SUBMARINE MENACE NOW WELL IN HAND

(Canadian Press Despatch.)

PARIS.— Replying to interpellations on submarine warfare tonight in the public sessions of the Chamber of Deputies, Rear Admiral Lacaze, the Minister of Marine, gave an interesting outline of the means of defense France has adopted against the undersea boats.

"I see no reason why I should not speak of these methods in public," said Admiral Lacaze. "It would be childish to think they are unknown to the enemy. They consist of a system of patrol boats, of arming merchantmen with guns and fitting them with wireless; of sea planes, nets, mines, smoke-raising devices and dragnets.

"I sought to get patrol boats built here and buy them abroad. I scoured the world over with missions, covering the ground from America to North Cape, from the Cape of Good Hope to Japan, but England had been beforehand.

"When I entered the Ministry I found 243 patrols. Now we have 552." (A Socialistist voice, "It is formidable.")

Plans Increase to 900.

"I do not say it is formidable," continued the Minister, "nor even sufficient, and I have drawn up a scheme which will increase the figure to 900. I continue to buy in London, the world's center for shipping. I am obliged to do so because our shipyards had been almost completely abandoned; because, as a result of that short-war theory which weighed so regrettably upon all decisions taken at the outset of the war, the yards had been transformed into war material factories to meet the pressing need of the national defence. We have now got back most of the arsenals and a number of private yards, together with skilled workemn.

"The guns we mount on the patrol boats have been referred to disdainfully, but you cannot put 10-centimetre guns on a small vessel. A patrol boat on guard, armed with 95-milimetre guns, sank one and put the other to flight.

"We have 1,200 dragnets, as well as 170,500 curtain nets and 5,000 201 foot float nets, which indicate the presence of submarines. We have special bombs for submarines and apparatus to throw them.

Seaplanes Guard Coast.

"We have organized seaplane posts all around the coasts, so that the zone of action of each post joins that of its neighbor on either side. By October all merchantmen and patrollers will be fitted with wireless and all merchantmen supplied with guns of as heavy calibre as possible, for which measures programs have been drawn up even beyond what was thought possible.

Commodore Ledyard

Has sired more race horses than all the other stallions standing for service in the province combined. At every race meeting of note in the three provinces Commodore is always represented by at least 2 or 3 of his get.

The history of all great sires including George Wilkes, Electioneer, Bingen, Peter the Great, and Moko has established the fact that a stallion sires more speed during the period between his 15th and 20th years than he does in all the time before that period.

Commodore Ledyard is 16 years of age this spring. He never was really kept before in the condition that a horse should be kept to make a successful sire and he should beget more speed this year than he has in any other two years of his stud career. He stands for service at his owner's stables at Montague. Anyone interested can obtain his card with tabulated pedigree on application.
