—INSTITUTE MEETING.—The regular monthly meeting of the Emerald Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. D. Macdonald on Wednesday, Nov. 3rd. Miss Stearns was present and after a splendid lecture in which she complimented the ladies on their notable work in connection with the school and the community library the regular business of the meeting was transacted. The ladies decided to donate twenty-five dollars to the Red Cross, also to prepare a Christmas Box for the soldiers in the trenches. After the meeting a very sociable "Literary Night" was spent in which the men of the district assisted. The programme consisted of papers, bearing on literature, readings, vocal solos and instrumental music. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. A cordial vote of thanks was tendered Dr. and Mrs. MacGulgan and after the singing of Auld Lang Syne, the assembly dispersed. During the afternoon Miss Stearns visited the school and gave the children a very interesting talk on literature and their school library.

—WEDDING BELLS.—A very pleasant event took place at St. Eleanor's on Wednesday evening, October 27 at eight o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Donald McLeod, when her daughter Constance Victoria was united in marriage to Arthur Pension Mills of St. Eleanor's. Rev. D. DeWalt officiated in the presence of their immediate relatives. The bride wore an elaborate gown of white silk trimmed with silk overlace and a bridal veil prettily arranged with white star blossoms. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Wesley McLeod. They were unattended. The wedding march was played by Mrs. William Rogers of Vancouver in a most efficient manner. The room was beautifully decorated with evergreens, flowers and ferns, there was also an arch made of evergreens and flowers under which the bride and groom were wedded. After the wedding a repast was partaken of which could only have been prepared by connoisseurs of the culinary art. The bride was one of St. Eleanor's most popular young ladies. Many and beautiful were the wedding gifts attesting the esteem in which the groom and bride were held by their numerous friends. The enjoyable evening was brought to a close after which Mr. and Mrs. Mills left for their future home in St. Eleanor's. The guests departed after thanking their kind hostess for the pleasant evening and wishing Mr. and Mrs. Mills happiness unalloyed.

—SOCIAL FAREWELLS.—About fifty of the neighbours of Mr and Mrs Chester Wyand of Linkletter assembled at their home on Wednesday evening to bid them farewell before their departure from the community. Mr Wyand recently sold his farm and is removing to Summerside, where he and his family will spend the winter and in the spring will leave for the Canadian West, where they will make their home. A very pleasant evening was spent with games and music. Speeches were made by Messrs. A. D. Murray, Major and Hooper Linkletter, Frank Gamble and Albert Wood, expressing the high esteem in which Mr and Mrs Wyand of Linkletter are held in the community and regretting their departure. Mr and Mrs Wyand were then each tendered with a suitable gift as a token of remembrance, and the following address:—To Mr and Mrs Chester Wyand. We the undersigned inhabitants of Linkletter, P.E.I., on this the eve of regretting their departure desire to express our sincere regret that you have deemed it necessary to leave our community. While you were with us you were good neighbours, kind friends and always willing to assist in everything that was for the uplifting and betterment of the district. We wish you success in your new home wherever situated. Remember always that any time you return to our community you will always be welcome to our houses. Kindly accept these small tokens of our appreciation. On behalf of the district, A. D. Murray, Jas. J. Callbeck, A. B. Clark.—X.

Prince Edward Islander Recommended For D.C.M.

At least two Regina men are in for military honours for courage and effective work in a tight place, according to reports from the front. They are Captain J. A. Callum, M.D., medical officer of the 28th Battalion, and Private H. B. Compton, a bomber.

The occasion was the explosion of a German mine under the trenches occupied by the 28th Battalion, which is commanded by Lieut.-Col. J. F. L. Embury of Regina, and includes among its officers Major J. A. Cross, Major Read, Quartermaster McAra, Captain Walter McInnis, Lieut. Styles, Lieut. Child and others. Major Alex. Ross was formerly with the Battalion, but is now back in England on special duty under the British War Office.

When the mine was exploded a number of the 28th men were buried in the dirt. Private Compton, was buried along with the others, but after being dug out set to work to rescue the wounded, and worked like a Trojan for an hour or more. He has been recommended for the Distinguished Conduct Medal. Private Compton is a brother of J. D. Compton of the firm of Compton & McNeil.

Captain Callum is to be mentioned in despatches for his signal bravery and pluck on the same occasion. He helped rescue the wounded and buried men, and went right down into the crater made by the mine, under a withering fire from all kinds of German guns, to dig men out with his bare hands.

The above H. Brian Compton referred to is a son of the late John Compton, of Bangor. His mother and one younger brother, Daniel, reside on the homestead.
