The Girl Who Had No Chance

EXPLANATIONS

Chapter 107 "Now that we've spent so much time quarrelling, and that's over, Gabby said, 'let's get down to facts.'"

"You admit you played a mean trick on your best friend and did everything you could get Tim away, though you didn't at the time care anything about him. You think that's a fair game, I think it's dishonorable, and Ruth here is too sweet to think anything harsh about it at all. She's spent a great many months grieving and feeling badly, without blaming you."

"You thought you were pretty sure of Tim as soon as you got him to propose to you. You belong to the type of woman who thinks that a wedding ring and a marriage ceremony binds a man and woman to care for each other eternally. You didn't know your Ruth came to the city before."

"I'm not so stupid as you think," Myra put in. "I guess I can hold what I get. I fixed it then so he thought Ruth didn't like him any more."

"I know you did—or tried to. You silly little thing, you only made him go crazy with jealousy. You nearly lost him by that trick."

"Gaby—" Ruth began gently. "But Gaby was not to be deterred. She had some object in mind, and she was talking until she reached that object. Ruth settled back in her chair, and listened to herself discussed between this old and this new friend, quite as though she were not present in the room."

"Oh, I can always manage Tim," Myra answered, and a little of her old complacency crept back into her tones. "I know him so well he can't lie to me, and I can always make him do anything I want. Why, he had an offer of a job at $70 a week in a dinky little one-horse town in Ohio and I wouldn't let him go. I'd rather live here where there's life and excitement on $40, than in a place like my old home."

"So you ruined a possible chance for Tim's future!" Ruth flared up suddenly at this.

"I keep Tim perfectly happy and contented, and you can't get him away!" Myra cried, losing all sense as she grew angrier. "Don't be vulgar, my dear girl. Gaby put in, resuming her drawl, and watching Myra with amusement to see the effect of her words. "Ruth doesn't want to get your precious Tim away from you. She's too much interested in several other people."

"She got him down here Saturday, because she knew I couldn't come," Myra answered. "And then you try to tell me she isn't interested in him."

"I asked him to bring you," Ruth said in her own defence.

Myra turned suddenly. "I thought he was here! Now you admit it. You see, I am a little too clever for you, Ruth O'Neil. I just pretended Tim told me. I was sure he was here."

A. Grenier Gains 18 Lbs. on Tanlac And Feels Like New

Says Famous Medicine Ended Long Standing Dyspepsia and Restored Perfect Health.

"The Tanlac remedy not only ended my stomach trouble, but it built me up eighteen pounds, and I never felt better in my life," is the positive statement of Armand Grenier, 250 Marquette Street, Montreal.

"Dyspepsia had me in such awful shape I scarcely dared to eat, knowing the misery I would have to suffer. My nerves were shattered I would lie awake sometimes all night, and once I woke up from a doze feeling like I was about to smother, and thought my end was near. Then for months I was mighty careful about my eating, but I didn't seem to get any better until I took a friend's advice and started on Tanlac."

"Every day I got better, till now I enjoy tip-top health. I have a ravenous appetite, perfect digestion, and can sleep like a top every night. Tanlac gets my best word every time."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs Bernard McKenna died June 3rd, 1922. MOTHER

Our mother dear is dead a year— A year she's sleeping resting And on this day there falls a tear Fond memory arresting How sweet to recollect a thought Of mother, home and childhood To her we brought the flowers we sought.

Dear mother was beloved of all. Her children called her blessed. For she was never known to frown. No matter how distressed. We found with her a healing balm For all our pains and worries. Her counsels wise, her presence calm. Dispelled all cares and furies.

She bore her age, with gentle grace Her heart was young and cheer full. Though worn and faded grew her face

'Twas never dull nor fearful And as I feel the time so near When old age sere comes o'er me If I can live like mother dear There's naught to fear before me

Inserted by her daughter. EVELYN JEAN MCBRIDE

The death occurred on Saturday of Evelyn Jean McBride, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McBride, Spring Street, City, at the tender age of two years and three months called upon to suffer from although during the winter had pneumonia recovered as to encourage the loving and devoted parents to believe that an entire cure had been effected. At noon on Saturday however, a change took place and despite the efforts of two learned and skillful physicians, within the hour the admonition had been fulfilled. "Suffer the little children to come unto Me."

The funeral took place at 3 p. m. on Sunday, the service at the house and grave being conducted by Rev. Geo. C. Taylor. Many floral tributes bore mute testimony of the sincere sympathy of the community.

MRS. SARAH MCKENZIE

At Beach Point, on May 21st, Alexander McKenzie passed away suddenly at the age of seventy-eight years. Although in failing health for some time, she was faithfully attending to her household duties up to within a few hours of her death.

She leaves to mourn her husband who is also in failing health and two sons and one daughter.

John, who was at the Magdalen Islands at the time of her death, but came home to attend her funeral. Margaret (Mrs. Herbert Co. hoon) and James at home, who will greatly miss a kind and loving wife and mother, also one brother, William McKenzie, who lives on the old homestead at Gaspereux, P. E. I.

Two children predeceased her a few years ago. George and Eliza both (Mrs. Moses Derby).

The funeral service which was largely attended was held in the Beach Point Methodist Church and was conducted by Rev. M. D. McDonald of the Presbyterian Church of which she was a member assisted by Rev. Mr. Howard of the Methodist Church. She was laid to rest in the Murray Harbour Cemetery.

The People of Beach Point and vicinity deeply sympathise with the family in their bereavement.

Rest on dear one thy cares are o'er. Thy willing hands will toil no more. Oh, when you breathed your last farewell, The blow meant more than words can tell. Without the smile of your kind face, Our home is now an empty place.

NOTICE GENTLEMEN:— As there are practically no hogs offering now we have decided to discontinue packing on Friday next, June 8th., for this season. With the warmer weather we would suggest that you be very careful handling hogs, especially the heavier ones. They should be allowed to cool well before shipping, and if very heavy it would perhaps be wise to have them spit down the back on the outside. We will be buying again as usual next fall.
