S'ide Awarded Honorable Mention In Bond Contest

OTTAWA, June 10 - (CP) - New Glasgow, N. S. has been awarded the major prize of the National War Finance Committee for the best war finance contest in the best of the Fourth Victory Loan Campaign, the committee announced today.

With a population of 9,118 New Glasgow took first place in competition with scores of other Canadian cities and towns, large and small, in every province.

Winning Communities. Winning communities in individual classes, segregated by population, were: Class A, communities under 3,000 population, Acton, Ont.

Class B, 3,000 to 10,000, New Glasgow, N. S.

Class C, 10,000 to 30,000, Moose Jaw, Sask.

Class D, 30,000 to 100,000, Saskatoon, Sask.

Class E, more than 100,000, Vancouver.

As the winner of the nation-wide communities contest New Glasgow will receive an illuminated section of the name "Glasgow" inscribed on one of the first Canadian-made Lancaster bombers. Winning communities in the other classes will also be awarded scrolls and medals. Mosquito bombers named after them.

Prize Winning Ideas. New Glasgow's prize winning idea was a "Victory Bonds or Nazi Bonds" demonstration staged by the High School students as a surprise parade through the downtown section. Smart-stepping cadets behind a pipe band illustrated the democratic way of life which was contrasted by refugees trudging in chains.

Practical ideas were judged by standard of originality and effective sales. Expense was not listed as a judging point by the New Glasgow demonstration cost of $2.

Special mention was made by the judges of the quiz contest idea originated and presented by Napanea, Ont.

Belle Comeau, Que., won honorable mention in the Class A communities. At the same time the campaign featured a bond selling contest between

CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE BUTTER STOCKS

It will be absolutely necessary to continue to build up stocks during this summer, if the present ration allowance of butter is to be maintained.

Last February, as a temporary measure, the ration was cut by one-third to carry Canada into the coming season of increasing production.

In the statement, Mr. Olive said that Oct. 1, Canada should have at least 70,000,000 pounds of butter in store, in order to ensure maintenance of the ration through next winter.

He said the figures from the Bureau of Statistics showed the necessity "not only for the continuation of rationing but also for building up greater stocks in store."

Production of butter in May, 1941, a year which was "comparatively normal," totalled 33,158,000 pounds. Production in May, 1942, was 32,000,000.

Stocks of butter in store May 1, 1941, totalled 9,981,000 pounds, compared with 11,348,000 in May 1, 1942. Stocks in store at June 1, 1942, were 19,980,000 pounds. Disappearance of butter during June, 1942, was 23,072,000 pounds. In May, 1942, 23,766,000 pounds.

"In other words, these figures show that production in May of 1942 was less than 1,000,000 pounds less than in May, 1941; that stocks in store now are 450,000 pounds less than at the same time last year; and that the disappearance of butter during this year was 700,000 pounds heavier than in May, 1941," said Mr. Olive.

"Business of building up storage stocks of butter in the high production months is a normal practice in the dairy industry. If that were not done, there would not be sufficient stocks to take care of the requirements of the people in the period of low production."

"It was not done last year and as a consequence we had to reduce the butter allowance for June, 1942. Storage of butter was even more necessary under war conditions, because of the greatly increased needs. It was true Canada's butter position has improved."

"The operation of rationing had the effect of reducing over-all consumption of butter to a great extent. What rationing had accomplished had been the more equitable distribution of available supplies. Rationing kept consumption at a fairly constant level throughout the year."

"Consumption of creamery butter in normal times in Canada averaged about eight ounces per person per week," said Mr. Olive.

"The farm-made butter included in the weekly allowance is about one ounce per person. It will thus be seen that rationing at eight ounces per person per week does not greatly reduce the rate of normal average consumption."

Enemy Uses Fire Balloons Over Forests

EUGENE, Ore., June 10 (AP) - Incendiary bombs carried by fire balloons have been dropped on Oregon forests by the enemy in attempts to start fires, Lt. Col. James W. Fraser, member of an army party now touring logging and lumber operations in this area, said today.

He said the device was used "in 1942." The balloons, probably released by enemy submarines carry a cluster of incendiary bombs, timed to drop and explode when they are blown in from the sea over the forests.

Col. Fraser warned loggers and millmen to be on the alert for repetition of this method of attack and others which have been tested by the enemy.

The army men now is aiding in setting up a forest protection staff made up of trained woodsmen.

He predicted that at a "zero hour" chosen by the enemy, a concentrated attack on Oregon forests can be expected, utilizing not only the balloon-carried incendiaries, but also plane bombing, shelling from submarines and trained saboteurs.

He also warned that lookout stations might be started from the air and delayed action bombs might be used to injure forest fire fighters.

Rudolf Wilhelm Bester of Cobham Surrey, author of the Barretts of Wimpole Street, left 16,800 pounds ($748,400) all of which he bequeathed to his wife.

Brown-Brenton Wedding Yesterday

A pretty, informal wedding took place in Trinity United church, Charlottetown at 11:45 Thursday morning, when Nelly Beatrice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Brenton, Charlottetown, became the bride of Mr. Joseph James Alex. Brown, son of C. Alexander and the late Mrs. Brown also of Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh Miller, D.D., The Provincial Chaplain, and Prof. Kendall played softly during the service.

The bride was dressed in a light blue wool traveling suit, with a corsage of the groom, and wore a corsage of roses. Before her marriage Mrs. Brown was a valued member of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, Street School. Mr. Brown is an outstanding chiropractor of the city.

The happy couple left by plane for Montreal and other Canadian cities.

"Timely End"

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) - State Secretary Hull said today that Mussolini, on the third anniversary of Italy's entrance into the war, is rapidly approaching a "timely end."

Asked at his press conference if he had any comment on the statement, Hull said Mussolini "has been false to all his people and false to every law and rule of organized society, while on the other hand he has been personally loyal as his nature will permit to Hitler and Hitlerism and all the families which it comprises."

"The timely end to which he is rapidly approaching is but in harmony with the kind of operations he has undertaken to carry on during the past three years."

HOODLUMS, CROSS DOGS, ETC.

Sir - There appeared in the Guardian a short while ago a letter concerning hoodlums leading around corners. Apparently nothing has been done about it. I would like to know what the police are for if it is not to keep order. One can't have a minutes peace or have the children sleep with these hoodlums beating old tin cans and howling. It is about time there was something done. You can't send a child out or go out yourself with cross dogs snatching at you and biting the children. What did they bite the children for? It is time the authorities woke up and did something about these things to help the taxpayers.

Faculty Of Divinity At McGill Appointed

HAMILTON, June 9 - The Presbyterian General Assembly discussed and adopted the plan to establish a faculty of divinity at McGill.

Professor R. D. MacLennan, head of the department of philosophy, McGill University outlined the plan said. "One reason is that we are interested in making a larger contribution to the education of men for the Christian ministry in the Dominion. Secondly, there is a feeling in the university that there should be some instruction in Christian knowledge available for the ordinary McGill student."

"There would be eight chairs in the faculty - six devoted to the major subject matter of Protestant theology, the other two to be called chairs of comparative religion and philosophy of education."

"The six chairs referred to would be held only by members of the three communions invited to participate - Presbyterian, United and Anglican. The proposal is that each communion would be equally represented - two chairs for each. The remaining two would be held by members of other communions."

Outlining how appointments to the six church chairs could be made, Prof. MacLennan pointed out that the university senate recognized that the churches must be given the right to express themselves as to the fitness of candidates for these chairs.

Method of Selection

The speaker said that the following method would be used: A pre-selection committee of six members to be set up, two from each of the theological colleges. This committee is to act as a nominating committee and to consult with the ordinary university selection committee. The name of the man selected is to be forwarded to the governors of the university for final appointment. In this manner, the interests of the churches would be safeguarded.

The appointment to the two other chairs would be made by the normal university method - they being university endowed and the university contribution to the faculty.

Professor MacLennan stressed the fact that the status of the church colleges would not be affected to any extent as only the major subject matter would be handled by McGill - strictly denominational teaching still being carried on by the colleges.

Loyalty to Church

"My desire that the Presbyterian church should flourish is as strong as any one in this court," the speaker said. "Some of you may feel that the plan would appear to be taking something away from the Presbyterian Church. I believe, however, that that tradition will be maintained."

"There are two possible policies to adopt: Hands off our Presbyterian tradition and the teaching of Christ and all the modern knowledge that can be brought to her disposal. Or other recourse is to

Another U.S. Coal Strike Threatens

WASHINGTON, June 10 (AP) - Another coal strike threatened tonight as John L. Lewis angrily denounced what he called "a brutal application of economic sanctions" - the decision by Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes that bituminous miners who took part in the June 1-5 walkout will be fined $1 a day.

Lewis himself refrained from saying what he would do about the action taken by the government boss of the coal mines, but some United Mine Workers officials in the coal fields warned of another work stoppage.

"An unwarranted, illegal act" Lewis said in a staccato statement on Ickes' decision. "An act which takes nearly $3,000,000 worth of food from the fingers and mouths of children of the mining camps - brutal application of economic sanctions against free citizens. Another step toward political tyranny in America."

Meanwhile there were indications that the War Labor Board did not look favorably on $1.30 a day as pay for underground travel time.

Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers, won agreement last night of the Central Pennsylvania Producers Association, employers of 65,000 miners. However, the figure is subject to War Labor Board approval and pointed questions by members of the Board at the hearing suggested that it might be modified.

What the miners' reaction would be to such a board move was speculative.

Invasion Threat Brings Jitters To Mussolini

LONDON, June 10 (AP) - The Allied air siege of Italy's island bastions thundered on without interruption today while Mussolini, unobtrusively observing the third anniversary of his entry into war, sought to buttress his country against invasion by a shakeup of Provincial Government.

Mussolini's frantic anti-invasion efforts were disclosed in a Rome radio announcement of the mass firing and shifting of prefects in 29 Italian provinces up and down Italy and in Sardinia and Sicily.

This announcement was broadcast between nervous trumpeting that the enemy would be at the door, and by plaintive anniversary reminiscences on what might have been had Italy's colonial ambitions been realized after the First Great War.

The fever was rising elsewhere in Europe.
