When you feel those first symptoms —a scratchy throat or that stuffed-up "grippy" feeling, there are two good reasons why you should take Alka-Seltzer. It helps to alkalize your system and to counteract the effects of excess acid. And secondly, it contains agents which help to bring welcome relief from the misery of a cold.

Angry Words Heard In British House

LONDON, April 13 —(OP)— The House of Commons today witnessed an angry exchange of words between Brenden Bracken, Minister of Information, and Capt. Alex Cunningham-Reid, a London Independent, who declared there was a "new and most ambitious form of isolationism in the United States, one section of which aims at the absorption of Canada and permanent possession of bases in the Atlantic and Pacific to be taken from Britain."

Cunningham-Reid declared that another section of American opinion "desires a powerful standing army and air force after the war, compulsorily enrolled with no question of disarmament" and that "the program also includes domination of the world's air and monopoly of world commerce."

Bracken declared hotly that Cunningham-Reid "has done everything in his power this afternoon to do everything Goebbels wants and to create disunity in the United States." He accused him further of making a statement consisting of "carefully-distilled insults to the United States which were just a lot of gossip and tattle."

Cunningham-Reid was questioning the benefits of British publicity in the United States. He declared Americans should be informed that nearly 50,000 Britons have been killed in air raids and nearly 10,000 injured and that "only now American war production is beginning to exceed ours in spite of the fact their population is 130,000,000 and ours only 46,000,000."

The captain said the Government should do its best to "still the chorus of anti-Allied voices in the United States" and added:—

"Today the United States undoubtedly would have been dominated by Germany if it were not for a little incident known as the Battle of Britain."

Bracken asked if Cunningham-Reid did not remember the stories American correspondents in London sent to their papers at the time of the blitz and added: "I think he does not because he was out of the country when the correspondents were sending out their stories about the Battle of Britain."

The Minister added: "I say that American correspondents in London and various other place were not beach-combing in Honolulu during the Battle of Britain."

(This, apparently, was a reference to the fact that Cunningham-Reid was in Hawaii at the time of the London blitz. The captain said he was arranging with the millionairess Doris Duke for the evacuation of children from Britain. He was greeted when he returned via Lisbon in October 1940 with a demand that he resign his seat in the House because of his extended absence, but he declined to accede to the demand.)

Retired Farmer Dies In Prince County Hospital

The death occurred yesterday afternoon in the Prince County Hospital of Mr. Gordon Warren Dawson, a highly respected farmer formerly of Cape Traverse at the age of 80 years. Mr. Dawson had been in his usual good health until just a few days ago when he was stricken suddenly with paralysis while visiting in Carleton. Medical aid was immediately summoned and he was rushed to the Prince County Hospital. He did not regain consciousness and passed away on Tuesday afternoon.

During his long life he made a host of friends who will regret his passing. He was widely known throughout the province as a horseman and for many years took a keen interest in anything pertaining to horse racing.

His wife, the former Mary Rogerson of Crapaud, predeceased him about four years ago. He leaves to mourn four sisters, Mrs. John Driscoll, Mrs. Jennie Dodge, Mrs. William Sullivan and Miss Ida Dawson of Summerside and one brother, Edwin, of Tryon, to whom the sympathy of the community is extended.

The remains are resting at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Driscoll, until Thursday morning when they will be removed to Compton's Funeral Parlors for a short service at one o'clock thence to Tryon Presbyterian Church where a service and interment will take place. —S.

The body was found by Samuel Satter, 260 King Street, while he was around on a job on King Street. Satter is a collector of junk. He found the child, unclothed, in a small cardboard box. He lost no time in notifying the woman of the House, who in turn called the Police station.

Chaminade Chorus Gives Fine Concert

Evening of Song and Story Presented to Appreciative Audience.

The Evening of Song and Story, presented by Sally Wood and the Chaminade Chorus last night, in Heartz Hall, met a large expectant audience. Sally Wood, pupil of Mrs. Hugh Miller, has decidedly advanced since last year, in intonation, enunciation and interpretation. Blest with a modest manner and attractive stage presence, her songs received rapt attention.

The first group was of Modern Art Songs, by Franz. Grant and Gounod, "O Thank me not," "The Wreath" and "Ho Messo Nuove Corde", in which the sparkle and finish of dashing, florid passages contrasted beautifully with the sustained, priceless melodies of the other two songs.

A second group opened with a delightful Scandinavian folk song, by Stenhammer. The next number was a Yiddish song, by Gideon. The interpretation of this gem was most creditable. The last of the group was an Arioso from "The Heavens Declare", by Saint Saens, and was very worshipfully sung. Sally and Mrs. Miller also sang a duet, "Greeting we give to the Springtime," with delightful effect.

With remarkable finish, the Chaminade Chorus, which has commendable achievements to its credit, sang part songs, composed and arranged by Barnaby, Cooke, Brewer and Weikel. Mrs. Miller gave supplementary comments on all the above music. Mrs. Miller's readings, "Davey's Dog" and "De Notaire Publique" from the words of Cameron and Drummond were very much enjoyed, and as always, her audience was delighted with her happy interpretation of the French-Canadian Habitant

To Florence Simmons great credit is due. Her sympathetic accompaniments added very much to the pleasure and suport of the singers.

The audience thoroughly enjoyed Lac. S.E. Beard's rendition of "The Fishermen of England" and "Invictus." The English are a choral singing and choral loving people, and Mr. Beard is equally at home in Oratorio as in the lighter forms of music. Another artistic triumph to good musicianship, was the duet "David and Goliath", by Mr. Beard and Corporal Hughes from the R. A.F Choir.

The concerted number of the R A F Quartet, with excellent spirit and precision, well attuned and balanced, was very much liked. Two numbers were contributed, "Oh who will o'er the Downs so free", and "Comrades in Arms. The management of the concert is most grateful to these gentlemen. Regret was expressed that Mr. Spelling was unable to take part.

Thanks goes heartily to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Chaminade Chorus, Miss Ruth Sterns, to Messrs. Kendall, Storey, Black, Clawson, Riggs and Spencer, and to all others who, in any way, helped to make the evening a success.

The concert was under the distinguished patronage of His Honour Lieutenant-Governor B.W. Lepage and Mrs. LePage.

The Evening Auxiliary and the Chaminade Chorus served refreshments to the caste, and their friends, at the close.

Montgomery Cheered In Captured Sfax

WITH THE BRITISH 8th ARMY, April 11(Delayed)—(AP)—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery paid his first visit to captured Sfax today and was received by the cheering French population in a ceremony at the town's race track where he turned over administration of Tunisia's second city to Col. Schmeltz, commander of the French military territory of southern Tunisia.

Before the grandstand, used by the Axis armies for a military warehouse and still stacked with Italian supplies, the crowd shouted "vive Montgomery" and tossed bouquets to the tanned 8th army commander.

Fresh cries of "vive De Gaulle" arose when an honor guard of fighting French marched on the field to join an honor guard from the 8th army.

Schmeltz will administer the city under Major General Jurion, vice regent of Tunisia by appointment of Gen. Henri Giraud, until the civil authorities are ready to reassume their functions.

General Motors Purchases From All Across Canada

Oshawa, April 12—General Motors' purchases from sub-contractors and suppliers scattered widely across Canada, to supply it with parts and materials for its war production approximated $60,000,000.00 in 1942, W.A. Wecker, General Manager, disclosed today.

"This extensive use of sub-contractors," Mr. Wecker said, "is merely the application of a long established peace time procedure of General Motors of Canada, procedure which has helped to maintain requirements of mass production of war material and which has spread approximately one half of its war work to outside firms.

"It was apparent at the start of the arms program in Canada that these numerous of small industries could never be 'prime contractors' because they had never built finished products for consumer use, serving solely as specialists in producing parts and assembles for manufacturers turning out the final product.

"When the Government placed prime contracts in the hands of General Motors it was taken for granted that the network of suppliers and sub contractors would be used just as they had been used in the normal channels of peace time trade. These suppliers, it must be acknowledged, quickly made the necessary changes in their plant and facilities to do their part of the war production job. This quickly spread the work to the largest possible number of companies and at the same time it quickly put into use the maximum number of usable machine tools and the largest possible amount of skilled labour at the points where businesses were already established."

Mr. Wecker explained that General Motors of Canada has always insisted on maximum decentralization of its manufacturing operations. As a result the five General Motors plants in Canada have sub-contracted to as many as 1340 other concerns. The final result, as far as the company is concerned, has been the spreading of approximately one half of its entire volume of war works to firms outside.

"It is recognized," concluded Mr. Wecker, "that maintaining the economic vitality of the great aggregation of smaller units of industry and business is a matter of prime importance. The progressive development of the more successful smaller units makes possible the larger ones. It is a process that should be continued and encouraged. The problem requires the most thoughtful consideration. It is of course an entirely different objective from that demanded by the urgency of war—the maximum production in the minimum time."
