Sir Squire Bancroft Dies in London

LONDON, April 20.—Sir Squire Bancroft, dean of the English station, died in London Monday night after a short illness.
Squire Bancroft was born in luxury in 1841 but his father's early death greatly changed his circum-stances and he first appeared on the stage at the Theatre Royal, Birmingham, in 1861, at a salary of a guinea a week. He retired from a career of successful management in 1885, having realized a fortune in his own right.
His wife, Lady Bancroft, died in 1921.

Judge Awards $400 Damages

(Canadian Press)
TORONTO, Ont., April 20.—Judge Denton awarded R. B. Huestis and Mary E. Huestis of Toron-to $400 damages against the city of Toronto for damage to an automobile. Mrs. Huestis was driving a car down Soranter Avenue last Oc-tober when a big silver maple tree fell and smashed the front of the automobile. The plaintiffs claimed that the sod around the tree had been weakened by an excavation made some days before the ac-cident by city workmen.

All Classes Con-tribute to "Save the Franc" Fund

PARIS, April 20.—Diamonds, pearls, watches, earrings, bracelets, as well as franc notes and cheques, were received today by the "Save the Franc" Fund Commission which opened its offices in the Finance Ministry at the Louvre. All sorts and conditions of French citizens and some foreigners made volun-tary contributions of funds to be used to retire Treasury notes and reduce France's floating debt, re-lieving the Treasury of the embar-rassment of being unable to meet its payments on national bonds that are falling due.

The contributions come from all parts of France, one newspaper raising 100,000 francs. The Prince of Monaco gave 70,000 francs for himself and his children. In many cases Government officials gave a tenth of their slender salaries. Military members of the Legion of Honor decided to give their Leg-ion pensions. Actors have started a fund. Theatrical benefits are being made ready.

The first million francs is expect-ed to be reached quickly. Most of the contributions are coming from those who have but little to spare. The slow, but steady fall of the franc, which is 29.78 to the dollar, this evening brought from Finance Minister Peret a statement that the "cause" for the decline has passed and the franc should now begin to recover. The decline is partly due to the long delayed, but only 25 pounds and dollars needed in busi-ness and party to speculation, which it is hoped will cease with the national effort to save the franc.

LONDON, April 20.—Lovat Fraser, chief literary adviser and con-tributor to the Sunday Pictorial and the Daily Mirror, died today aged fifty-four.

The Markets

(Canadian Press)
MONTREAL, Que., April 20.—Extreme dull business marked the export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market today owing to the fact that there were few firm bids received from foreign buyers. There was a steady de-mand for ocean grain room for May loading here and a good amount of business was done, in-cluding engagement of heavy buyers to transport the continent at thirteen cents per bushel and to others at cents per bushel. The market was a purchase of a lot of No. 1 northern wheat made by exporter for rail and water shipment from Fort William at a C.I.F. price Montreal. There was some enquiry for oats and sales of odd lots were made, but the market on the whole was quiet with a firm undertone.

The feature of the flour trade was the increased demand that de-veloped from United Kingdom buyers for spring wheat grades and as the prices bid were low, some round lots were made for May-June shipment. Engage-ments of some freight space for May loading here have been made to some ports at twenty cents per hundred pounds and to others at twenty one cents per hundred pound, the winter wheat market was quiet and prices were un-changed. The demand for mil-feed continues good and prices were well maintained. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was firm with a fair trade. The egg market was fairly active and firm the butter and cheese market were without any special feature to note.

Says Free State

preferred not to deal.
On the question of taxation, the Minister declined to compare the conditions with the Free State, but he thought taxation was about the same.

CREDITOR NATION
He pointed out that actually the Free State is a creditor nation. The Government had adopted an extremely conservative financial policy, and during years when they might have been justified in borrowing money current expenditure had been paid out of increased taxation. The rebellion cost the State a great deal. By the agreement with Great Britain regarding Ulster it had been possible to reduce the standing army of 55,000 by 5,000. Indicating stability, he said that in 1923 a loan of fifty million dollars at five per cent was issued at 95, present quotation of which is 99. This was an internal loan.
Investment abroad, in British Government securities, industrial securities, American rails, rubber, etc., amounted to a billion dollars, which gave the people of the State an income of $55,000,000 a year in interest. There was no external debt, and the internal indebtedness was from sixty-five to seventy million dollars, or sixty per cent of one year's revenue, not including the land annuities.

LANDLORDISM GONE

The question as to export trade Mr. Smiddy pointed out that 1923 and 1924 were bad years climatic-ally, but he believed the country was on the threshold of a healthy economic development.
"The last vestige of landlordism have been removed from the Free State," said the minister. "And the annuities from the land are from twenty-five to thirty per cent, less than the former rents."
The fact that butter could not be exported now without Government inspection, that all eggs have to be graded, would increase the de-mand for these products and benefit the farmer. The strain of dairy cattle was being greatly improved. The Free State cattle produced only four hundred gallons annually per animal as against the Danish cow's 700 to 800 gallons. If this produc-tion were duplicated the addition-al milk would mean $35,000,000 extra income to the farmers.

NEW CURRENCY
On the question of currency, a commission is sitting to deal with the matter. British notes, Treasury certificates and gold are legal tender, and this will continue. The Free State will, however introduce a new Bank Act to improve the monetary system, and also as an evidence of the sovereignty of the State. The State will also mark their own token currency. They reckoned the profit arising from this to be six hundred thousand pounds.

The bulk of exports being agricul-tural, the Government had tried to build up industries for which they had the raw material, such as woollens, candles, soap, furniture, etc., so as to bring about a better balance in the productivity of the country. They had therefore im-posed a protective duty of from 15 to 33 1-3 per cent, ad valorem giving preferences to Great Britain and the Dominions.
NATIONAL HYDRO
He told how the River Shannon was being harnessed for a national Hydro-electric generating system which will supply current to every village and town of 550 and over population. He estimated the cost of power generation at three-quar-ters of a cent per kilowatt hour. This does not include distribution charges. The Government is deter-mined to retain production of pow-er in its own hands but the matter of distribut on had yet to be de-termined. He pointed out that Nor-way, Sweden and other countries preferred to place distribution in private hands. He is giving some study to the operation of the On-tario system.
Explaining why Germans secured the contract for building the gen-erating power plants on the Shan-non river, he said they were the first to endorse the power scheme in connection with that river, after eminent engineers from Britain had said the scheme was not fea-sible. The Siemens of Germany sur-veyed the river, made elaborate de-tailed plans, and proposed that the Free State should submit their findings to any sources. If any re-putable engineer found their con-clusions in error, they would in-cure the cost of the survey, but if accepted they would ask for ten thousand pounds. The plans were flawless.
Asked if the Government was compensating the loyalists whose property was destroyed in the re-bellion, he answered in the affirma-tive, and added that to the amount granted by the commission the Government was adding 10 per cent in each case.
