CAPITOL SUMMERSIDE

—"MURDER HE SAYS" STARS MacMURRAY IN RIOTOUS FARCE

—"Murder, He Says" may go into the books as the funniest farce to come out of Hollywood. Opening at Capitol Theatre, it has a combination that's hard to beat — Fred MacMurray as the star with George Marshall directing. Other members of the cast, Marjorie Main, Porter Hall, Jean Heather and Peter Marshall.

—Movie-goers will meet new film family that defies description. The Fleasles rate as the scariest, looniest, altogether daffiest clan of homicidal hillbillies ever bent on murder.

—"Murder, He Says" is a fast-moving, action-packed laugh riot which gives audiences entertainment of a superlative nature.

The Accused

OTTAWA, March 8. — (CP) — Records of the four persons accused today in conspiring to pass on information to Russia have little in common:

They are: Capt. David Gordon Lunan, 30, native of Kirkcaldy, Fyffeshire, Scotland, whose wife and child have been living in Montreal; Edward Wilfred Mazerall, 29, native of Fredericton, N. B. and resident of Ottawa;

Mrs. Emma Wolkin, 25, native of Blaine Lake, Sask., and daughter of Russian Doubkoff parents; Miss Kathleen Mary Willsher, 40, native of London, Eng., and a member of the clerical staff of the United Kingdom high commissioner's office since 1930.

Described as "the head of a group of agents," Capt. Lunan was a free lance writer when he came to Canada an unspecified number of years ago.

He entered the Canadian Army as a private Jan. 20, 1943 and was commissioned a second lieutenant April 11 of that year.

He was promoted to captain's rank June 2, 1944, and two months ago was sent overseas by the Canadian Information Service to assist the public relations officer at Canada House in connection with Canadian news emanating from the United Nations Conference.

Mazerall also has an army background of signals training. Educated in science and engineering at the University of New Brunswick, he was so successful a student that in 1927 he was temporarily put on the signals instruction staff at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.

He went to the CBO technical staff in 1939 and remained there until 1942 when he was loaned to the National Research Council to study radar.

Mrs. Wolkin has been described by friends as studious and fluent in both English and Russian. She came to Ottawa from Blaine Lake two years ago.

It was in early 1944 that she qualified in a stenographic examination and she was assigned to the cipher branch of the external affairs department. When she took the job she was required to subscribe to an oath of secrecy.

Miss Willsher

Miss Willsher came to Canada in 1930 to do stenographic and clerical work at the office of the United Kingdom high commissioner here. In latter years she has served as assistant registrar in the commissioner's office.

Dr. May

Dr. Alan Nunn May, 24-year-old expert on atomic energy, a lecturer in physics at King's College London, and one of a team of British scientists who came to Canada to work on atom bomb research during the war years, Dr. Nunn May in Montreal worked under Prof. J. D. Cockcroft, appointed to head the British atomic energy plant to be set up near Dico in Berkshire. Soon after joining the staff of King's College in 1941, where his specialty was nuclear physics, he was transferred on government service to Montreal and returned to London last October, in time for the new session of the college.

WELCOME HOME

A former equipment assistant in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, and now the wife of Sgt. M. R. Leard, R.C.A.F. of Alberton, P.E.I., Mrs. Leard was welcomed by her husband as she stepped from the gangway of the "Lettitia" in Halifax Monday afternoon one of some 200 wives of Canadian ex-servicemen who arrived from the U. K. Formerly Miss Gladys Cousins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Cousins of Dagenham, Essex, Mrs. Leard met her husband, a radar operator, when both were serving at R.A.F. Station Wick, in Scotland. "She once made me walk two miles to draw a new pair of boots", her husband laughingly explained, when the couple were interviewed by newsmen. — (R.C.A.F. photo by Sgt. C. H. Buckman).

Manitoba Leader In Pickerel Landings

Manitoba may have reason for talking a bit proudly about its goldeye-very toothsome fare, even more grateful for the big stocks of other kinds of fish which nature has put into the province's waters. As a matter of fact, Manitoba people should be particularly grateful for the pickerel, which is caught in greater quantity in Manitoba water than anywhere else in the Dominion—it's a million-dollar fish, and better, rated according to the market value of the annual catch in the lake provinces.

There's gratitude due, too, for the provincial resources, in which, saugers, pike, suckers, and whitefish and for lesser but substantial stocks of perch and Lake trout, with some muskellunge and lake whitefish, water catfish, and freshwater drum thrown in. To say nothing of the goldeneye. The goldeneye isn't very big, say a half million pounds a year, but goldeyes are always in brisk demand at a good price and Manitoba has virtually a monopoly in their production in Canada.

A small catch comes from one of the Saskatchewan waters but nearly all of the Dominion's annual output is Manitoba, with Lake Winnipeg and Lake Winnipegosis the main sources of supply.

In point of aggregate marketed value of annual fisheries production Manitoba stands second among the freshwater provinces, not so very far behind the leader, Ontario. Average production value for the western provinces in the two years 1943-44 was only slightly below $4,100,000, which was the return from the total catch averaging more than 32,200,000 pounds.

In the main, the dollar showing of the province is due to the pickerel, sauger, and whitefish production. Both saugers and whitefish, when sold as pike, sometimes get into the million dollar class in the province, though, as it happened, both fell quite a long way from making their way into that high bracket in '44. Pike, tullibee, and suckers were the other three fish to go beyond $100,000 in marketed value of catch in 1944, with pike nearly $225,000 well ahead of the other two.

Fifty Lakes Fished

Lake Winnipeg and Lake Winnipegosis are the Manitoba leaders in quantity of fish taken but commercial fishing goes on in more than two score other lakes. There is also some fishing, but not very much, in the Winnipeg, Churchill, Saskatchewan, and Nelson rivers. There are both summer and winter fishing seasons in a good many of the lakes, though perhaps not everywhere for all species in each season.

The catching gear used consists of gill nets, hoop nets, dip and roll nets, but gill nets outnumber the others a great many times over. In '44, for instance, the Manitoba fishermen used over 109,500 gill nets, valued at $1,260,000 in round figures, as compared with fewer than 30,000 nets. Gasoline boats, skiffs, and canoes are the fishing craft used—a good many more skiffs and canoes than power boats. Capital equipment use in the provincial fisheries is worth about $2,000,000, and the people employed total, say, 6,200.

Commenting on this article, Dr. Mitchell said that the penicillin treatment should be entrusted only to a qualified veterinarian so as to avoid infection by other disease organisms. Even after animals have been cured of mastitis, good management of the dairy herd to protect it from injury and chill should be continued to prevent re-infection of the disease. If complete eradication of bovine mastitis is to be effective, it should be undertaken for the entire herd rather than for an individual animal, he said.

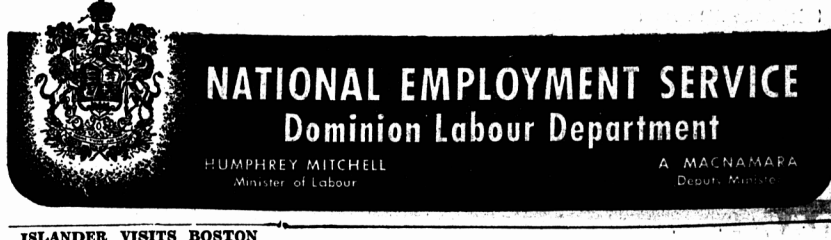

Welcome them home WITH A JOB...

Munitions Worker, Wren, C.W.A.C., or W.D.—they did a grand job for Canada—now many of them want to carry on that service in civilian life. ISLANDER VISITS BOSTON

Among the recent visitors to Boston was George MacLeod of Charlottetown; he came by plane (the easy way).

He visited his sister Nancy who lives in Beacon Hill. And other friends and relatives. And historical spots, as well.

"Prince Edward Island is the happiest and most beautiful place I've ever heard of," said George MacLeod. "Now we know the reason. For there, they have meat and butter."

Several former Islanders now living in the U.S.A., gathered at Nancy's one evening to greet him, the old-fashioned way. There was the Gus MacLeod's and Etta Drummond, as well, Mr. and Mrs. Holland, and Earl MacDuff.

Who's mother was a Bell. There was much fun and merriment, and of course refreshments too. They all hoped George would soon be back. This he promised he would do. —E.D.

Overseas Closeups

By THE CANADIAN PRESS WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES OVERSEAS, March 7. — (CP) — As a farewell dinner given to the mayor, mayoress and prominent citizens of Torquay at the closing of the R.C.A.F. Repatriation Depot, Group Capt. J. A. Hutchison of Edmonton presented the South Devon holiday resort with a flag which once flew from Overseas Headquarters of the R.C.A.F. The flag, with its centre rounded a red maple leaf, will fly from Torquay Town Hall every Dominion Day and similar occasions.

Since VE-Day, the depot, which was commanded by Group Capt. Hutchison, has repatriated 35,000 Canadian airmen and women. It now has been moved to Topcliffe, Yorkshire.

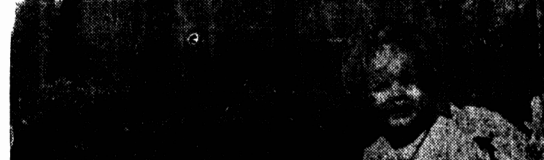

When Lieut. W. M. Thierien, Ottawa, was sent with 30 trucks to Friesoythe railway station in Germany on a "hush-hush" job, he didn't expect Lieut. R.H. Ashman of Brookville, Ont., to tell him 30 "important" war criminals and 213 witnesses were on an incoming train.

Guarded by one British officer and 30 more the prisoners, with ranks ranging from major-general to private, were bundled into the trucks and driven to Esterwegen detention camp. The camp, commanded by Maj. S.L. Dymond of Toronto, is guarded by Canadian Highlanders of Ottawa.

Amsterdam is the only point within the Canadian Army Occupation Force area where arrangements can be made for telephone calls to Canada. It usually takes four or five days to get a call through and the cost is 10 guilders ($4) a minute.

A stunning idea! Light colored jackets, even in white wool, are simply the rave of the moment! And you can look so attractive and different with one long and one short black skirt, plus three jackets—one in white wool, one in black satin and one in your favorite color. Black hat and accessories, something "sparky" for your hair, the satin jacket and long skirt.

The biggest thrill of two wars for Pie Beatrice Freeman, C.W.A.C. of Toronto, was her return to Canada the same date she left it 26 years ago.

Pie Freeman was returning from privileged leave in England when she docked in Canada Dec. 31, 1945. On Dec. 31, 1919, she sailed from Canada to England to be demobilized from the British W.A.A.C.V.

Born in Staffordshire, England, Pie Freeman was a schoolteacher until 1918 when she joined the W.A.A.C.s. After demobilization she went to Canada to join her brother and sister in Toronto.

A well known designer, Harry Trencher, says that you may look wonderful in mink, but there are less expensive ways of getting a furred look. And he produced a stunning noose, wearing an open-crown hat with wonderful Persian Lams cutted gloves with a tiny tuft of the Persian not touch longer than the fur cuffs. A person lamb bag was stung over one shoulder—
