According to Kieu Lung

"You can taste and feel but not describe the state of happiness produced by such a beverage."

Thus the Emperor Kieu Lung, more than sixteen centuries ago, extolled the virtues of good tea.

He might well have been describing the spicy deliciousness, the bracing full bodiness of Blue Bird Orange Pekoe.

The Teaching Profession

At the request of the P. E. Island Teachers' Union, Mr. R. H. Rogers, Chief Superintendent of Education, has forwarded the following impressions of the education meetings held last summer in Toronto.

The educational conferences of great interest were held in Toronto in August last. The first was the annual meeting of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, an association of the teachers' unions of the several provinces.

What impressed the writer most deeply in this gathering was the serious and dignified view of the teachers' profession which marked all the deliberations. The school teachers of Ontario and the West are very jealous of their standing as professional men and women.

The inspiring truth was realized by those taking part in it that the teachers of today have their place in the glorious succession of those who in all ages have labored for the spiritual enrichment of the generations of man.
