DAILY SELECTIONS FOR GUARDIAN READERS

Furnished by W.S. Louson

APPRECIATION

For lack of appreciation many a fine spirit has fainted by the way, many a loving heart has shut itself up in loneliness, many an inspiring soul has fallen short of success. A man does a piece of work in the home or the church, or the community, and he does it with all the earnestness of skill of which he is capable and he feels he has done it well, and yet not one word of encouragement comes to him. His enthusiasm is chilled, and he says: "What's the use of excelling if nobody cares?" There is nothing so pathetic in life as to see men women, and children every day hungering and thirsting with the deepest direct longing, while all around are those wo could satisfy the yearning if only they would let fall a few gracious, kindly words.

Build a little fence of trust
Around today:
Fill the space with loving work
And therein stay;
Look not between the shelt'ring bars
Upon tomorrow,
God will bless what comes to thee
Of joy or sorrow.

HAVE HOPE OF CURING GENERAL PARALYSIS

A Paris dispatch says: Dr. Levaditi of the Pasteur Institute and Dr. Marie, head of the Villejuif Asylum, have made experiments which, they announced, give reasonable hope of being able to find a cure for general paralysis.

The treatment consists in the application of salvarsan to the brain, as spinal injections have failed. Dr. Ehrlich's compound is not used directly but in the form of a serum obtained from rabbits' blood after injection of the maximum heated for three-quarters of an hour at a temperature of 55 degrees centrigrade. The microbe destroying power of the serum thus obtained was recently shown by Dr. Ellis and Dr. Swift, both Americans.

Two patients of these physicians were treated in this manner on December 1. Two small openings were made a little in front of the temples of the patient. Two injections of five cubic centimetres of the serum were given, the needle being directed under the dura mater or outer envelope of the brain, so as to bathe the brain with the serum.

Both were advanced cases of general paralysis. The injections were followed by convulsive reactions lasting three and five days respectively. There was such a striking improvement in the patients that four others were subjected to similar treatment.

ANOTHER SPLENDID FOX BUSINESS

The Hygrade Black Foxes Limited. Exceptional Opportunities for Investment

The Hygrade Black Foxes Limited, just organized with a capital of $270,000, is another of the recent additions to the fox industry, application for letters patent having just been made.

Business capacity and reliable stock and the two chief corner stones in any enterprise and these two corners have been securely laid at the outset, by the Hygrade Black Foxes Limited.

The President of the Company is Mr. James Paton, one of Charlottetown's most successful merchants and as ex-Mayor of the City. Under his personal supervision a small beginning grew to the magnificent merchantile establishment now known as James Paton and Co., one of the largest and most successful business establishments in the Maritime Provinces. He considers the Hygrade Black Foxes proposition a good, safe place for his money and he has invested in it. This is one assurance of the bona fides of the Hygrade. He is President of the company and will give it his personal supetvision; this is another assurance.

He has associated with him, as Vice-President, Mr. L. E. Prowse, a gentleman whose success in business is equal to his own, a member of the well-known firm of Prowse Brothers Limited—a mercantile house which has few equals in the Maritime Provinces—and an ex-M. P., for Queen's County, in the Federal Parliament. He, also will give the business of the Hygrade Black Foxes Limited., his personal attention. This is another assurance.

The company has purchased from the Charles Dalton Silver Black Fox Co, Limited., the first fifteen pairs of young 1914 foxes, sold by them this year. It is well-known that the word, Dalton, used as an adjective to qualify fox, places the fox in a class by itself, and that the highest class in the world. This is another assurance.

Associated with the President and Vice-President in the provisional directorship are Messrs A. B. Warburton, K. C., Charlottetown, ex-Premier of P. E. Island; G. C. Acorn, Advertising Manager for Prowse Brothers Limited; L. L. Harrison, M. D., Halifax and J. A. Webster, Charlottetown—all names to conjure with in any undertaking.

The advertisement of this company, which appears in this issue gives a full prospectus of the business, Which the prospective investor will find it to his advantage to read carefully. It offers a splendid opportunity to get into the fox business.

OPERA CLOAKS.

Though the majority of the new opera cloaks are no longer trimmed with fur, some exquisite models are still being shown with deep collars and cuffs of fox or sable, but the wintry effect is much modified by large tulle ruches or flounces laid on the top of the peltry and so arranged that they form a complete veiling. A wonderful creation has just been seen fashioned of amber and red stamped velvet with a huge collar of red fox.

Don't Hawk, Spit, Sneeze, Cure Yourself! Breathe "Catarrhozone"

GIVES INSTANT RELIEFS, CLEARS NOSE, THROAT AND ALL BREATHING ORGANS

In this fickle climate, repeated colds very easily drift into Catarrh.

The natural tendency of Catarrh is to extend through the system in every direction.

Exposure to cold or dampness intensifies the trouble and nasal catarrh is the result.

Unless a complete cure is effected, inflammation passes rapidly to the throat, bronchial tubes and then to the lungs.

You can't make new lungs—hence Consumption is practically incurable.

But Catarrh can be cured, except in its final and always fatal stage.

Catarrh sufferers, meaning those with colds, sore throat, bronchial trouble, etc. can all be cured right at home by inhaling "Catarrhozone."

In using Catarrhozone you don't take medicine into the stomach—you just breathe a healing piney vapor direct to the lungs and air passages.

The purest balsams and the greatest antiseptics are thus sent to every spot where catarrhal trouble exists, germs are killed, foul secretions are destroyed nature is given a chance and cure comes quickly.

Colds and throat troubles can't last if the pure healing vapor of Catarrhozone is breathed,—sneezing and coughing cease at once, because irritation is removed.

Use Catarrhozone to prevent—use it to cure your winter ills. It's pleasant safe and guaranteed in every case. Complete outfit $1.00. Smaller size 50c., at all dealers.

It was not the intention of Major Ings to return until June when he purposed coming with Mrs. Ings and family to the Island from Switzerland where they have been in residence for some time; but the unexpected death of Captain Richards, President of the Charlottetown Steam Navigation Co., necessitated his presence as Vice-President of that company, and in response to a cablegram he came at once.

Hewitt, of Lower Montague, on Wednesday last when their only daughter, Miss Lillian, was given in marriage to Mr. Charles Batt, of Charlottetown youngest son of Capt. W. H. and Mrs. Batt. At 8.30 the bride, charmingly arrayed in a gown of white silk with veil and orange blossoms and carrying a bouquet, entered the parlor on the arm of her father, who gave her away. She was unattended As she entered the room, beautifully decorated with green trailing vines, Miss Hazel Aitken played a wedding march. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Hubley, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends, some of them from Charlottetown, the guests were served with a dainty wedding dinner by the bride's mother, and the usual charvari was tendered the popular young people. On Thursday morning Mr and Mrs. Batt left by the first train for Charlottetown, where they will reside for the winter. Coming away the bride wore a tailored suit in dark blue, with hat to match. The many beautiful wedding presents received are an eloquent testimony to the popularity of the young couple. The Guardian tenders congratulations.

THE PEOPLE'S THEATRE.—The five reels of pictures shown to the large houses at the People's Theatre last evening were of excellent choice. The "Pathe Weekly" contained all the events of recent date worth while remembering. "Her Wooden Leg," a farce comedy, was worth seeing just for the good of the laugh, "On the Dumb Waiter," was just as screamingly funny. The audience evidently enjoyed both by the sound of mirth that was heard throughout the hall. "The Flames in the Ashes," a story in two reels of military life in the west was a splendid thing, thoroughly entertaining, and "Spartan Father," a Thanhouser drama, was excellent. This afternoon there will be a matinee, and change of program.

THE PRINCE EDWARD.—Owing to the late arrival of the Earl Grey it was about eight o'clock before the theatre could put a new program before their patrons. It was certainly worth waiting for and composed the following subjects "The Stolen Legacy" which is an intensely dramatic and highly sensational story, illustrating the old adage that "ill gotten gains bring no lasting happiness. The British animated weekly contained a budget of interesting things. The Funeral of the Late Lord Strathcona at Westminster, Latest Paris Fashions, etc. Comedy was well represented. "Diana's Dress Reform" was a scream, as also was "Training Terrible Ted," and another one "Antidote for Suicide." "The Magic Melody" was a heart stirring drama, showing how the power of music soothes the savage beast. Mr. Cairns and Miss Gardiner were as usual enthusiastically received. The above comprises a very strong program that should on no account be missed tonight.

OUR JOURNEY HOMEWARD

As we journey through the desert,
We must not take up our rest,
But press onward, looking upward
Till we reach the land that's blest.

If our lives sometimes be tearful,
And the sky o'er head is gray,
There is one who can us comfort,
As we tread the narrow way.

One whose mercy never faileth,
'Tis from Him all blessings flow,
And when He doth trouble send us,
'Tis that we His love might know.

And that we might look unto Him,
For in Him there's strength and power,
If we trust Him He will cheer us,
Help and strengthen us each hour.

Lord we know that thou art mighty,
The world was framed at Thy command
And the waters Thou dost measure
In the hollow of Thine hand.

Yet Thy children poor and needy
Thou dost make Thy special care,
Thou dost condescend to bless them,
When they bow in humble prayer.

We can feel that Thou art near us,
Ever present to sustain,
Oh that faith to us be given,
That our love may never wane.

But that we as little children,
May upon Thee cast our care,
For Thou in Thy word hast promised
That Thou wilt our burden bear.

We will therefore lean upon Thee,
And to Thee our will resign,
Oh 'tis sweet to rest contented,
And to know no will but Thine.

—Ella McNeill.

SILVER THAT WILL NOT TARNISH

Two new alloys that are in many respects remarkable are described by the American Machinist. One, called argental, and produced by the inventor of the McAdamite alloy, is a compound of silver and aluminum. It has been put out to compete with silver, over which many superiorities are claimed for it, for industrial purposes. It can be cast, rolled, spun, drawn into wire, takes a good polish and has greater strength than either aluminum or silver. It resembles silver in appearance, is not affected by nitric acid and does not tarnish on exposure to the air. Its specific gravity is only one-third that of silver.

The other alloy is a blend of cobalt and tin of about 40 to 60. This is said by the official chemist of the American Institute of Metals to be especially resistant to acids, but owing to its brittleness it has little commercial value. Experiments, however, tend to show that when this is mixed with other metals, such as copper, for instance, it produces a series of alloys which may be turned, forged and machined and have a high degree of chemical resistance.

MUSICAL WIRELESS

The Italian engineer, Signor Morretti, claims to have invented a wireless apparatus by which two or more messages can be transmitted simultaneously.

The main advantage claimed for the new system is that two or three messages could be sent simultaneously at little more than the ordinary cost of one.

When a message is to be sent the operator taps his telegraph key, and this liberates compressed air, which passes through a reed pipe, causing it to emit a musical note. Receiving telephones have been made which will only respond to one particular note.

When two messages are to be sent simultaneously two operators' keys operate different reed pipes, and thus messages in two distinct musical notes are transmitted, each being detected by the telephone receiver in tune with it.

ODDS AND ENDS

A teacher told little Johnnie that the word "ferment" means "to work." Later in the day she asked the class to write a sentence containing the word "ferment" correctly used. Johnny wrote, "I would much rather play out of doors all day then ferment in school."

Lady (to applicant): "Yes, I advertised for a maid-of-all-work. Are you an early riser?"

Applicant: "Indade, an' Oi am, mum. At me last place I was up an' had breakfast ready an' all the beds in the house made afore anybody else in the house was up, mum."

Mother—"Now, Willie, you told me a falsehood. Do you know what happens to little boys who tell falsehood. Do you know what happens to little boys who tell falsehoods?" Willie (sheepishly—"No, ma'am." Mother—"Why, a big black man with only one eye in the centre of his forehead comes along and flies with him up to the moon and makes him pick sticks for the balance of his life. Now, you will never tell a falsehood again, will you? It is awfully wicked."

A friend tells the following story of a prudent Scot, or rather of the prudent Scot's wife. They were at sea together—in the literal sense—and had just left the dinner table. There was sufficient roll to produce internal uneasiness, and the husband was seen to be making progress to the side of the vessel; when his wife intervened. "Remeber, John," she said, "you've just had your dinner, and it's paid for." It was not lost.

There were two Browns in the village, both fishermen. One lost his wife and the other his boat at about the same time. The vicar's wife called, as she supposed, on the widower, but really upon the Brown whose boat had gone down. "I'm sorry to hear of your great loss," she said. "Oh, it ain't much matter," was the philosophical reply; "she wasn't up to much." "Indeed," said the surprised lady. "Yes," continued Brown, "she was a rickety old thing. I offered her to my mate, but he wouldn't have her. I've had my eye on another for some time." And then the disgusted lady fled.

The railway carriage was crowded, but a very fat old gentleman who sat by the window calmly ignored the ominous looks of the passengers for taking up so much room.

A boy selling buns poked his head in at the window, and inquired: "Buns, sir?"

The old gentleman was slightly deaf, and not noticing the buns thought the boy wanted a seat in the already packed carriage, so he remarked—

"Full up, my boy." No more room inside."

A roar of laughter followed his reply, and the old gentleman innocently wondered at the cause of their merriment.
