A Boy Scout Troop is being organized among the boy bed patients of the Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal.

British Rover Scouts have been invited to participate in a National Rover Camp of the Eclaireurs de France near Grenoble in August.

Conventionally, being a Boy Scout, when John Mollers of Chicago found $1,1000 worth of negotiable bonds in the street, he returned them to their owner, Mrs. Gertrude Morrow, and declined a reward.

As anticipated, one of the early acts of Hitler in assuming control of Austria was to disband and prohibit the Austrian Boy Scouts Association, the Oesterreichischer Pfadfinderbund. In the past Austrian Boy Scouts and leaders have figured prominently in international Scout gatherings.

The vigilance of some 30 Yarmouth, N. S., Boy Scouts assigned by the police to patrol tobogganing and sledding on various hills of the city during a spring icy spell, was credited by Chief of Police Bain with averting at least two accidents. One watchful Scout leaped on a sled and turned it from the path of a rapidly approaching motorcar, and another prevented a sleigh from running into a train at a railroad crossing.

In a newspaper interview regarding the value of such organizations as the Boy Scouts, J. Edgar Hoover, Chief of the famous "G" Men of the U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation, described the case of a gang of boys which was at one time a source of trouble in Topeka, Kansas. The boys finally were organized into a Scout Troop, —all but one, who "wouldn't be a sissy." The fourteen boys who became Scouts grew up to be useful and respected citizens, declared Mr. Hoover. "The youth who refused to join was Alvin Karpis, who became American Public Enemy No. 1, and now is serving a life term in Alcatraz penitentiary for his part in a kidnapping."

One section of the Raymond, Alta., volunteer fire brigade is composed of Boy Scouts.

Nearly 150 English Boy Scouts toured Scotland by special train during the Easter school holidays.

Boy Scouts of the British Isles are keeping pace with the National Fitness Campaign. During 1937, 5,841 qualified for the Scout Athletic's Proficiency Badge, 2,218 for Master-at-Arms, 1,218 as Oarsmen and 2,629 earned the Healthyman Badge.

"Scouting disappeared in Germany, Italy and Russia because there was no room in its programme for narrow doctrines of racial discrimination or national superiority."—Evan C. McCormick, addressing the Montreal Junior Board of Trade.

The Mauch twins, of screen fame, are active Boy Scouts, and especially keen on first aid. For weeks they hopefully carried first aid kits in their car, and finally the desired opportunity came to do real first aid work when two cars near them crashed head-on. They ran to the scene, and had used up all of their bandages on the victims before the ambulance arrived. The victims only later discovered that the eager Scout first aiders were two young movie stars.

Ooi Pong Guan was a Boy Scout in the 2nd. Anglo Chinese School Troop of Penang, Malaya. In 1924 he contracted leprosy, and was sent to the Government Leper Asylum on Jerejak Island. Instead of moping over his misfortune, Guan organized a Scout troop of boys of the leper settlement, obtaining assistance from his brother Scouts in Penang in the form of old uniforms and equipment, and some footballs. Today Scoutmaster Ooi Peng Guan is still carrying on, although cured, preferring to remain with his boys of the leper settlement troop, and working as a Government Dresser—a Scout missionary.

SPRING SUNSHINE SHOWS UP BLEMISHES

Early spring sunshine is unkind tocomplexions, and readers are writing about dry skins and complexion troubles.

Skin dryness leads to wrinkles, so it should not be neglected. Luckily, it is not hard to cure.

The trouble is that high winds dry up the natural oil in the skin, and this must be replaced. Cold cream used generously each night will nourish your skin and replace the used-up natural oils. During the day, be sure to use a non-drying foundation under your powder. Not only will it prevent powder from being blown off, but it will protect the skin itself. Cold sore on the lip is another bother that attacks people at this time of the year. Its proper medical name is herpes.

It often starts with a little irritation and ends by being an unsightly and painful affair.

Never put grease on it—keep it perfectly dry, and if you have no better remedy by you when you first feel it coming, dab on boracic powder, or even clean face powder (a clean puff or cotton wool please!) Calamine lotion is also good as it quickly clears up these little nuisances.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT—An occupant of a car from the city sustained a broken collar bone Sunday night when the car he was driving overturned at Pleasant Valley. It is understood he headed the car for a bank of snow when it had a flat tire, thinking the snow was soft. It was hard, and the impact turned the car over.

PASSENGER SCHEDULES CANCELLED — Passenger schedules on the Charlottetown - Summerside - Moncton service have been cancelled for a few days because of the condition of fields at airports, officials of Canadian Airways announced yesterday. Frost coming out of ground left fields very muddy and the use of the heavy twin-motored Dragon was discontinued Saturday and the lighter single engined Stearman used to carry mail. Airmen believed regular schedules would be resumed within a few days.

DEPARTURE REGRETTED—During the session of the Baptist Junior Brotherhood Sunday afternoon, regret was expressed at the coming departure of Mr. Ray Chapman who is taking up residence in Moncton, N. B. Mr. Chapman has been a valuable worker in the Brotherhood being at all times ready and willing to assist in the activities of the class. Rev. H. L. Denton on behalf of the class presented Mr. Chapman with a copy of Bremner's "Tales of Abegweit."

Pope Pius Sends Apostolic Blessing To General Franco

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

VATICAN CITY, April 18 — A telegram in which Pope Pius sent the Apostolic blessing to Spanish Insurgent General Franco was published today in L'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

The Holy Father's message was a reply to a telegram in which the Insurgent Leader conveyed "renewed pledges of loyalty" on the occasion of the formal cannonization of a new Spanish saint.

The Pope yesterday in St. Peter's recognized three new saints, among whom was Salvador da Horta, born in 1520 in Catalonia and who died in 1609 in Sardinia.

His reply to Franco follows:—

"Happy to see vibrating in Your Excellency's message the hereditary faith of Catholic Spain, whose crown of saints has been enriched for its better fortunes by a new hero of Christian fortitude, we send from our hearts the Apostolic blessing propitiator of divine favors."

Franco's message said:—

"Upon the canonization of the Franciscan Missionary Salvador da Horta, who in life united the supreme ideal of faith with Apostolic virtues to a heroic degree, I desire to send to Your Holiness, with the gratitude of the Spanish people for this canonization of symbolic values at the present hour when we climb together to the peak of our purest aspirations in struggle and sacrifice, the renewed pledges of loyalty to Your Holiness both from Spain and myself."

the 60-mile front in southern Shantung.

At Lini, 30 miles northeast of Suchow, the opposing armies were locked in a crucial battle, precipitated when fresh Japanese troops launched an attack on the defence lines built by the thousands of Chinese who have marched into the Lini sector in the past few days.

Foreign observers predicted this battle might develop into the biggest conflict of the nine-months-old war, since Lini is the first major objective in the path of the new Japanese advance down the eastern Shantung coast.

Seventy miles to the west, Japanese garrisons at Yihsien and Tsaochwang were encircled and cut off from their bases to the north, Chinese advices said.

Meanwhile, Japanese reports stated 1,700 Chinese troops, travelling in 70 junks, landed on the north shore of the Yangtse River almost opposite Nanking and were attacked from the air. A Japanese Army spokesman said he "had no idea" where the Chinese came from.

TO REMOVE INK STAIN

Mix together equal parts cream of tartar and citric acid powdered —this makes the salts of lemon so commonly known. Lay the stained cloth over a dinner plate, moisten the stain with hot water; rub in the powder with the back of the bowl of a spoon until stain disappears. Rinse in clean water and dry. Repeat if first treatment is not completely successful. This may move the ecru lace paler but will not remove the color.

Provision In Transport Bill Objected To

Strong Resolution Of Protest From P. E. I. Wholesalers.

At a recent meeting of the Wholesale Grocers Association of Prince Edward Island, held in Charlottetown, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"Whereas: The Canadian National Railways, in cancelling the tariff in force for years whereby this province on the 15th of April in each year automatically received water competitive rates on rail movement of freight from Ontario and Quebec, has shown quite clearly if proof was needed that the proposed Transport Bill No. 31, now before the Federal Parliament, is to be used in such a way that the preferred position we previously enjoyed by virtue of our good harbors and easy access for marine shipping is to be destroyed.

"And Whereas: In the past a very considerable percentage of our imports reached us by water from points in Ontario and Quebec and at rates of freight much more reasonable than rail rates, thus permitting to some extent a selling price more in line with prices elsewhere than would otherwise be possible.

"And Whereas: The regulation of rates as proposed will of necessity result in higher charges, otherwise what is the purpose of the regulations.

"And Whereas: Higher charges and restricting regulations must of necessity hamper free movement by water such as is now our privilege, and must result in the gradual elimination of our inward movement, resulting in the elimination of our waterfront activities, and the forcing into disuse of the facilities now being maintained and so essential to the port unless our potato movements are also to be forced to move by rail to other centres.

"And Whereas: This province with its complete absence of interprovincial motor truck competition is surely entitled to retain the provision nature has given us in our splendid harbors.

"And Whereas: This province has never profitted or participated in the advantages given the other provinces in duplicated railway service so largely responsible for the present unsatisfactory position of the Dominion's financial position. Nor in the canal systems provided free to central Canadian shipping, and the cost of which with the annual upkeep and expense of maintenance is shown each year with nothing in the way of direct revenue, to all of which this province must contribute their share.

"Therefore Resolved that we call upon our local government, and our Federal members and Senators to insist that our provincial interests be safeguarded to the extent at least that the exceptions under the bill be extended so as to permit free movement without regulations or restrictions as at present of all water-borne traffic between this province and the River St. Lawrence and the Great Lake ports.

pact among Britain, Italy, Germany and France.

Consider Proposal

ROME, April 18 —(CP-Havas)— Foreign Minister Count Ciano, it was understood tonight, will receive the French Charge D'Affaires, Jules Blondel, tomorrow, probably to give him Italy's reply to the Paris invitation for negotiations toward appointing a French Ambassador to Rome next month.

The proposal, apparently the first move toward an agreement similar to the Anglo-Italian pact signed Saturday night, was made by Blondel to Count Ciano Saturday, on instructions from Paris.

Because of France's unwillingness to accredit an envoy to King Victor Emmanuel as 'Emperor of Ethiopia," there has been no ambassador in Rome since November 1936, when Count Charles de Chambrun retired. Similarly there is no Italian Ambassador at Paris, both embassies being directed by charges d'affaires.

Meanwhile, Premier Mussolini received Hans Von Mackensen, the new German Ambassador. They were presumed to have discussed the developments of the weekend, but no details of the talk were disclosed.

Press Comment

Commenting further on the Anglo-Italian Pact in the Giornale d'Italia today, Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist Editor, observed that the agreement has already shown its first result in Italy's adherence to the 1936 London Naval Treaty. He remarked that "since revision of this treaty is talked of today, Italy will be present at the negotiations."

Revision of the treaty is based on the determination of Britain and the United States not to be caught napping if it is discovered Japan plans to build battleships of more than treaty limits—35,000 tons.

Gayda said that from a political viewpoint the Anglo-Italian agreement has already entered into force, but from a legal viewpoint its application depends on withdrawal of Italian volunteers from Spain and formal British recognition of Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

"Both events are developing," he said.

Opposition To Transport Bill Is Expected

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, April 18—Transport Minister C. D. Howe is preparing for prolonged and, perhaps lively sessions in the House of Commons Railway Committee on the Transport Board Bill after the Easter parliamentary recess ends a week from today.

The bill provides for the regulation of rates in air and inland water transport and introduces the new principle of agreed charges into Canada's transport law. It is a modified edition of the transport bill Mr. Howe failed to get through the Senate last year.

This year, after dropping some of the more contentious aspects of the previous measure, he introduced it in the House of Commons and it passed second reading without serious opposition. From various quarters, however, has come word that some interests affected will make representations against it when the committee begins its study.

CAPACITY

Misses Joan McCarey and Irenaeus Duffy appeared in a song and dance number that was heartily received. They were followed by Mr. Daniel Wedge who appeared as a darkey singing as a vocal solo "Old Man River." He gave a comic song as an encore number.

The play was woven around Gail Wardell, wealthy girl who finds herself suddenly penniless when her guardian, Judge King, disappears taking all her wealth with him. Furthermore Mrs. King goes to Gail and pleads with her not to let anybody know of her husband's disappearance in order to avert a run on the bank of which he is president. Torn between conflicting emotions Gail promises Mrs. King she will not make public the Judge's disappearance and her financial status.

On top of this Denton Vane, a young novelist, comes to Gail and begs her to befriend April Arden, daughter of an old friend of his whom he has found almost destitute. How April helps Gail and how the mysterious disappearance of the Judge and Gail's wealth was finally solved made a very cleverly woven plot.

The entire action of the play took place in the living room of the Wardell mansion in New York City.

The leading lady was Miss Ruth Rattenbury who made a hit with Charlottetown theatre goers a few years ago when she appeared in the Hospital play "The Charming Pretender". Her part last night of Gail Wardell, a wealthy young lady, was a long and very difficult one but Miss Rattenbury added laurels to her many successful performances.

Julie, her maid, was played by Miss Florence McTague, who made her first appearance on the Prince Edward Theatre stage. Her enunciation was clear and distinct and she gave a very fine rendition of her part.

Mr. Roland Taylor, as Thorbin Wright, the polished lawyer, was also making his debut in the Prince Edward Theatre. He too added laurels to his career as amateur actor in different performances in the Little Theatre.

The leading male role was taken by Mr. Frank O'Neill who played the part of Denton Vane, a young novelist. Mr. O'Neill, who is no stranger to theatre goers, handled this difficult role with skill.

April Arden, young girl from the lower classes, was portrayed by Miss Eleanor Hennessey. Miss Hennessey also made her first appearance on the Prince Edward stage but she was well remembered by theatre goers for her excellent work in "Presenting Polly", a performance by the Basilica Dramatic Guild.

Miss Isabel Storey as Mrs. Blair King, an old friend of the Wardell family, had a difficult emotional role which called for skillful acting. Miss Storey has been seen on the Charlottetown stage many times and last night she played one of her best roles.

Odette Anglin, wealthy society girl, was played by Miss Dorothy Hughes who left nothing to be desired in her presentation of this part. Miss Hughes was also making her initial appearance on the Prince Edward stage.

Lily Trahan, also wealthy, was interpreted by Miss Esther Rattenbury who was quite at home in the role entrusted to her. Her voice, gestures, and acting were splendid. She certainly upheld her reputation as a character actress.

Mr. Arthur Moran in the role of Tom Murphy, a plain clothes man, played the part in a manner most pleasing to the audience. He is no novice on the stage, and his fine performance last night was thoroughly appreciated.

Oliver Drew, a young floor walker, as played by Mr. Joseph McTague was splendidly done. His clear, forceful speech held the audience on each of his several appearances.

Mr. Frank McIntyre as Judge King, the unexpected arrival, appeared only in the third act of the play. Much memorizing of long speeches was required in his part but he made a splendid job of his role.

Drapes used in the play were loaned by the Robert Simpson Eastern Ltd. through their local representative Mr. Stewart Jones. Furniture was loaned by R.T. Holman's while Brown's Electric Company supplied electric fixtures and did necessary wiring.

P.E.I. Teachers Convention Opens Today

The annual convention of the Prince Edward Island Teachers' Federation opens today at 10.30 a. m. in Prince of Wales College hall. The convention will conclude Thursday.

The president's address will be heard this morning.

In the afternoon addresses will be given by Mr. Seymour C. Gordon, M. A., supervisor of schools, Nova Scotia, and a former Islander and graduate of Prince of Wales College; Mr. Lincoln Dewar of New Perth, who will speak on curriculum changes; Mr. H. B. Chandler, M. A., who will speak on public libraries and Miss Hilda Gillis, B. A., who will give a talk on visual education. Visual education demonstration will follow Miss Gillis' address.

VISITS CH'TOWN Y'S MEN'S CLUB

Visit Of District Governor Elliott Hudson.

Mr. Elliott Hudson, Halifax, District Governor of Maritime Provinces, visited the Charlottetown Club officially at their meeting last evening at the Y.M.C.A. when a large attendance greeted their governor.

The chairman, Fred Holman, vice-president welcomed the governor and introduced him as speaker of the evening.

In the course of his address, he spoke of the rapid growth of Y's-dom which was started in Toledo, Ohio, in 1921 by Paul William Alexander. There are now 165 clubs in 17 countries and six continents. It is today the second largest club organization of international character, led only by Rotary from the standpoint of countries.

Sydney, N. S., was the first club to make the organization international, followed closely by Vancouver. Charlottetown club received its charter in 1926. Many of its charter members were present.

Mr. Hudson read several very instructive letters from Y's men in China.

It was announced that the district Maritime Convention will meet in Charlottetown in July. The international convention is to be held in Toronto in August.

The speaker stressed the value of boys' work and international friendship. He visited the Moncton club at noon yesterday and will visit Summerside club tonight, then five other Maritime clubs.

In concluding Mr. Hudson stated the Y's Men's movement is one of the world's most noble and exalted movements, not great in wealth, but great in purpose.

Mr. Chas. Earle rendered several excellent solos. Miss Lillian Earle was accompanist.

HOME-MADE LACQUER FOR YOUR BRASSES

We still like to have a little brass twinkling about our rooms, and some of us, who perhaps hardly like it enough to enjoy the frequent polishing needed to keep it twinkling, may still have brass fittings that we cannot afford to change for those which save labor. Brass on the outside of the front door, by way of plates, bells and doorknockers, will keep some time from tarnishing, even in the worst weather, if you rub on a little vaseline after polishing, but a still more lasting method is to give all the brasses, indoors and out, a coat of home-made lacquer after the annual cleaning. They will then need nothing more than an occasional wipe over until the following spring and much elbow-grease, as well as tins of polish, will be saved.

To make the lacquer, warm a wide-necked bottle thoroughly and put into it one ounce of white resin, one ounce of white shellac, and half an ounce of gum benzoin (obtainable from any good oil shop). Add a pint of methylated spirit, and shake till all is well mixed and dissolved. Use the lacquer very sparingly, but cover all the brass surface by means of a fine camel-hair brush, and allow it to dry thoroughly. Keep the bottle in a warm place, but do not let it be too near a fire. The pint should go a long way.

Will Commence Comeback At Wimbledon

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 18 — Mrs. Helen Wills Moody picks up the thread of her tennis career again Wednesday when she sails for England, another tennis campaign and the Wimbledon championships.

Few champions have had as varied a career as "Queen Helen." A child prodigy of the courts, a national heroine against Suzanne Lenglen, five times Wimbledon champion, she was the greatest woman athlete of sport's "golden decade". There followed a swift drop to oblivion when she left the court with Helen Jacobs in the lead, a return to the heights with a triumph over Miss Jacobs for her sixth Wimbledon title, two years on the sidelines and now—back to action.

Yesterday she told reporters that, for the first time in her competitive career, she lacked confidence.

"I feel I am hitting the ball as well as ever; my game is substantially the same, but I haven't much confidence as yet. Only competition can give me that. Until then I really won't know."

The back injury that forced her to the sidelines in that famous match with Helen Jacobs isn't bothering her. She feels sure it will stand up under the strain of a hard campaign.

Says Amateur Hockey Needs Housecleaning

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

TORONTO, April 18—J. H. Passmore, convenor of a committee surveying hockey in high schools, reported to the Ontario Education Association today that "there is as much executive disorder and veiled professionalism in organized hockey today, it has an undesirable influence on younger players.

Passmore called for a "good housecleaning at the top" to help remedy the situation. He reported "marked falling off" in stickhandling ability among high school players and said calibre of senior hockey has not improved in the last few years.

A number of high school careers are interrupted by promising juniors for players being "picked up" despite stringent resident rules, a situation Passmore said school authorities could do much about.

Mapping the Tactics That Defeated Loyal ists

This picture, taken just a short time before Lerida fell to the Spanish rebels driving through Barcelona to the Mediterranean, shows the conqueror of the Lerida garrison, General Yague, second from right, conferring with his staff.
