In the provincial capital of Cabanatuan, 82 bodies were recovered. An official estimate said the toll might mount to 120. Flood waters lapped six and seven feet deep at the suburbs.

Also reporting severe damage were the neighboring provinces of Tarlac, Zambales and Camarines Norte. Nothing was heard from isolated Isabela Province.

The largest single disaster reported was at Bongabon, near Cabanatuan. There the Panganga river was so roaring from its banks by a torrential downpour and 300 mill workers.

Winds and high seas harried shipping in the Central Archipelago, hundreds of miles to the south.

The 500-ton vessel Sugbu of Cebu was disabled and abandoned. Some of the crew were rescued by a sailboat, but fate of the balance of the crew and passengers was not learned.

Off the coast of Pangasihan a small boat with 17 fishermen was missing.

The Manila Tribune compiled a death list of the typhoon which it said was the most deadly ever to strike the Philippines. The Tribune placed the total known dead at 210 and said most of the casualties were in Nueva Ecija.

The total dead and injured and the damage cannot be determined definitely until floods subside and communications are restored. Relief agencies rushed food and clothing into the stricken provinces but their work was hampered by the swift currents.

—JOSEPHINE K. AT SUMMERSIDE — The motor ship Josephine K., noted run-runner in American waters, is now engaged in coastwise trade and called at Summerside last week with way freight from Halifax. It will be remembered that the Josephine K. while in the run-running trade ran foul of the American coast guard officials off Nantucket Island last winter. The boat still bears the mark of the bullet which was fired from the gun of a coast guard official and in which one of the crew was shot. —S.

—CARRY OUT RAIDS — The Summerside police and R. C. M. P. made several raids yesterday and cleaned up five places. They found a quantity of beer and rum in four of the places raided. In one place there was a quantity of rum and three kegs of beer. In another 24 bottles of beer. Two and three kegs of rum were found in two other places. Prosecutions will follow. Five arrests were made over the holiday by the local police. The offenders will appear in court this morning.

Deficit Within Estimate

But in any event the great impetus in revenues gives promise that when Mr. Dunning delivers the second budget address of his present administration he will be able to show a deficit well within his estimate.

It is Mr. Dunning's announced intention to present a balanced budget at the earliest possible date and to put the Dominion in the position of living within its income.

Mr. Dunning hopes to convene at a date convenient to all, probably in November or December, a meeting of what will constitute the national finance council, composed of premiers and treasurers of all the provinces and the heads of the Dominion Department of Finance and probably the governor of the Bank of Canada, acting in an advisory capacity.

Co-operation of Provinces

His intention is to get all provinces co-operating in a combined effort to put Dominion and provincial funding and refunding on a business-like basis.

This is a step short of Mr. Dunning's proposal of last spring to set up loan councils for each province which found itself unable to borrow money without Federal treasury support. That proposal, rejected by Alberta and questioned by British Columbia, was dropped.

The proposed national finance council will involve no compulsion upon the provinces but is suggested as a means of harmonizing all borrowing activities within the Dominion. The loan council scheme would have meant that provinces entering into it would place their borrowing under control of the Dominion treasury if conditions were such that they could not borrow on the open market without Federal treasury support.

MISSIONARY DROWNED

RANCHI, India, (C.P.)—Rev. C. Gilderay Glossop, English missionary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, is believed to have been drowned when the boat, in which he was crossing a swollen hill stream, capsized.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Mephitic Causes Furore In Residence

Captain Stright and his family had rather a nerve racking experience a few mornings ago when a bad bold mephitic (skunk to you) entered their dwelling. About four o'clock in the morning Mrs. Stright was awakened by a noise and on the Captain going to investigate he found a skunk in the coal bin. The Captain quickly shut the door and hoped that Mr. Skunk would find his way out the same way that he came in, through the open window.

When he arose at 7 o'clock he once more visited the coal bin and on opening the door found the animal just the other side, he shut the door with lightning speed and in doing so caught the foot of the skunk in the door. In self defense Mr. Skunk let fly that peculiar odour which is their habit when frightened. The genial Captain was in a quandary, as he could not get at the creature from inside and the window was too small to allow him to reach him from outside, and to make matters worse the skunk was between the door and a partition in front of the coal bin.

In despair he went to the Chief of Police who suggested chloroforming the intruder by means of a swab soaked in the anaesthetic and placed on the end of a long stick. This did the trick and what was more to the point, the odour of the chloroform effectually killed the smell as well as Mr. Skunk. When it is explained that when Captain Stright built his bungalow, he had the bedrooms fitted up in the basement, the consternation of the family can be better understood when they learned of the propinquity of their unwanted visitor. —S.

tion-minded officials, lax during the period of highest protection, are now seeking out ways and means whereby the tariff can be increased without reference to parliament.

"This practice must be stopped. Mr. Ilsley should take in hand a departmental inquiry with a view to finding where the loopholes are in the statutes which he administers. Once found, they should be stopped by legislative action. The ingenuity of protectionists is endless. The Liberal government, to be true to its repeated pledges, must meet that ingenuity by a thorough-going overhaul of the Customs Act and any other legislation involved."

IS OPTIMISTIC OF PROSPECTS IN FUR MARKET

Mr. Peter G. Clark Interviewed on Return From London.

Optimism with regard to prospects in the silver fox fur industry was expressed by Mr. Peter G. Clark, President of the Prince Edward Island Fur Pool, Ltd., who returned Friday from London, England, where he attended the recent Fur Auction Sales in London.

In an interview with a Guardian representative Mr. Clark expressed his views on the coming fur season based on consultations he had had with leading fur brokers, dealers and manufacturers; and also on his own observations while in London, which is now the world's chief centre of the fur market.

Speaking of the unrest in Europe especially with regard to its effects on fur prices, Mr. Clark said in London the question of war was simply not heard discussed. To get opinions from prominent business men on the subject, he had to put the question to them direct. They all expressed much the same opinion: "That there are possibilities of a war on the Continent, within a year or two, but that England would probably take no part in it." As to the fur business, that should improve in the event of war as the trade would all come by way of London, and speaking from their experience during the last war prices would rise rather than fall.

Mr. Clark was struck with the general attitude of the British people in regard to the European situation. The newspapers, he said, did not feature the sensational despatches from Spain and other countries. The Fascist parades in London are not taken seriously. On the whole Mr. Clark felt there need not be any undue concern over European affairs.

Speaking of the devaluation of the French franc and other continental currencies, he said the general opinion in leading business and financial circles was that it was the beginning of a vastly improved situation in international trade and would pave the way for more and better business relationships between nations and countries.

Speaking of the effect of the devaluation of the franc on the recent fur auction sale in London, Mr. Clark said that naturally European currencies were not quoted in London at that time, which was just when the auction sale was in progress, and no foreign buyers were in attendance. This had a tendency to reduce prices; but most of the goods were held by shippers and dealers at reasonable prices, which kept the market firm.

About sixty per cent. of the total offering was actually sold. While reported prices showed a decline, this indicated a lowering of quality of the pelts rather than a lowering of price.

As soon as the Exchange Markets were opened goods began to sell by private treaty and very large quantities are now being sold. Ranchers need have no fear for the future of the fox industry and those who produce pelts with quality of the kind the trade requires will always find a profitable market.

Norwegian pelts seen by Mr. Clark have a better colour than Canadian pelts, but the better grade Canadian pelt is superior in character and general quality of fur.

Mr. Clark strongly advises ranchers to concentrate on quality rather than quantity.

Canada's prime pelts are much favoured by manufacturers because they find that they dress out much better than Norwegian skins. The Norwegian fox is generally pelted very early in the season and that, in Mr. Clark's opinion, is the reason they are not so well furred.

The silver scarf and cape is growing in popularity in England and good silvers will be in stronger demand for the local trade.

Mr. Clark was greatly impressed with English methods of business and was very cordially welcomed by the heads of London Fur houses, who spared no pains to make his

Miscouche Girl Wins Scholarship

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—(CP)—The Catholic Women's League of Canada tonight announced names of winners in seven provinces of its annual scholarships to applicants receiving highest standings in senior matriculation examinations. The awards give winners $100 for two consecutive years.

Canning Factory For Summerside

F. A. Hewitt and Sons, well-known packers of Amherst, N.S., and Montague, P.E.I., are opening up a canning factory at Summerside. This is a new industry and will give employment to a number of girls and men.

The factory will also have a government inspector who will pass the products before they leave the premises. Mr. Hewitt will concentrate on canned chicken and its by products this season, but next year expects to include blueberries and other fruits in his work. The factory will not be open for some ten days at least as a good bit of the machinery has not yet arrived.

This industry is a move in the right direction. Another new industry about to be started in Summerside is a pasteurizing plant where the public will be able to obtain pasteurized milk and cream.

Power Services Disrupted SAINT JOHN, N.B., Oct. 12—(CP)—Crop and property damage, mostly from high wind, was left over tonight from a varied Thanksgiving Day menu of weather in New Brunswick.

Striking after several days of "Indian summer", the gale flattened barns, disrupted power services, blew off rocks and uprooted trees. Some districts had the first snow flurries of the season. Thunder, hail, sleet and rain were also on the list of fare.

Apple growers suffered heavy loss. The owner of a large orchard in Westmorland county reported that 50 per cent of unpicked fruit had been blown from the trees. Lobster boats in the Shediac district were moored safely before the storm but barns collapsed at Cocagne and Dupuis Corner.

Hydro service was interrupted for a short time when poles fell between Shediac and Moncton, and telephone service out of Chatham was widely disrupted. Many roofs were blown from old buildings in the Miramichi district. Wind and waves at Baie Ste. Anne, near the mouth of the Miramichi River, carried a small boat from the shore into a nearby field.

At Saint John this afternoon the wind reached a peak velocity of 34 miles. A child was taken to hospital after she was caught under the collapsing wall of a garage. Windows were shattered and signs blown down. The temperature tonight was 36 after a maximum of 57 today.

UNVEILING OF MEMORIAL AT CENTRAL LOT 16

Largely Attended Services Commemorating First Presbytery Meeting.

The United Church at Central Lot 16 held special services on Sunday when a monument was unveiled to commemorate the first Presbytery meeting of the Presbyterian Churches on Prince Edward Island, which took place on October 11th, 1821. Although this congregation is now part of the United Church in Canada, it was decided by the Presbytery of the United Church of P. E. I. that a fitting memorial should be erected to commemorate this historic event.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Falconer of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax was the special speaker at the morning and afternoon services.

The memorial has been placed at the left of the church and is made of a huge granite boulder weighing nearly five tons, which was obtained from Fraser's shore near Grand River and brought to its present position by the young men of the community, who are to be commended for their cheerful assistance in this stupendous task.

A bronze tablet on the boulder bears this inscription: "In this vicinity, on the eleventh day of October, 1821, the first Presbytery of Prince Edward Island was constituted. Included in its membership were the Reverends John Kerr (Moderator), Robert Douglas (Clerk), William MacGregor and Mr. Edward Ramsay (elder). Their labours then and subsequently laid sure foundations for their church on this island, and bore rich fruit for God in distant lands.

"Other men laboured and ye have entered into their labours." Unveiled on October 11th, 1936." The monument was unveiled by Mr. Wm. H. MacGregor, a grandson of Rev. Wm. MacGregor, whose name is inscribed on the monument.

Others taking part in the ceremony were Rev. Dr. J. W. Falconer, who is a grandson of Rev. Robert Douglas; Rev. E. Russell Woodside, B.A., a great-great-grandson of Edward Ramsay, the ruling elder, who took part in that first Presbytery.

Morning Service The church was very beautifully decorated with autumn flowers for the ceremonies of the day. At the morning service three beautiful pulpits and a communion table were dedicated. The chairs were donated by Mr. and Mrs. George MacGowan, St. Eleanors, in memory of Mrs. MacGowan's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Ramsay. The communion table was given by Mr. and Mrs. Percy Miller in memory of their son Vernon.

Another interesting and very impressive ceremony was the burning of the note, cancelling the Manse Building Debt.

Messrs. H. V. Carr and Seymour Thompson, chairman and treasurer of the Manse committee took part in this ceremony.

Rev. E. Russell Woodside, pastor of the church, spoke feelingly of the tremendous efforts of the congregation that had made this ceremony possible.

Mr. Woodside expressed his profound gratitude to his congregation for such a noble response to his appeal. Their efforts, he said, cannot be measured in dollars and cents. The work has meant a great deal of sacrifice, but he felt that all would benefit spiritually.

Mr. Woodside stated that the Manse was built in 1929 and several liberal donations had made the erection of it possible. About $1,000 had been given in free labour and materials and now the remaining debt of $3,000 was cancelled, and this thanksgiving season was a very appropriate time to render thanks to God that their objective had been realized.

Dr. J. W. Falconer spoke particularly of missions. His text was taken from St. John 9.5, when Jesus us said, "I am the Light of the World", and another text in which He said, "Ye are the Light of the World." The foundation of missions springs from these two passages. Christ was speaking to His disciples and not to the crowd, when He said "Ye are the Light of the World." They were the founders of the Christian church. It is the duty of the church to carry that light to every part of the world. The subject of missions was an appropriate one for a Prince Edward Island memorial service, Dr. Falconer said, as the Island has been outstanding in sending missionaries to foreign fields.

ZIG-ZAG

CANADA'S LARGEST SELLING CIGARETTE TOBACCO 10¢

Following was the order of service:

Organ prelude, by local choir; call to worship, Rev. Mr. Woodside; invocation; dedication of memorials, Rev. Mr. Woodside; hymn, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways"; statement, re building of manse and burning of note, Rev. Mr. Woodside; announcements; thank offering for missions; solo, by Mr. Robert Betton; sermon, Dr. J. W. Falconer; prayer; hymn, "Rise Up O Men of God"; benediction; organ postlude; organist, Mrs. Edward Lockhart.

Afternoon Service Rev. Dr. Falconer was the speaker at the afternoon service when a great number of visitors were present from outside points. The preacher based his sermon on the Psalms 121, "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help." He said the hymns and psalms that people like are an indication of their religious convictions and singing was as much a part of religious duties as the other parts of the church service. The psalm he had chosen embodied the Christian's faith in God very clearly and all should ponder on its verses.

Rev. A. S. Weir, chairman of the Presbytery, presided at the afternoon service and brought greetings from the Presbytery. He also congratulated the Minister and congregation on their being able to cancel the Manse debt.

Following was the order of service:

Organ prelude; call to worship, Rev. A. S. Weir; invocation; hymn "O God of Bethel"; scripture, Rev. J. A. Nicholson, Tyne Valley; male quartette, (selected); prayer, Rev. Edwin White, Presbyterian Minister, Tyne Valley; hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign"; announcements; thank offering for missions; anthem, "Fear Thou Not!"; sermon, Prof. James W. Falconer, D.D.; prayer; statement from Presbytery, Rev. W. E. Aitken.

Unveiling ceremony—Call to order; responsive reading, hymnary No. 768, led by Rev. W. E. Aitken; prayer, Rev. L. E. G. Davies; report of memorial committee, Rev. E. R. Woodside; unveiling of memorial, Mr. Wm. H. MacGregor; inscription read by Prof. J. W. Falconer, D.D.; hymn, "Faith of Our Fathers"; benediction. —S.

The chief effect of the new arrangement he said, would be to take the power to trade gold out of the hands of "irresponsible speculators" and put it in hands of the government.

Other nations will be welcome to enter into the agreement at any time, Morgenthau added.

He said the arrangement might be revoked by any of the three nations on 24 hour notice.

The primary purpose of the agreement, Morgenthau said, is to protect business against violent fluctuations of the exchange. He asserted it would have no effect whatever on the internal value of the United States dollar.

Dr. Falconer On Conference Of Faith And Order

Dr. J. W. Falconer of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, Halifax, was the special speaker in Trinity United Church on Sunday evening, and delivered a very interesting address on the Conference of Faith and Order, which is scheduled to take place next August 3-18 at Edinburgh, Scotland.

Dr. Falconer was privileged to attend the sittings of the different Committees, held at Geneva this summer to arrange the program for the forthcoming conference. His address on Sunday was based on the findings of these Committees on the important matters they had been asked to look into.

Presiding at the Conference was Dr. Temple, Archbishop of York, with the Bishop of Croydon and Bishop of Gloucester, all English bishops; also a Bishop from Ireland, and one from Wales; the Bishop of Berlin; outstanding men from France, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Belgium and Russia, heads of the Methodist Churches from Scotland and England. Not many Americans were present. There were some representatives from the Society of Friends and one lady from a Congregational Church in the United States.

The meeting at Geneva was the outcome of a Conference in 1927 held at Lucerne Switzerland, under the leadership of Bishop Brent of New York to discuss the Union of the Churches. At this meeting Committees were appointed to look into the vital questions that kept Christian churches from uniting.

Dr. Falconer said that all were agreed that the centre of the Gospel was the Person of Jesus Christ. Why then could the churches not be one?

The four leading questions on which the Committees were to report, at the coming Conference in Edinburgh were, "What do we mean by Grace?"; "Doctrine, Order of Ministry and the Sacraments," "Our Belief" and "Corporate Communion."

The church, Dr. Falconer said, is the bulwark of the nation and all Christian bodies must unite to fight the wave of paganism which is gaining ground.

In closing the speaker said there is nothing in our common faith to keep us apart. What the Churches fail in, is charity towards the others; and what is really needed is a new conception of Christian love.

ing, sales of gold will be made, beginning tomorrow, through the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, as a fiscal agent of the United States, at a price of $35 per fine ounce, plus 1-4 per cent handling charge.

OTTAWA, Oct. 12—(C.P.)—Any step to stabilize further the currencies of Great Britain, United States and France should be welcome news for Canadian trade, officials of the finance, department here stated tonight.

They were commenting on the announcements in London and Washington that provisions would be made starting tomorrow for free exchange of gold between the stabilization funds of the three nations.

With sterling and New York funds guarded against violent fluctuations, the officials expected the Canadian dollar to hold steady.

Political leaders in this country have frequently expressed the view that Canadian trade was to a great extent dependent on the stabilization of the sterling and the United States dollar and to a lesser degree on stability of the French franc. With these currencies stabilized, the other factors which affect the value of the Canadian dollar such as the balance of trade and the transfers of securities were expected to continue normal and thereby sustain its value in the international market.
