Meanwhile the 19 Seafarers motor pickets have been arrested and boarded the Federal Trader without incident.

Picketing Discontinued Edward Reid, C.S.U. business agent here and one of those arrested, said picketing had been called off for the rest of the day and evening but emphasized the strike was still effective.

His statement was as follows: "Due to the fact that the R.C. M.P. have made legal picketing unsafe in the city of Saint John and are carrying out a policy of a reign of terror against C.S.U. pickets, and in view of the fact that we are six in number and are being picked off for the rest of the day and evening."

"However, the strike as far as the port of Saint John goes is still 100 per cent effective."

Numerous C.S.U. members were treated for cuts and bruises after their arrest.

Forty appeared in the city police court this morning and afternoon on charges of unlawful assembly and intent to disturb the peace. They accepted the Magistrate's jurisdiction and were remanded to May 3 at 3:30 p.m.

The remainder of the 60-odd arrested seamen received similar remands in county court. They were charged with disturbing the peace. These cases resulted from an early morning incident outside the city home when a group of men intercepted the first Seafarers' crew. After some long range rock-throwing, the St. U. members continued to Saint John.

Musical Festival Competitions Open Here On Monday

Charlottetown will be the "Mecca" of Prince Edward Island music lovers next week, as the Fourth Annual Musical Festival begins its competitions with Mr. David Ouchterlony, of Toronto as Adjudicator. For many weeks in hundreds of homes throughout the Island, children have been faithfully practicing their various numbers; schooldays have been rehearsing regularly and instrumentalists and various groups have been taking every opportunity to perfect their selections for presentation before the large audiences which are expected to find their way to the Prince of Wales Auditorium daily.

Summerside has set up a special committee to handle the details in that section, which includes the undertaking of transporting a large number of children and adults. The various committees are all ready to handle their particular jobs efficiently. The Syllabus this year has been considerably enlarged and includes vocal solos, duets, trios, quartets, choruses and various instrumental solos and ensembles, including the harmonica and brass and reed bands. The Festival will reach its climax with a recital of the winners on Friday and Saturday evenings, the winners during the first part of the week being heard on Friday and the remainder on Saturday.

The first classes will be heard Monday morning at nine o'clock, when class No. 44, vocal solo for girls nine and under will compete. "The Winkmaker" by Alec Rowley is the selected number. Also at the morning session will be heard class No. 72, piano solo, nine years and under, the selection being, "Always Merry" by Gurilit. In the afternoon classes No. 74, 32, and 88 will compete. On Monday evening the official opening will take place with Lt. Col. L.T. Lowther presiding, and Mrs. J.T. Davies as Platform Secretary.

Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, representing the Governor J.A. Bernard in the latter's absence from the Province, will declare the festival officially open. There will be brief addresses by Premier J. Walter Jones, Mayor Earle B. MacDonald and the Adjudicator David Ouchterlony. At this session, classes No. 108, 27, 10, 89, 36, 6, and 3 will be heard. These classes will present a particularly interesting program as they include vocal and instrumental music including bands.

The sessions will be held daily at nine a.m., 2:00 and 7:30 p.m. through Monday to Saturday inclusive. Programs are available at Miller Bros. and Toombs' Music Stores in Charlottetown and at Hyndman and Company's office in Summerside. The Provincial Festival has had a phenomenal growth since its inauguration four years ago, and has reached the stage where many more active members are needed to assist in its further development. During the sessions next week, special facilities are being arranged by the Membership Committee to enroll new members. The annual fee is one dollar for the individual and five dollars for groups such as choirs, etc. It is hoped that many may take advantage of membership and so become eligible to vote at Festival Meetings and also to hold office in the Association.

pressed with the originality, platform presence and confidence of the contestants. Their performances showed training and reflected great credit on their respective schools. The contest was sponsored by the School Improvement League, Mrs. W.B. Scantlebury, president.

Claudette MacMillan chose as her subject, "Juvenile Delinquency," which she developed with emphasis. She moved across the stage and added hand movements in an eloquent appeal for more consideration for the young, underprivileged child. Judge Palmer described her performance as that of a natural speaker, wanting to make her point, on a good subject.

Muriel Hurst, runner-up in the Senior competition, gave an interesting and witty talk on "Hats". The speaker, herself hatless, eulogized the psychological effects of a lady's hat, in a well-modulated voice which carried well.

Speaking on "Charles Dickens", Phyllis Clark, West Kent, traced the novelist's life through his early difficulties to eventual success to win the Junior contest. Her enunciation was clear and her delivery forthright. Judge Palmer remarked on her confidence, her natural pose, clear voice and good presentation.

Bessie Connolly, Queen Square, runner-up in the Junior contest, spoke out clearly on the "timely" subject of Newfoundland. Judge Palmer said the judges liked his development of this topical subject.

The other speakers in the Senior contest were William Davey, Queen Square, placed third, and Doris Coady, Rochford Square, fourth. William Davey gave an exposition on the "Government of Canada." The judges liked his subject and felt his talk was well delivered but "short."

"What sort of a person are you going to be when you grow up?" was the subject chosen by Doris Coady. A "pleasing" speaker in general, Doris dwelt mainly on good manners.

In the Junior contest, Patricia Morris, Rochford Square, spoke on "Time" and was placed third. The judges felt that her "expression" was very good but that her slow delivery tended towards formality." Alan Massey, Prince Street, came fourth with a talk on the "Y.M.C.A." A little fast, and perhaps a little more excited than the others," remarked Judge Palmer.

While the judges were arriving at their decisions, the prizes won at the school contest, were presented to the finalists by Mrs. Jack Ready. Donations were collected for these prizes by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Jack Morris, president, from Messrs. Henderson and Oudmore; H.M. Simpson, Morrel & Co., CFOY, and Toombs Music Store.

King's County Conservatives Meet In Charlottetown

A meeting was held in the McLure Building, Kent Street, last night of the executive of the King's County Progressive Conservative Association, at which plans were laid for the forthcoming election campaign. The meeting took place in Charlottetown due to the condition of the roads making it impossible to hold the meeting at a central King's County point.

Those present in addition to Major John A. MacDonald, Progressive Conservative candidate for King's County, included: Andrew MacDonald, president of the King's County Association, Cardigan; Henry Mallard, secretary of the Association, Souris; Frank McFarlane, Murray Harbor; Louis Burge, M.L.A., St. Peter's; John MacLean, M.L.A., Souris; John Beck, Murray River; Murdoch McGowan, Kilmuir; Milton Rogerson, Morrell; Ethan Stewart, Montague; Cameron Reid, Murray Harbor North; N. H. Richards, Souris; H. P. McPhee, K.C., former Progressive Conservative candidate for King's, and A. Walden Gaudet, Progressive Conservative Provincial public relations officer, both of Charlottetown.

The domestic demand for meat has weakened considerably because of high prices. This together with the recent increase in hog shipments has influenced the prices but the demand is still pretty fair. With a more steady shipment of hogs and improved quality a great many of these fluctuations could be eliminated.

Potatoes

The time for shipping seed potatoes is of course, drawing to a close, but there was quite a heavy movement during the past week. The table stock situation is in rather serious condition at the moment.

The Upper Canada markets, especially, are pretty well flooded with table stock. Our major table stock markets are about 10c a bag weaker than at any period since Christmas and the demand is definitely slower. A summary of local prices this week bears this out.

At Elmira there is no table stock moving. Seed Kathadins are 85-88c a bushel with a fair movement.

Cardigan - seed: Cob, 85c; Mts. 75c delivered. Table stock 70c bu. at the car. Very light movement.

Morell reports a very indefinite situation with a downward trend both in seed and table stock.

Vernon River reports light movement of both seed and table stock at 85c and 75c per bu. respectively.

The detailed prices from Charlottetown market show Cob, Found. 80c; F.A. 85c; Cert. 90c; Small 60; Mts. Found. 90c; F.A. 75c; Cert. 70c; Small 45c Kat. Found. 1.00; F.A. Small and Small 85c; Seb. Found. 75-80c; F.A. Cert. and smalls 70c. There was a fairly heavy movement of seed last week but the demand is gradually weakening.

Table stock 80-85c per bag. Prices delivered at car. At Hunter River and Whitehorse seed prices are ranging around 85c per bu. with Foundation around 95c at the car with little or no table stock in demand.

Borden Line - Cert. 1.25 cwt.; F.A. 1.40; Found. 1.00 bushel; with Found. Kat. $1.10 at the farm. Table stock 80c a bag with a slow movement last week.

Summerdale: Seed Cob, 80-85c; smalls 60c; Seb. 75-80c. No. Mts. or Kat. moving. Table stock 80-85c per bag delivered, with a fair movement of table stock in peck containers.

O'Leary: Seed 75-80c per bu. at car. Table stock 70c per bu. Slow movement.

Tignish: Found. 95c a bus. and Cert. 1.28 cwt. at the car. Seed moving steadily with table stock slow.

Turnips are selling at 32 to 35c bu. in the Charlottetown area. Movement is light but quality is holding up well.

Imagination and Reality

How can we distinguish between what is imagination and what is reality in the field of religion? By going directly to the writings of the Prophets, and reading with simplicity and the desire to understand what is there written, we have the only criterion. While reading we do not need a clear understanding of each word, but try to see the whole picture and grasp the essential message. From those parts which are perfectly clear to us we then see the drift of the entire work.

If we could take the time to read the source writings of all the great religions of the world in this way, such as the Old Testament, the Gospels, the Koran, to name a few, we would be astonished at their similarity, no identity in the essential part of their message. For, after all, how can truth contradict truth? Once more we have a re-statement of the great religious truths, and an application of these truths for to-day's world, in the Bahai' World Faith. We need no longer be perplexed between what is imagination and what is reality in religion. The writings of Bahai'ullah present the clear Reality, in all its ageless beauty, for all who seek it.

regarding the feeding of raw potatoes to livestock. A special leaflet has been printed with information of this kind and is available on request to the Department. However, to summarize briefly the recommendations, here are some of the precautions. Don't feed potatoes that have been frozen or that have gone bad. Avoid feeding sprouts to cattle. Feed lightly at first and gradually increase the quantity as the animals get used to the new feed. Some times it's necessary at first to pulp or chop the potatoes at a preventive to choking in cattle.

To avoid tainting the milk, feed potatoes immediately after milking. And, finally, do not over-feed. Experience has shown that most farm animals will thrive on a diet which contains a fair portion of potatoes. They will take the place of part of the grain in a hog ration or may replace silage or other roots when fed to cattle. Cooking increases the feeding value, particularly with pigs.

Potatoes contain about twice as much dry matter as do mangels and turnips and have about the same feed value as corn silage. They are low in protein and diets containing potatoes will need to be balanced with some high-protein feed. In general, 100 lbs. of potatoes will replace from 15 to 22 lbs. of grain, depending, of course, on the animal and the ration.

Experiments with feeding potatoes to pigs show that 100 lbs. of raw potatoes are equivalent in feed value to 17 lbs. of barley. The same quantity of raw potatoes when cooked is equal to 22 lbs. of barley.

With dairy cattle potatoes will serve as a substitute for mangels, 20 lbs. of pulped potatoes equals about 40 lbs. of pulped mangels. For beef cattle on a diet of hay and grain, potatoes may be used to replace the silage and can be fed up to a limit of 20-25 lbs. per head without ill effects.

Experiments have shown that at this rate 100 lbs. of potatoes equal the feeding value of 14 lbs. of barley.

Some sample rations are: Feed two pounds raw potatoes and 14 pounds legume or mixed hay for each 100 pounds live weight, along with one pound meal mixture for each 2-4 pounds of milk produce daily. Mixed hay eight pounds, raw potatoes 22 pounds, grain mixture eight pounds, daily for fattening yearlings of about 900 pounds weight. For pigs of 100 lb. weight, four pounds meal mixture with four pounds of boiled potatoes. For hogs in the finishing stage (125-200 lb.) increase amounts of both grain and potatoes.

Eggs and Poultry There is very little change to report in the egg and poultry market on the Island this week. Poultry receipts are practically nil. Egg production continues on the increase and consumer demand is good for high grade eggs. Quality is good and supplies are moving to other Maritime points, Newfoundland and Montreal. Any surplus is being placed in storage for fall delivery to Great Britain.

Operators are quoting producers for ungraded eggs at grading stations: A Large 36-38c; A Med. 34-36c; A Pullet 27-30c; B's 30-31c; C's 24-26c. Wholesale prices f.o.b. Grading Stations are reported as: A Large 45c; A Med. 41c; and for the regular pack: A Large 42c; A Med. 40c; A Pullets 34c; B's 35c; C's 30c.

Wholesale to retail prices: Large in cartons 52-55c. That is a retail spread of from 6-8c a dozen on A Large eggs. B loose are selling to consumers at for 47c. Also slightly out of proportion from the consumer standpoint.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP (Continued from Page 1) E. MacVicar, who in her address as retiring president reported a year of marked progress in increased membership and finances. Visits to the Maritime veterans at the Military Hospital, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, were made regularly every two weeks throughout the year, it was reported. Mrs. A. J. Moore and her committee consisting of Mrs. R. P. Freeman, Mrs. R. J. Russell, Mrs. Muriel Peardon and Mrs. L. J. Salter, were granted the sum of $500 for distribution of cigarettes, candy, magazines and comforts to the patients. At the Christmas meeting members presented gifts to be included in the 88 boxes packed at that time for these men. 640 individual calls were made since this committee was formed, so that one can see at a glance that these Maritime men are not neglected in so far as the Maritime Women's Club is concerned.

There are at present 27 men from New Brunswick, 21 from Nova Scotia, four from Prince Edward Island and four from Newfoundland receiving treatment. It was announced by Mrs. A. J. Boyd that boxes at a total cost of $225 were sent on several occasions to ten needy families in Britain.

The treasurer's report showed gross receipts of over $3,100. During the year donations were made to the Canadian Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A. Building Fund Campaign, the Montreal General Hospital, the Children's Memorial Hospital, the Montreal Girls' Association and the Canadian Girl Guides.

A life membership was presented to Miss G. V. Beers, a charter member, and honorary memberships to Miss Bertha Rogers, now residing in the Maritimes, and to Miss Kathleen Phair, who is returning from active membership due to ill health.

Presentations were made to Mrs. H. T. Mitchell, retiring convener of the Ways and Means Committee, and to Miss E. Atkinson, retiring as past secretary, for their long and faithful service on the board of directors.
