SPLENDID ADDRESS

likes this land, Canada, for me. His thoughts, however, were ever with the boys at the battle-front; he was not in Canada by choice. The spirit which pervades the boys in the trenches is one that cements men together and cause them to love one another as men love men. To hear of them being in a great battle, and you not able to be with them tugs at one's heart, said he.

The Y. M. C. A. said Capt. Best has taken on a new lease of life since this war. It seems as if it was just born and reared for a time like this. The organization, he said, had grown up like a soldier from the ranks being fitted for his work. Step by step it has developed, until it was now regarded as a necessary adjunct of the army such as the Army Service, the Army Medical Corps, and other branches. There are twenty Canadian branches in England; 51 branches in France and Flanders; 36 in the Ypres Salient; and 81 officers altogether. The popularity of the organization is ever growing. The great big brother to the soldier is the Y. M. C. A. huts are required and open by the million—all free—gratis! There are still places where Y. M. C. A. huts are needed and funds are needed in order to provide these.

The captain then took his audience with him in imagination up to the front line trench on to the very firing step.

He told of Ypres, a grand city, ruined as no city ever before was. He took his hearers to within three miles of the German line—a place where there is danger. Everywhere there is danger. A shell may blow a man to pieces any moment. The boys go on with their work just the same.

He dealt with the conditions which existed for two years, when the Allies were at a terrible disadvantage, being short of artillery and munitions. Clear of a few machine guns all that kept the Germans back was the MEN—men who would not go back no matter what the cost.

Capt. Best went on to say that there was a wrong notion among some people that all the boys who don the khaki go to the bad.

"I want to nail that, as a lie," said he. "The flower of our men is there. There may have been some men who have not conducted themselves as they should have done. There were fellows doing that before they put on the khaki. But I've met thousands who have taken a bet-

PRINCE EDWARD THEATRE.—The patrons of the Prince Edward Theatre were accorded a unique screen feature, last night, the photo debut of the international celebrated dancers, Maurice and Florence Walton in a fascinating photo play, entitled "The Quest of Life", introducing the latest stag and society dancers. There was a big thrill in "Grant the Police Reporter." In this adventure leaps from a bicycle to a speeding auto. The auto is wrecked by the train. "The Beauty Hunters" was the name of an amusing comedy. This programme is repeated today.

THE "ELECTO CAFE."—Mr. E. S. Rust, chief has opened up a first-class dining saloon "The Electro" on Queen Street in splendidly appointed quarters in the Bay building. The dining room is beautifully finished throughout. The ceiling is of steel with elaborate decorations. There is ample room to accommodate quite a large number of people there being over a dozen tables. The ones along the side cut away by means of a swinging device attached to the walls, thus providing separate booths or cozy corners as they are called. Mr. Rust has had twenty-eight years of experience as a chef, having worked in this line with some of the best establishments in Europe. He is to be congratulated upon providing Charlottetown with such a well appointed and up-to-date eating place.

ACKNOWLEDGED WITH THANKS.—Mrs. (Dr.) Bagnall received a letter yesterday from Capt. Stanley Bagnall of the 8th Siege Battery acknowledging receipt of four parcels of socks, about eighty pairs recently forwarded for the members of the Battery by the 8th Canadian Siege Battery Auxiliary. Many of the mothers of the boys outside of Charlottetown are members of the Auxiliary and helped very generously in providing these comforts.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Worthy and daughter, Lila, left yesterday en route to Winnipeg.

Mr. G. A. Sharp and family left yesterday for Sussex, N. B., where they will remain for some time.

Dr. J. A. Gordon, of Quinny, Mass., a native of New Perth, P. E. I., whose illness was reported some weeks ago, shows no sign of improvement. The latest news is that he is somewhat weaker.

NAVAL CHANGES ARE ANNOUNCED BY SIR EDWARD

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

LONDON.—Britain's nation wide clamor for a shake-up in the Admiralty, and greater energy in combating the submarine menace resulted in announcement of numerous naval changes in the House of Commons today by Sir Edward Carson. Carson himself apparently has weathered the storm of criticism and retains his cabinet place as first lord of the admiralty.

Foremost in the changes announced is the appointment of Sir John Jellicoe, first sea lord, as chief of the naval staff. The new post is in addition to his command as first sea lord. Sir Henry Oliver was named deputy chief.

"The purpose of the changes," Sir Edward Carson announced to the House, "is to free the naval staff from administrative work, and secondly to strengthen the ship building department of the admiralty."

Sir John Jellicoe was the main figure in the last Admiralty shake-up, by which Admiral Sir Henry Jackson was retired from the post of first sea lord. The cry then was for young blood in the navy. Jellicoe became first sea lord and Admiral Sir David Beatty commander-in-chief of the main battle fleet.

Of recent weeks a storm of criticism of the Admiralty has been brewing of such size as to lead to belief that Sir Edward Carson's retirement would be forced. The naval administration was attacked first because of concealment of exact losses of allied merchantmen of the submarine warfare; secondly, because it was charged the number of merchantmen sunk indicated lack of initiative and energy by the Navy in running down the undersea craft; thirdly, because of lack of any comprehensive ship building plan forthcoming by official sources. The Northcliffe newspapers pounded away continually against the Admiralty and in the House of Commons there were numerous exceedingly pointed criticisms of the naval administration.

One other complaint was against the frequency with which German cruisers and destroyers managed to elude their patrol ships and bombard various British coast cities.

Publicity Needed In Fox Business

Mr. F. E. Muzzy, of Springfield, Mass., who is interested in the P. E. Island fox industry, is in the city looking after his interests. Yesterday, he visited the ranches at Alberry Plains, and in an interview with The Guardian reports most satisfactory conditions. They have 26 litters to date, but of course, will not know the number of pups in each litter for a couple of weeks. He speaks in the highest terms of the caretaker, Mr. Shaw McMillan; for the success or failure of a ranch depends largely on the honesty and efficiency of its caretaker.

He says that unless they meet with some unusual misfortune, the companies will pay this fall a wash dividend, the Perfect, 8 per cent; the Bankers, 12 per cent; and the Interstate, 15 per cent.

Mr. Muzzy is a believer in keeping the stock holders posted on ranch conditions and sends frequent notices so that every stockholder knows at all times what is going on at the ranches.

"This spring when they lost a fox, he at once advised the stockholders, feeling it was better for all to get the facts direct than have them passed out by 'dame gossip' who is often careless in handling the truth.

The ranches have a very low, low pair, capitalisation. And he has arranged with one of the leading banks of New England, to loan at current interest rates, 75 per cent of the par value of the stocks, using the stock as collateral.

There has been a lively demand for this stock and a letter to all the stockholders asking if they would sell any of their stock for par, did not bring a single reply; in fact, a second letter, stating that parties were anxious to pay, cash for stock at par, in these companies did not bring a single offer of the stock.

"If all the fox companies would keep in close touch with their stock holders," said Mr. Muzzy, "it would mean that the industry would be looked on by outsiders in a better light than it is today."

"This is but one example of what can be done if the business is properly handled."

It gives me much pleasure in recommending the Tablets to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SCIENTISTS PLAN TO TRANSPLANT KIDNEYS

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

BALTIMORE.—That Johns Hopkins research scientists expect to be able to transplant kidneys or other vital organs from one body to another is the report made by William C. Schinabel, a member of the January Term of the Grand Jury, who made a special investigation of the vivisection problem.

Mr. Schinabel took up the matter because of the inability of the Johns Hopkins Medical School to obtain enough animals for experimental purposes.

He watched operations upon dogs. He examined the pens and cages in which they were kept. He talked to Dr. William H. Welch and Dr. Winternitz about vivisection and the care of animals, and the necessity for their use in research and experimental work. He became convinced that it was necessary for these institutions to have a constant supply of healthy animals, so that the human race might be benefited.

Mr. Schinabel quoted one of the doctors as saying they had succeeded in transplanting a kidney from one dog to another and that "it will be possible to replace or transplant kidneys or other vital organs from one human being to another."

"I saw a dog," said Mr. Schinabel, "from which one entire kidney and one-half of the other had been removed, and this dog certainly did not show any signs of discomfort."

A $350,000 Fire In Shell Plant

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

TORONTO, Ont.—Fire did damage estimated at $350,000 to the munition plant of the Chaff Ammunition Company, 85-111 Sterling road, and for a time endangered the entire district which is a network of factories and lumber yards along the railroad tracks near the Dundas street bridges. The company was working on an order of 200,000 eighteen-pound shells, and 30,000 of these were a total loss. Subsequent combustion is said to have been the cause.

Robie McLeod. Master Shipbuilder

This Company has been organized for the purpose of acquiring ship yards at Tuskett and for the building of Wooden Ships.

I own and offer the unsold balance of—

25,000 shares only at 80c per share

Shares will be allotted in order received.

Application to list the Shares on the Boston Curb Exchange at $1.00 per share will be made.

I will stake the success of this Company on my past record of three successful Companies during the last four years namely: The Logan Tanneries, The Eastern Steel, Co., and the Truro Steel Co., all three of which I organized and financed.

I estimate that this Company can earn in one year 50 p. c. on its present capital by building two ships a year, in which event 27 p. c. goes to the Government in war taxes and 23 p. c. to the Company.

If the Company can earn 23 p. c. net yearly the stock should eventually sell at $4 per share.

In three months after listing at $5 per share, Truro Steel sold at $25 per share.

I PREDICT THAT TUSKET SHIPBUILDING CO, LTD, IF LISTED WILL, ON ITS FUTURE PROSPECTS, SELL AT A PREMIUM.

Make all applications for stock and all remittances payable to me. Orders wired will receive the same consideration as those by letter.
