MR. JAMES SHAW

On Tuesday p. m. 9th inst., the mortal remains of the late James Shaw were laid away in the Belfast cemetery in the presence of many friends who cherished the highest regard for their departed friend. The deceased formerly lived in Wood Islands and moved to the Garfield Road some twenty five years ago. He was a ship's blacksmith in his old time, and was in his day a man of powerful physique but better he was mighty in the essentials of a noble Christian character. He belonged to the old school. He walked in the ways of truth, and crowned a victorious life in a triumphant death. Precious in the Lord's sight is his saint's death.

What the Reserved Stock Issue of Bruce Stewart & Co., Limited Means to YOU--and the Public

The man who has money to invest always hears of hundreds of propositions wherein glowing prospects for good returns are set forward. Some of these are good some are not, the majority are mediocre. But here is a proposition that offers good interest for every cent you put forth in stock, a stock flotation that means money for shareholders, that means more money in circulation for Charlottetown. It is a big thing for us, a big thing for you Mr. Investor, and a big thing for the public generally.

To the investor we offer shares in the Reserved Treasury Stock of this company at par value, $100 a share, notwithstanding the fact that the present issue is worth $12.30 above par.

The benefit derived by Charlottetown from this industry has proven the fact that 2 1/2 p.c. of the entire population derive a living directly from Bruce Stewart & Co., Limited. The wage and salary list for the past year was $45,000 and this means a good deal to local trade.

With increased capitalization we would be able to build up our plant and increase our working force so that we may be able to handle the business that is growing steadily every day and be able to save on expenses by paying cash for goods and be able to handle the business that comes our way—something we have not been able to do to date.

The Secretary-treasurer of the company will be pleased to send you any information you may desire.

There is no doubt whatever that the profits of the company will be much larger with sufficient capital to enlarge our plant and thereby handle the rapidly growing business.
