HIGH LINERS EXHIBITION WEEK

Charlottetown, August 19-23

KARL MANELLO & COMPANY

This combination consists of a talented young lady of charms and ability whose remarkable feats of head and hand balancing have been the talk of the acrobatic world. Assisting her is the versatile Karl Manello, whose quality and technique indicates that the heights of artistry has been attained. The antics of this pair while balanced on the end of a high revolving ladder will send thrills up and down the spine of the most cold-blooded spectator. Their performance has been popular in every country in which it has been shown and hundreds of testimonials to their ability have been given.

Do not fail to see Karl Manello & Company in the finale of this act, the performers rendering popular tunes by means of musical bells attached to their hands and feet, while balancing themselves "Up-Side-Down."

THE HONEY TROUPE

This is one of the greatest attractions that has been imported to America in the past ten years and ran premier at leading play houses in New York City, and was later centre ring attraction at the Madison Square Gardens, New York, where it earned the sobriquet of "World's Greatest Somersaultists." Most of the difficult tricks are accomplished by ladies who surpass some of the great male artists in this specialty.

The Honey Troupe is booked for some of the biggest fairs in America this year and only the early date of our Provincial Exhibition makes it possible to secure this wonderful troupe.

In addition to the above there will be the famous FLORENZ TRIO, the Unique European act that never fails to satisfy the most exacting spectators. Florenz is one of the world's most ridiculous clowns, here, there and everywhere. Children go wild over his antics and never fail to applaud this versatile man. He is assisted by lady partners who worthily back up his burlesque efforts. This act is one you will be delighted with.

The above program of three acts is the largest and best vaudeville attractions ever given at our Provincial Exhibition. This, together with the horse racing, band music and other features will certainly keep the spectators interested from the time the starter's bell taps until the final heat is raced each afternoon.

They're Li'l But—Oh, My!

By QUIN HALL

While the expansive ballyhoo seems to be pretty well bottled up and saved until such time as the world's heavyweight fight championship is concerned, there are a lot of little fistcutters who deserve more than a slap on the back. These little fellows are usually much more active in the business of break-busting than the heavyweights, but they fail to get the breaks when it comes to much publicity. Ever since John L. Sullivan first pulled on a fighting mitten it seems that most of the interest has been centered around the big fellows. And yet, in many cases, the really smart boxing is only to be found in the lighter divisions. Gene Tunney was a great boxer, but of the present crop of heavyweights—and there is a goodly supply—you could count the real boxers on the fingers of your right hand and have some digits left over. They are mostly maulers, while the boxers are to be found among the little fellows—and plenty of the latter also have dynamite in their paws. Glancing over these pint-size battlers, it is interesting to note that, finally, a real Indian may be listed among the fistic champions. While the red men have made good in other branches of sport, there has been a scarcity of them in the fight game. Now Pete Nebo, a featherweight Seminole, seems to be headed in the general direction of a title. Nebo may be stopped before he reaches the peak, but he looks capable of going all the way. Ignacio Fernandez may cause him trouble. That little Filipino is a ripreporter. It was this dusky-skinned warrior who cracked Al Singer on the chin recently and knocked him out of the picture, at least for a moment. Then there is Spider Pladner, the newly crowned French flyweight champ, who took two pokes at Frankie Genaro, the N. B. A. champ, recently in a Paris ring and put him to slumberland after he had soundly whipped Izzy Schwartz, the N. Y. State Boxing Commission's titleholder, in the same city a few months prior to the Genaro engagement. For lack of good competition Pladner announced that he will mingle with the bantamweights. An unknown punched the Spider into a hospital in Paris the other evening.... a terrific upset! These little fellows are plentiful and dangerous. You don't need a load of dynamite to blow up a building, but the fans still seem to prefer the beefy ones.

Capt. Leggett Races Fastest Three Heats to Date On N. B. Circuit

Closing Day At Border Town Proves Highly Interesting To Spectators—Move Being Made To Fredericton For Next Week.

ST. STEPHEN, July 19.—Capt. Leggett, 2.07, the picture pacer, by feature event of the closing day at St. Stephen's midsummer race meeting. The fastest three heats this afternoon that have been raced on the Maine and New Brunswick circuit this season and the second was a fraction faster. 2.08½, with Capt. Leggett coasting in under wraps and apparently able to have beaten the track record of 2.07½ had the driver, Will H. Keys, wanted to have him do it. The last quarter was in 33½ seconds and maybe a couple of seconds would have been clipped of this had Capt. Leggett been forced, as he had lots of reserve. Forcing Capt. Leggett to race the three fastest heats of the season was Bob Seymour, 2.05½, the star pacer of the stable of Walter T. Bird, of Revere, Mass. Backed to the limit by the Massachusetts delegation, he fell short of expectations in his first down east appearance, as Capt. Leggett raced ahead all the time and shook off all opposition whenever challenged. Floyd Direct, owned by Walter Carmichael, of Presque Isle, was the best of the two Aroostook pacers in the race. He finished back of the race. He finished back of the distance flag with a broken hopple in the first heat but was placed by the judges when Driver Willard claimed interference by Driver Myer on the first turn had caused the break in the horse's rigging. Driver Keys pleased his home town admirers by repeating his double victory of last week at Woodstock, winning the 2.18 pace with Eula H., the little roan pacer owned by Mrs. Wathan. It was therefore very much of a Wathan family day and Eula H.'s performance also was outstanding, her second heat in 2.09½ being the first time she had been called upon to beat 2.10 in a race. She finished with lots of reserve. Mary Volo was the contender in each heat and paced better than she had previously performed this season. In the third heat interference with Mary Volo on the first turn was claimed, but no action was taken by the judges as the difficulty appeared to be caused by Driver Gerow attempting to slip behind Eula H. only to find Driver Keys pulling up, which forced Gerow to pull Mary Volo towards the outside of the track, where Driver Willard was cutting in to the pole trying to rush Warren the Great into the lead. Peter Pokey, a trotter by Capt. Aubrey that is owned by F. O. Simonson, of Limestone, Me., won the named race which brought trotters and pacers together in the first mixed race of the season. Peter Pokey made a disastrous break and dropped the first heat to Peter J. K., single Peter pacer in the stable of Thomas J. Kelley, of Bangor, but in the next two heats Peter Pokey trotted all the time without a break and the pacers couldn't reach him. Peter Pokey is a Nova Scotia bred trotter, having been bred by H. T. Fulton, of Upper Sackville, N. S., from whom Gwendolyn Aubrey, 2.09½ was purchased by Mr. Simonson, who recently sold Devilset, the Prince Edward Island trotter for $3,500.

The largest crowd of the circuit season since the opening at Houlton on July 4, watched the racing which was again spirited, marked by close finishes and Starter F. D. J. Graham again won praise for his satisfactory work. The racing was all on the three heat plan, and the summary follows:

Firemen Arrived Home Last Night

The Charlottetown Firemen and the citizens of Moncton in general, who could not do enough for the visiting fire-fighters. Chief Ranaghan, interviewed by the Guardian last night, could not say enough with regard to the success of the big tournament. He stated that accommodations were a hundred percent, every member of the Brigade being looked after in "apple-pie order", and the only regret was that the Tournament ended all too soon. They also speak in glowing terms of Legion Band arrived home last night by the late Borden train and proceeded from the depot to the Fire Station, where hundreds of citizens welcomed them from their trip to Moncton where the 1929 Firemen's Tournament was held. The boys, although not figuring so prominently in the sports this year as by no means down-hearted and unanimously speak in glowing terms of the kindness and courtesy extended them by their Moncton brethren.
