfort."
"They are entitled to the support, the attendance and the freedom from worry that is always given to the Americans, and it will not be General Critchley's fault if they are not trained to the minute by coaches and massurers and others fully equipped for their jobs."
"If the whitened or the tradition-bound winner that all this smacks of pseudo-amateurism, the reply is that the first athletes should be thrown at other countries. I am one who long since discarded the notion that there is much amusement about the Olympic Games."
"We will not stand a chance of winning a single event in Japan if we leave things over until a month or so before the start of the 1940 games. Our budgets are lighter now than the A.A.A. have consented to work with General Critchley. General Critchley's 10,000 pounds is not only timely but it may help in saving Britain from another dose of "stetic mutilation."

Crowning Rites Will Be Filmed

LONDON, April 6—The Coronation ceremony inside Westminster Abbey May 12 is to be photographed for the ladies. On behalf of all the news reel companies in Great Britain, Sir Gordon Craig, and W. J. Gull have announced the Duke of Norfolk (the Earl Marshall) and the Coronation committee have granted facilities for the filming of the ceremony.
"All aspects of the task have been discussed with the Earl Marshall, the Archbishop of Canterbury and members of the Coronation committee in the Abbey itself."
"Every reasonable facility is to be granted for a most comprehensive record of the ceremony to be made in keeping in every respect with the dignity and solemnity of the occasion," they added. "With the utmost resource of the industry at command, there is but little doubt that the film will go down as the greatest historical record of all times."
