THE friends of Vernon River have scored another success. The concert and festival of Wednesday evening was spoken of very highly by all who attended. Several professional singers and entertainers took part. Thirty dollars was realized which sum will be devoted to the Methodist Parsonage improvement fund.

THE SS. Electra arrived in port at 8.30 Wednesday with the following cargo—478 boxes cheese, 110 boxes eggs, 6 sacks wool, 7 rolls leather, 21 bbls. codfish, 58 pks. sundries. She left on return yesterday with a cargo of general merchandise, including seven binders and two reapers for H. Nelson, Montague. Senator Prowse and Miss LeLacheur, of Murray Harbor Harbor South, Mrs. Drew and Miss Jarvis, were among the outward passengers.

A VERY pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Frederick R. Butcher, 185 Duke St., St. John, N. B., at high noon yesterday, when his daughter, Alice Lillian, was married to Mr. Wilbert Austin Warren, of Sackville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. W. Weddall, Pastor of Queen Square Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Warren, of Montague, P. E. I., father of the groom. The bridesmaids were Miss Carrie G. Blye, of New Bedford, Mass., and Miss Louil Crosby, of St. John, cousin of the bride. The groom was supported by Mr. E. W. Knowles of Toronto. The bride entered the drawing-room on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Alice Hea organist of Centenary Church. The rooms were beautifully decorated in white, pink, and green; sweet peas and maiden hair fern predominating. The bride, who stood under a large floral bell, was gowned in white satin with over-dress of embroidered chiffon trimmed with Duchesse lace, with bridal veil and orange blossoms. Miss Blye wore pale blue silk trimmed with white point d'esprit and apple blossoms. Miss Crosby's dress was of white organdy and valenciennes lace. The groom's present to the bride was a pearl brooch and to the bridesmaids pearl pins. The esteem in which the young couple are held was manifested by the number of beautiful presents which they received, many being from friends in Upper Canada, United States, and the Old Country. A large collection of paintings both oils and water colors, from the groom's mother, and a cheque from the bride's father deserve special mention. The happy couple left by the I. C. R. at 1 o'clock for a short trip through Nova Scotia, after which they will reside in Sackville.

MISS PAULINE JOHNSON gave one of her popular entertainments to a large audience in the Georgetown Hall, Wednesday evening. The first program consisted of patriotic selections and recitations of a dramatic nature, Miss Johnson being dressed in her Indian costume. The second part consisted of a character sketch—"The Obnoxious Canadian Woman" and was rendered in a masterly style. MATHESON'S new 100 bbl. flour mill is now going full blast, and turning out flour which is at least equal to the imported Ontario and Manitoba flours. He sells a great part of the produce in eighth, quarter and half bbl. packages, and although almost all vessel shipments are in barrels. As his mills are well filled with wheat, bought before the recent great advance, he claims he can meet any competition in his line. He deserves the greatest success for his enterprise in individually establishing a business which large joint stock companies have spoke off, but would not risk their capital to complete. Mr. Matheson's career and experience in the milling and grain business has been such, that there can be nothing but success attend this new venture.—Atlantic Weekly, Dartmouth July 7, 1900.

Broncho Bill's Prayer.

One of the best touches in Ralph Connor's "The Sky Pilot," is the story of how Broncho Bill, The Pilot's devoted friend, undertook the task of opening the new church building, when The Pilot himself was too ill to be present. Bill had anxiously gone over the audience to find one who could offer an appropriate prayer of dedication, but could find no one. The red began to come up in Bill's white face.

"Taint in my line. But the Pilot says there's got to be a prayer, and I'm going to stay with the game." Then leaning on the pulpit, he said: "Let's pray," and began:

"God Almighty, I ain't no good at this and perhaps You'll understand if I don't put things right." Then a pause followed during which some of the women began to sob.

"What I want to say," Bill went on, "is we're mighty glad about this church, which we know that it's You and The Pilot that's worked it, and we're all glad to chip in."

Then again he paused, his hard, gray face working, and two tears stealing down his cheeks. Then he started again:

"But about The Pilot—I don't want to persome—but if You don't mind, we'd like to have him stay—In fact I don't see how we kin do without him—look at all the boys here; he's just getting his work in and is bringin' 'em right along, and God Almighty, if you take him away, it might be a good thing for him, but for us, oh, God—" the voice quivered and was silent.

Then some one began "Our Father," and all joined that could join, to the end. For a few moments Bill stood up, looking at them silently. Then, as if remembering his duty, he said:

"This here church is open. Excuse me." He stood at the door, gave a word of direction to Hi, who had followed him out, and leaping on his bronco shook him into a hard gallop.

The Swan Creek church was opened. The form of service may not have been correct, but if the essential thing is sincerity and appealing faith, then all that was necessary was done.
