Daughter Recalls
Death of Thomas
D'Arcy McGee

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Aug. 6.—The assassination of her father, Thomas D'Arcy McGee, one of the most illustrious of the Fathers of Confederation, was recalled here tonight by Agnes D'Arcy McGee, his daughter, on the eve of her 78th birthday. Miss McGee resides at the Father Down Memorial Home here. Thomas D'Arcy McGee was assassinated by a Fenian on April 6, 1868, in Ottawa.
"I was only 10 years old at the time," she said, "and was alone with my mother as my sister was at the Villa Maria Convent. I remembered so clearly the last words my father said to me as he was leaving for Ottawa. I had a toy stuffed dog that I called Fido under my arm.
"My father said: 'Well, God bless you, Peggy. Take good care of Fido and the dolls while I am away.'
"On the wall of Miss McGee's room hangs a portrait of her father, to whom she bears a striking resemblance. In one corner is a chair he bought in Quebec.
Miss McGee was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., one of five children, three of whom died before the family came to Montreal. Her sister, Mrs.

J. Quinn, died in California several years ago.

Up Ten Billions

(Boston Post)
A prominent stock exchange house finds that the market value of 100 representative common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange increased close to $1,200,000,000 in the month of July. As there are nearly 1200 common and preferred issues listed on that exchange, it is reasonable to assume the total increase in value was considerably more.
From April 1 to July 1 the Stock Exchange official bulletin showed an increase of $4,800,000,000 in the value of all securities listed. By Aug. 1, this was well above $600,000,000. Taking into account all other exchanges, and the huge volume of securities not listed, it is safe to estimate an increase of $10,000,000,000 in security values in these last four months.
Of course prices rise and fall and values at any given time cannot be entirely realized upon. But this rise is important for two reasons. First, the owners of these securities naturally feel better and are apt to be more liberal in their spendings and undertakings of all kinds. Second, the very rise in values itself is significant as indicating a great confidence that we are emerging safely from the great depression.

ADDRESSES TO
MACDONALD

The following addresses were delivered to Rev. John A. Macdonald on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary to the priesthood, which was celebrated last Tuesday in St. Patrick's Church, Grand River, where Rev. Father John has been parish priest for 32 years.

Of the addresses given below, one was from Rev. Dr. Monaghan Parish Priest at Miscouche on behalf of the clergy of the Diocese, one from the parishioners of Miscouche Parish, Father John's first parish, one from the parishioners of Grand River and one from the parishioners of Wellington and one from the parishioners of Lennox Island.

Clergy's Address

To the Reverend John A. Macdonald, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Grand River.

Reverend and Dear Father:— In the midst of the Chorus of Congratulations offered you on the Fiftieth Anniversary in the Priesthood, it is befitting that a word be spoken on behalf of your confreres. They can more keenly appreciate what such a period of ministry means, more especially if they have passed that mark themselves, or are approaching it.

Twenty-five years ago, some among us were present to applaud your achievements up to that date, and to offer you a sincere wish that God might give you another twenty-five years. He did, and the years that intervened were not less fruitful than the former ones. Endowed as you were with excellent qualities, both physical and intellectual, the heritage of your Highland Parents, you were a giant among men. Imbued with piety as well, you, from an early age, looked to the Priesthood as your field of labor. Your ordination is summed up in terse words by the historian of the day: "The early days of 1855, saw the ordination of Reverend John Macdonald. On the 4th of January he was ordained by the Archbishop of Quebec."

Born in St. Andrew's Parish, you received your education at St. Dunstan's College and Seminary. After ordination you were attached to the Cathedral Staff for a short time, and then appointed professor of St. Dunstan's. You touched on pioneer days, but you left the imprint of solidity in studies to that Institution. The students of fifty years ago are becoming sparse, but the few of us who remain wish to tell you, after that lapse of time, how we valued your kindly manner and fervent enthusiasm in both studies and sports.

In 1888 you were given charge of one of the oldest parishes in the diocese, Miscouche, Wellington was also attached to it as a mission. There you ministered to Acadians, Scotch, and Irish and endeavored yourself to all in the material administration, let the beautiful church, with its "turrets twin", and the Rectory built during your time, speak of your zeal. Truly you set a pace which has made your successors might be made since. Mention through your tact and diplomacy, the Convent was approved of as a public school, the first in the Province.

In 1904 you were transferred to Grand River, but Wellington remained under your charge. The love and respect with which you are cherished in those Parishes speak eloquently of your never-lagging zeal. But above all, your interest in the welfare of the Indian Children bespeak the true Missionary Spirit. You were appointed by Government as Indian Commissioner for this Province, a truly wise appointment, for every dollar contributed by Government for the Indians, under your administration, reached its mark.

Nowadays we speak much of Catholic Action. I think it is only a new name for what has ever been the objective of the Catholic Pastor, and you have been putting it into practice since the first days of your ministry. You dispensed with religious instruction; but you were not less active for secular, as well as for those social features which bring forth the best qualities of human nature.

Exulting in these details of your life, we rejoice for another year and that after a serious illness and operation, you are with us today in robust health. May it long continue! In conclusion, we offer you this small gift as a more tangible proof of our esteem.

Miscouche

Rev. and Dear Father:— On this joyful event, when you celebrate the 50th anniversary of your Ordination, your former parishioners of Miscouche rejoice with you and your many friends on the numberless blessings the Divine Master has been pleased to shower upon you.

We were your first parish charge. From 1888 to 1904 you ministered to us untiringly, and during those years you lavished upon us those rare gifts of nature and grace which are yours; along with wonderful physical and mental abilities you unconsciously displayed love for Christ and His Blessed Mother; loyalty to duty, sympathy for the sick and needy, solicitude for the education and welfare of youth, morally, intellectually and physically.

We look back with delightful memories to the social, educational and social activities of your time. To both young and old you were the able and zealous leader. Aye the present Miscouche Band is a revival of the Heekman band you organized and directed for some time.

We were sorry indeed when you were taken from us in 1904, but we rejoice that your next charge was not too far away, only a neighboring parish. We are delighted and grateful to have you back with us, assisting in the Forty Hours and other occasions.

Not too many whose bodily health is the last thing thought of, can boast of such a strong constitution as yours, after fifty years so laboriously and fruitfully spent in Christ's vineyard. Therefore, we rejoice again with you that you have completed half a century in God's service and that you have returned from Montreal in good health.

May God bless you and spare you many more years.

As a grateful remembrance, your former parishioners ask you to accept this little token.

Grand River

Reverend Father:— On this, the fiftieth anniversary of your ordination to the Holy Priesthood, we take the opportunity of expressing to you our sincere congratulations and wishes. We have gathered together today in happy memory of that glorious event a half century ago, when you offered up to your Divine Lord your services in His great army. We cannot but imagine the great joy that must be yours today as you look back in memory to that first occasion when your mind, illuminated by faith, saw your Redeemer and God quicken in life beneath your finger tips at the words, "This is My Body, This is My Blood." Your heart must overflow at the recollection of the blessed memories of the glorious event. An event that could not but inspire you with fervent desire to do, to think, and be, all that the Master commands of those upon whose souls is entrusted the indelible character of His eternal priesthood. And even if all the aspirations of that day have not been fulfilled, still the memory of those intervening years of joy and sorrow, of hope and fear, must be followed by the realization that at the completion of fifty years of service you have left behind an example; that cannot fail to be a source of inspiration to all those with whom you have been associated.

To the parishioners of Grand River you will always stand as a great man, and an ideal priest, whose cheery disposition and unflinching sympathy have helped us over the difficult places in the road of life, and whose example of sacrifice and service will ever remain a beacon light, that will help in no small way, to guide us to that eternal home, to the task of which you have devoted so many years of your life. Ever since the day that you first came among us, we have been bound to you by a golden chain of love, which has grown stronger as the years passed, and today, on your golden jubilee, our hearts overflow with gratitude to God for granting us the privilege of being your special care for so many years.

We feel that empty words and feelings are inadequate to express our thoughts on this occasion, but we ask you to accept this small gift as a token of the esteem in which you are held by your parishioners in Grand River, and we pray that God will bestow upon you the grace to remain in the way that He knows best, for the sacrifices which you have made in our behalf.

Signatures of the parishioners of Grand River. Trustees, Joseph R. MacIntyre, John S. MacKinnon and Frank Gillis.

Wellington

Dear Father John:— When St. Peter beheld our Lord's transfiguration, he said, "Lord! It is good for us to be here." It is likewise good for us to be here today too on this auspicious occasion, as representatives of Wellington Parish, to unite with so many others in honouring you, our once esteemed pastor.

For many years you labored among us as our pastor and friend. In the fulfillment of your priestly duties towards us, you were as St. Paul says, "Constant in season and out of season." You have helped us much along the way of life, advising us in our difficulties, and comforting and encouraging us in our trials. "To live is to forget," runs the old adage. But how can we ever forget the many sacrifices you made in our behalf? We remember the times, too numerous to mention, you drove miles and hard ones too, to minister to our living, comfort our sick and dying and to bury our dead. Such things are not forgotten, and never can be by those for whom you laboured so faithfully and helped so much. In you we had a friend, a true friend to both rich and poor, one on whom we could rely always without doubt or uncertainty. For all of us you have done for us in any way, we are sincerely grateful. Our regret is that we are unable to reward you in the manner you so richly deserve. Although we know that you will receive a hundred fold reward from the Master of all, we ask you to accept this little present as a token of our heartfelt gratitude. As you receive this small gift from us, please remember once again in your good prayers your old parishioners of Wellington.

Those of our parish who are unable to be present here today, join with us in congratulating you, and we all sincerely hope and pray that, although you have spent over fifty happy but strenuous years in the holy priesthood, you may enjoy many more in the Master's service.

For the future, we are glad to have you back with us in congratulating you, and we all sincerely hope and pray that, although you have spent over fifty happy but strenuous years in the holy priesthood, you may enjoy many more in the Master's service.

Lennox Island

To the Rev. Father John A. Macdonald, Indian Superintendent of P. E. Island.

Dear Rev. Father:— On this, the celebration of your Golden Jubilee, we feel that we can not let the occasion pass without some little mark of commendation for the faithful manner in which you have ministered to us in the days that are past. We know that the few feeble remarks that we may make can never compensate you for the many years of faithful service you have given us, a service, Dear Father, that we are fully aware was so freely and cheerfully given, although often, rendered under the most severe hardship to yourself.

In your capacity as our Superintendent, you filled your office without discrimination, ever seeking to do your utmost with the means at hand, always endeavouring to obtain for us every possible improvement on our Reserve that would benefit us and better our condition, and to bring many substantial remembrances to us, ever standing as a monument to your thoughtfulness, things that might never have been obtained but for your untiring efforts, therefore we beg you, Dear Father, to accept our most humble and sincere thanks for all that you have been and have done for us.

We deeply regret that, owing to advancing years and the delicate state of your health, that you may not be able to so often visit us, but we trust and pray that our Heavenly Father, whose most faithful ambassador you are, will spare you many more years of usefulness to those whom you so sincerely love and who so dearly love you, and will ever as long as life lasts, have a kindly remembrance for Father John.

Signed on behalf of your most affectionate parishioners of Lennox Island.

Central Parish
Annual Meeting

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting held in the Kirk at Carleton Place, and the proceedings were happy and harmonious. Rev. J. W. S. Lowry was called to preside and opened the meeting with devotional exercises. Alex MacKenzie was secretary to the meeting and read the minutes of the last annual meeting and two special meetings held since, all of which records were adopted.

Reports were received regarding the different preaching stations of the Parish, which were interesting and encouraging, there being four Sabbath schools in operation with very happy results, and another about to be formed. It was reported that Glasgow Road had united with the Presbyterian Presbytery of Prince Edward Island by a practically unanimous vote, and was now a constituent part of the Brookfield and Hunter River field, under the very acceptable student pastorate of Mr. Rudolph Berlis. The Chairman reported that the ordinances of the Gospel were regularly maintained at Canoe Cove, Nine Mile Creek, Churchill, St. Catharines and Lot 48, with large attendances and very hopeful outlook.

Some consideration was given to the present status of the People's Church, Charlottetown, and special action was taken regarding it; an important communication being read from the Overseas Committee of the Church of Scotland at Edinburgh. A committee was appointed to look after the transportation of the Minister and his assistant in the work of the Parish.

Dr. Lowry stated that he had secured the services of Mr. Norman MacLean to assist in parochial work for the summer season, Mr. MacLean who is a very worthy member of the Church, has finished his course of theology for the ministry. Rev. G. C. Webster having arrived
