

FARMER HAS GLANDERS

WINNIPEG, Nov. 29.—Unique in the annals of the province's medical profession, local doctors have been treating a prominent Manitoba horse breeder and farmer, Frank Cullen of Treesbank, for glanders. He contracted the disease while attending horses suffering from glanders. Doctors who attended Mr. Cullen, who has been in a private hospital here for some time, were unable to diagnose the case in its early stages, but they now express the belief that he will recover. So unique is the case that a clinic was held last week at which the entire faculty and student body of the Manitoba Medical College were invited to examine the patient.

Africa Land Of Misconceptions, Says Scientist

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Africa as the Continent of Great Misunderstandings rather than the Dark Continent and as a land flowing with milk and honey instead of the last frontier for romanticists and thrillers, is the theme of a report published today by the Phelps-Stoker Fund for an international commission, which has just returned from a ten-month investigation.

The immense and varied physical resources of Africa are virtually unknown to civilization, says Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones, author of the report. Because previous researches were made for private or governmental use, and the results were not published, he regrets that the popular conception of Africa was derived from journalistic accounts.

He found evidence to convince the most skeptical that Africa is the "undeveloped treasure house of the world" with every colony possessing precious metals in commercial quantities and possibilities in agriculture, animal husbandry and water power that scarcely have been touched.

Four general misconceptions are limiting investment of capital in Africa: industry and agriculture; hampering the efforts of colonial governments and discouraging the support of missions, Dr. Jones continues. The first concerns natural resources and scenery; the second the health conditions of the continent; the third the improvidence of the people, and the fourth the European and American influences.

The most unfortunate and unfair of all the misunderstandings is that the African people do not give promise of development sufficient to warrant efforts in their behalf. Dr. Jones reported, adding that the contrary is shown "by their response to the missions, governments and commercial organizations."

Capacity of People. "Africans," he goes on, "occupy positions of importance in every colony visited. There are physicians, lawyers and ministers of the gospel who have completed the requirements of European universities and, while the number is small, it is sufficient to prove the capacity of the people.

The clerical tasks of government, industry and commerce are very largely entrusted to young African men. The mechanical operations on railroads and in construction are more and more being taken over by African workmen. Every mission gives emphatic testimony to the value of the native teachers and ministers.

"Nor are the possibilities of the Africans to be judged only by those who have entered the ranks of civilization whether in Africa, Europe or America. Their folklore, their handicraft, their native music, their forms of government heralded abroad with such anxiety by some alarmists of the present time is in the development of genuine and sincere co-operation of the peoples of all races, based upon an education of the native masses and native leaders in the common essentials of life."

Evil influences originated with the white explorer and still persist, but Dr. Jones is convinced that the native has gained more than he lost through the white man's advent.

"Ignorance, injustice, unrest in Africa will always disturb the peace of mankind elsewhere," he concludes. "The only cure for the so-called 'rising tide of color' and the revolt against civilization heralded abroad with such anxiety by some alarmists of the present time is in the development of genuine and sincere co-operation of the peoples of all races, based upon an education of the native masses and native leaders in the common essentials of life."

TO SUPPRESS SCHOOL HAZING

LONDON, Ont., November 29.—Acting on the recommendation of the executive committee, the board of governors of Western University has issued an edict that hazing will not be permitted in the future. It is contended by the authorities that the annual initiations have increased in physical violence until some prohibition has been necessitated if the dignity of the college is to be upheld.

The authorities explain that they are anxious to put a stop to initiations in which physical constraint is used. They contend that the Students' Council, which wishes to assume control of the annual events has not done its duty and suggested that the inter-class sports take the place of hazing in future.

Two Years In Prison As Result Of a "Drug Party"

MONTREAL, Nov. 29.—Drug traffickers were roundly condemned in the Court of King's Bench here today when Mr. Justice Lafontaine passed sentence of two years' imprisonment on Elie Lafontaine, found guilty of manslaughter for last week in connection with the death of Paul Roland, 19, in the course of a "drug party" in a house on St. Denis Street.

"The family of the accused is one of the best," said the Judge, "and it is a terrible thing that he should be the cause of so much distress. But he must suffer for his wrong doing and I hope he will change his ways as a result."

Totally blind and groping his way to the witness box on crutches, Raphael Molano, 40, defended himself against a charge of being in possession of a tin containing 77 decks of cocaine which were found in a suitcase in his rooming house on St. Ursula St. Yvonne Beland, employed to look after Molano's rooming house, pleaded guilty to being in possession of the tin, and bore out Molano's statement that he knew nothing of the matter.

Decision will be given Nov. 29.

Committee Warns Of Shortage In Coal

OTTAWA, Nov. 29.—In a statement issued this evening the federal advisory fuel committee once more warns householders that there is little anthracite coming in to Canada from the United States and that it is important to lay in a supply of substitutes.

Dealers as well as consumers, it is said, are facing a situation which may lead to difficulty and possible hardship "unless the attitude of the public towards substitutes greatly alters."

The shortage of anthracite according to the statement is likely to continue throughout the winter and in the United States, the public has been warned to lay in a thirty per cent. emergency supply of either bituminous coal, coke, or the smaller sizes of anthracite, such as pea and buckwheat. It will be the middle of February before the shortage of anthracite can possibly be caught up with. It is said, by which time winter transportation difficulties are generally at their worst.

TRAINING JOHN

A California woman in training a new Chinese servant to wait on the door had her daughter ring the bell and present her card. The next afternoon a friend called and handed her card to the Celestial, who pulled out of his sleeve the card the daughter of the house had presented the afternoon before and carefully compared the two.

"Tiekee no matchee!" he exclaimed handing back the visitor's card. "No can come in!" —Philadelphia Ledger.

Queens University To Play Edmonton Elks

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 29.—The Queen's University football team earned the coveted right to enter the Dominion finals against the Edmonton Elks next Saturday when it trimmed the powerful Argos 12 to 11 at Toronto last Saturday. The Elks possess a strong line and are a husky outfit but the dash and pep of the Presbyterians should carry them through to the topmost rung of the football ladder. Queens have certainly merited a Dominion football championship on their form this season, having sustained one defeat—and that an important one at the hands of Varsity, 24 to 1. Such an overwhelming score would daunt any but a first rate bunch of fighters with plenty of nerve.
