A Morning Smile

"By the way, Mrs. Grubb," said the new lodger, "I have a few idiosyncrasies."
"That's all right," replied the landlady. "I'll see that they are dusted regularly."

GOOD ENOUGH

A woman was being shown around a house by a man who was accompanying her. She pointed to an article and said: "What is that?" The man replied: "That is a boiler." She said: "What do they make in that?" He replied: "I don't know, madam, unless they make the engine tender."

STUFFED PEACH DUMPLINGS

Peel ripe peaches, halve carefully and remove stones. Fill cavities with a mixture of chopped dates, broken walnuts and brown sugar; or fill with peanut butter and chopped dates. Put halves together again. Roll out rich biscuit dough or piepaste and cut in 4-inch squares. Place a stuffed peach on each square, sprinkle with brown sugar and dot with butter; fold dough or paste to enclose peaches—dampen corners and seal well. Bake in greased pan in hot oven, 425 deg., for 25 to 30 minutes. Serve hot with cream or sauce.

Life seemed nothing but endless GREASY dishwashing

THEN I TRIED RINSO—in a minute all grease vanished

THE grease floated on the dishwater, clung to the plates and made a horrid ring round the dishpan. Then I tried Rinsol... I was amazed! The grease just vanished! Rinsol's quick action, you see, absorbs all the grease in no time. Dishes come out sparkling, and drying is much easier. I'm finished in half the time now. Try Rinsol for your dishwashing. For greater economy get the GIANT package.

Dorothy Dix Says—

TOO MUCH MAKE-UP NOT APPEALING TO BUSINESS MEN

Girls Who Work Should Know That Gory Fingernails And Greased Lips Are Abhorred By Their Bosses

Dear Miss Dix—I am a business man and I am 100 per cent for the business girl. I respect her intelligence. I admire her character. I enjoy her personality. But I detest her artificiality. In some cases this includes her actions, but mostly it consists in the mask she wears. I refer specifically to her fingernails that seem to be dripping blood, to the greasy paint she daubs on her lips that makes them look like outs of rawmeat, to the two vivid red spots she paints on her cheeks, and to the method she has of transforming her eyelashes into something that resemble a-iders' legs and that makes her look like she had just come out of a fight in which she had got the worst of it. Now I approve of make-up. I think that any woman is greatly improved by the correct and moderate use of it, but it should be done in moderation and with art. I could not stand to have around me all day a girl who looked like a painted clown, and why so many really pretty girls disgrace themselves as they do, I cannot understand. Why, in heaven's name, haven't girls sense enough to know that they attain a hard common look when they are smeared with cosmetics, but that they have a better chance of getting a job, or a husband, if they were just natural-looking instead of resembling a store dummy or worse? I am making a plea to every sensible girl who reads this column to think this over. Please, lovelies, use a more natural make-up. Give the "Fired Business Man" who is your boss, or your boyfriend and everybody who happens to look at you, a break. Don't knock their eyes out with too much paint, but soothe them with just a little.

Heed His Advice

ANSWER—How about it, girls? Think over what this man writes, for, believe me, he speaks from the inside of the lodge and voices the opinions of the great majority of men, who simply loathe a superabundance of make-up.

Nobody objects to a girl helping out nature when she needs to. In fact, it is only Christian charity for every woman to make herself as good-looking as she can, but even virtue can become a vice when overdone. And that is what happens when most girls apply their make-up.

Men Merely Tolerant

If girls think that men are allured by handmade and homemade beautification, they are vastly mistaken. I have yet to meet a man who didn't loathe gory fingernails, which brings out the tiger in a woman and makes her look as if she had just made her kill and hadn't had time to lick her paws. Nor is lipstick their favorite diet.

Not long ago I asked a lad if men liked to kiss girls whose mouths were all gummed up with red grease. He replied: "No, it is nauseating, but they all do it, and I often wonder why and feel that it would be a treat to kiss a girl whose mouth was clean."

Consider these masculine mental reactions, girls, and lay off the rouge pot a little.

Avoid Getting "Hooked"

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a college student who is keeping steady company with a young college girl and it is highly probable that our present relations might end in marriage, but I am annoyed and troubled by the two-evident efforts on the part of the girl and her mother to rush me into an engagement before I am ready for it. Although I have several years of college life before me, I am not ready to take on a member of the family and, with obvious faith in the old adage that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, I am fastened into a feeling of obligation. Please advise me whether if I should excuse myself from these frequent and suspicious repasts and from the acts of promotion in the family it would help me to discover the motive behind it all. I cannot fail to notice that much more attention is paid to me than to the husband and father.

ANSWER—You must be blind, indeed, if you cannot see that the mother and the girl are trying to inveigle you into popping the question and tying yourself down to an engagement that you will find it almost impossible to break.

They are using the oldest and the crudest tactics of the husband-hunter, for since time immemorial women have baited their traps with good food, on the principle that the best way to get your man is to feed the brute.

It is natural, and perhaps ethical, for a mother to plug her daughter's game and do her bit to help her get married, and it is a little pathetic that so often Mother's best efforts turn into boomerangs that break up a match instead of promoting it.

You have had your warning, son. Unless you are ready to sign on the dotted line, keep away from the women who feed you. Many a man has sold his freedom for Mother's pies.

Easy Exercise Routine Corrects Matronly Hips

No Need to Remain Unattractive. It's so embarrassing, when you must bend over, to know your big hips look even bigger—but what can you do?

Lois! The right exercises reduce other women's hips (making matrons look like debutantes) and there's no reason why exercises shouldn't reduce yours.

The exercise shown in our sketch is part of a simple hip-reducing routine that fits easily into your daily schedule. It forces you to move the seldom-used muscles on the outside of your thigh and around the joint where your thigh bone fits into your pelvic bone.

1—Sitting, place hands on mat behind hips. 2—Pull first one knee, then the other, back to abdomen; then let legs fall forward onto mat. Repeat this 14 times and rest. Do it 28 to 36 times altogether.

Exercises work youth-making miracles on other parts of your body, too—bust, waistline, chin, arms, shoulders.

Our 32-page booklet has exercises to reduce fat in all these places, as well as on calves and thighs. Also has exercises to correct posture, foot ailments, constipation, nervous tension, as well as a general exercise routine.

Send 50c in coins for your copy of "Best Exercises for Health and Beauty" to The Guardian Home Service. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address and the Name of booklet.

I've put some sugar in the air. I've seen a kite inside a pear. I've found a worm with twelve false teeth.

I eat my meat with a holly wreath. I decorate my home with cheese. I catch the mice upon my knees. I do declare the truth you'll see if you punctuate this carefully!

Typical of the sleek silhouette this fall is the ensemble of all-black save for the American beauty lining and satin gloves.

A swirl of tiny velvet bows, strung upon two velvet ribbons make an interesting evening hair decoration, to be worn with a long bob, or instead of a snood.

Pile of red cinnamon drops in apricot halves... two or three to each half. Drizzle melted butter over the halves and broil until lightly browned. Colorful garnish with roasts, steaks, and chops.

Finely chopped chives, parsley or water cress added to soft butter makes a colorful, savory spread for toast slices or crackers. That's a soup accompaniment you'll want to remember.

Hats trimmed with flowers will be seen more and more as the season progresses.

CLEAN COFFEE POT

Good coffee can be made only in a clean pot and yet so many housewives are careless about this utensil. It should be scoured daily, rinsed well and given a sun bath once a week to purify it.
