The Mascot a Real Musical Treat

Boston Opera Company Scores Another Success in One of the Wittiest Operas Ever Presented Here.

To show their appreciation for the good music of talented artists another well filled house greeted the popular Boston English Opera Company at the Prince Edward last evening. "The Mascot" is one of the funniest and brightest operas ever given in this city. It is full of melody and brimming over with melody, which brought out to full advantage the wonderfully clear soprano of Miss Morrill and Miss Porter, the splendid tenor of Mr. Edwin Orchard, the excellent bass of Mr. Henry Ralf and the fine baritone of Mr. John Prichard, in fact the full strength of the Company was heard to the very best advantage in last evening's performance. It was a success, one contrast to Monday night's success, one wonders how many more pleasant surprises are in store for the remaining nights.

"The Mascot," with Edward Orchard as Prince Lorenzo, was too funny for words and Miss Morrill and Mr. Arnold in Gobbie-Gobbie was a delight to everyone. The beauty chorus was entirely out of the ordinary and its members were

Lord Northcliffe Said to be Dying

PARIS, July 20—Inside information reaching Paris from London indicates that Lord Northcliffe is not expected to live longer than a few weeks. Last Friday he was so low that it was believed he could not last through the night. Obituary notices of him were ordered ready for publication in all his newspapers. Since then he has been showing small improvement. Specialists say that if Lord Northcliffe lasts out the month he may linger on for some time, but will never recover sufficiently to direct his properties again. Few bulletins on his condition are issued even to editors of his papers. His London town house is entirely given over to nurses and doctors, so that even Lady Northcliffe is living elsewhere.

Canadian Gov't Takes No Part in Immigration Scheme

LONDON, July 20—It is learned this morning from an authoritative source that in spite of the fact that two months have elapsed since the passing of the Empire Settlement Act by Parliament, providing for the immediate granting of state subsidies amounting to nearly seven million dollars for aiding approved schemes of immigration to Canada, no plan whatever has as yet been put forward officially by the Dominion for taking advantage of the Act. Messrs. Bogue and Smart are both here from Ottawa, exploring the possibilities of juvenile migration, and looking carefully into the well prepared plan that Australia has worked out in this field, but this is only a minor branch of the work, while the field as a whole remains untouched.

SEVEN STORY WALL OF WAREHOUSE CRASHED TO EARTH

NEW YORK, July 19.—Bulging from expansion of great rolls of newsprint soaked with water, the seven story wall of the Greenwich Village warehouse, which burst in to flames yesterday morning, fell five feet high in the flood, pouring from the wrecked structure.

A great gallery of many thousand men watched the collapse from a modern catwalk formed by neighborly roofs and fire escapes. Meantime, three investigations are under way to determine the cause of the million dollar fire still burning tonight, that caused the death of two firemen and injured thirty others. Acting Fire Chief "Smoky" Joe Martin, declared that more water had been poured into the building than at any fire that ever occurred in this city.

Visitors Heartily Welcomed By Mayor Jenkins

At the opening of the second day's programme of the Scottish Catholic celebration yesterday afternoon at the Charlottetown Exhibition grounds His Worship Mayor Jenkins delivered the following address of welcome.

Mayor Jenkins address

We are this week commemorating a memorable event in the history of this Province, namely the landing of the Scottish Catholics in the year 1772 and after. The pioneers of this country were a wonderful people, hardy, frugal and industrious. They overcame obstacles which to the people of our day, would seem almost insurmountable.

It is a splendid thing, therefore to stop for a time and reflect upon the contribution which these pioneers made to the life and welfare of this Island home of ours.

Their deeds are written on the land—those men of lowly name, Theirs was the strong and faithful hand, unskilled to grasp at fame; Content to lead a simple life, untroubled by discontent or strife.

They sowed that when they "fell on sleep" their children's children still might reap.

Their eyes with evening tasks grown dim, will wake no more—nor weep, And we, for whom their lives outwore, in tender memory's treasure store Their name and deeds will keep Among the noblest of the earth, proud that such mothers gave us birth.

Oh! dear, departed weary ones; Our ancient honored dead! May reverence guard your holy bones, and love your lowly bed.

For us, 'tis all that we can do—above the mounds that speak of you— The grateful tear to shed; Keep green the memory and the grave, and guard the heritage ye gave."

Ladies and Gentlemen,—It is my pleasant duty today to greet you in the name of the City of Charlottetown. Figuratively speaking, we hand you the keys of the City.

Some of you present reside in the Province. We do not need to welcome you. You are at home, but it devolves upon you to give a cordial reception to the other two classes to whom I shall say a few words.

First of all, we welcome those who have returned to the land of their birth. You will no doubt see some changes since you last visited us.

The days grow shorter, the nights grow longer. The headstones thicken along the way. And life grows sadder but love grows stronger. For those who walk with us day by day.

But all true things in the world seem truer, And the better things of earth seem best. And friends are dearer as friends tatter fewer. And love is all as our sun dips West!"

And let us remember that even in looking back we may be happy, and with our beloved Island poetess Lucy Gertrude Clarkin, we may say:
