

RED CROSS COLLECTIONS
 IN CHARLOTTETOWN
 Men's Committee—May 25-28
 Ladies' Envelope Collection
 May 28th-30th.
 THROUGHOUT PROVINCE
 MONTH OF MAY
 L-132-4-16-31.

Trinity United Church
 WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20
 5.30—Browns.
 5.30—Girl Guides.
 7.30—Prayer Service.
 8.30—Official Board Meeting.
 8.30—Senior Y. P. U.

BIRTHS

MACPHERSON—At the City Hospital, April 16, 1933, to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard MacPherson, a son, Kenneth E. D. Y. At Kensington on Wednesday, March 23rd, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kennedy a son, James Kentford.
BEAGAN—At the Prince County Hospital, April 19th, 1933, to Mr. and Mrs. Everett Beagan, a daughter, Mrs. Everett Beagan, a daughter.
NEBBITT—At the Prince County Hospital, April 16th, 1933, to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nebbitt, a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Nebbitt, a daughter.
MACLEAN—At Belle River, April 19th, 1933, Mrs. Mary MacLean, aged 89, funeral at 2 o'clock, April 21st, from the home of J. W. Cook.

MARRIAGES

WHITE-COHOON—At the United Church, Murray Harbour, on April 16, 1933, by Rev. R. E. Welton, Grace Jane White to Emmerson Lester Cohoon, both of Murray Harbour.
GORDON-BUELL—At Zion Mission on Monday, April 17, 1933, by Rev. C. G. Charley, Webster Miss Mary A. Buell of Abney to Mr. Ralph Gordon of the same place.

DEATHS

SMITH—At North Wiltshire, Tuesday, April 19, 1933, Isaac Smith in his 93rd year. Funeral from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. A. Bowman on Friday, April 22nd, at 2 o'clock, to the cemetery, Inverness North Wiltshire cemetery.
MORTIMER—At the P.E.I. Hospital, April 19, 1933, Gerald Mortimer in his 71st year. Funeral at 2 o'clock, Wednesday, April 20, to the cemetery, Inverness, People's Cemetery.

Card of Thanks

Messrs Roy F. MacLean and Victor Ramsay wish to heartily thank their neighbors and friends who worked so strenuously to save their home at Lot 16 from fire on April 5th.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Ernest S. Gaspereau, who departed this life on April 24, 1933.
 You were very true and patient through the years you struggled on. And those dear hands now resting Made a home that now has changed. Often brings many a silent tear.
 Inserted by Family.
 G-212-4-20-11.

In Memoriam

In Fond Memory of HOWARD FURSEY Died April 20, 1933. He is Just Away.
 With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
 He has wandered into an unknown land,
 And left us dreaming how very fair it need must be since he lingers there,
 And we that are left do oft-times yearn
 For the old time step and his glad return.
 Think of him still as the same I say,
 He is not dead, he is just away.
 Sent in by his Loving Wife and Their Family, Lexington, Mass., U. S. A.
 G-181-4-20-11.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear Husband and Father, Charles Mosher, who departed this life April 20, 1933.
 We mourn for him in silence
 No eyes can see us weep
 For many a silent tear we shed
 While others are asleep.
 Inserted by his Wife and Family.
 L-179-4-20-11.

N.D. MacLean

UNDERTAKER EMBALMER
 Charlottetown and North Wiltshire
 Phone 149

Too Late to Clasy
SEED FOR SALE—150 BUSHES of mixed barley and oats. Apply Louis Dover, Dunstonsville.
 L-214-4-20-31.

WANTED—MIDDLE AGED housekeeper by May 1st. Family of three adults. Apply "K" to the Guardian.
 L-224-4-20-24.

Y' CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED LAST NIGHT

The Y. M. C. A. annual campaign was officially opened last night at a largely attended meeting of workers gathered for final instructions. This year fourteen teams will participate in the drive to reach the objective of $5,600.00. Two special teams organized for the first time are a ladies team headed by Mrs. E. H. Horn and a C. N. R. team led by Mr. E. W. MacKinnon.
 The banquet last night was opened with a prayer by Rev. H. L. Denison. Mr. E. L. Miles, Chairman, thanked all those present for their attendance and gave a special welcome to the members of the ladies' team. He pointed out that the objective set for 1933 was very close to the actual amount realized in 1932 so that it was most important that each team attain its quota. He demonstrated the necessity for the campaign by pointing out that the cost of services to participants was $1.46 while the net income was only $3.83. The difference had to be made up by donations from the general public. He urged the canvassers to suggest to contributors that if they wish their contribution applied to a membership they should give $6.40 instead of the regular membership rate of $3.00. The secretary, Mr. Norville E. Luck instructed the workers with regard to the organizing of the campaign. He asked that an effort be made to have an increase of $1.06 per card.

The guest speaker was Mr. W. M. Robertson, Vice President of the Halifax Y. M. C. A. and ex-member of the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly. This was the first opportunity he had of visiting this delightful province, and he was impressed with the charm of the country and the progressiveness of the business centers. He brought the best wishes of the Halifax Y. M. C. A. for a most successful campaign. The Charlottetown organization was one of the oldest in Canada, said the speaker, and it has a tradition of wonderful service which has been maintained under the capable leadership of the President, Dr. J. A. Clark.

The recent campaign in Halifax had met with even greater success than had been anticipated. Last year they had raised $12,000 while they had realized $15,300. This was in spite of the fact that they faced some difficulties as all other similar organizations of reduced subscriptions after the set back of 1929. The secret of their progress had been in increasing the number of subscribers from 550 in 1929 to 1000 last month. By placing the financial burden over a greater number of people they were not only able to maintain the effectiveness of their institution but were able to make it of interest to a much greater number of people by having their canvassers tell their story and enlist the active as well as the financial support of these people. Mr. Robertson said he would have a great story when he got back as he had learned since coming here that the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. has over 700 supporters in a city of 12,000 while in Halifax with 60,000 while in Montreal with 100,000.

His fellow workers would be inspired by the work of Charlottetown and it showed them the great field not yet touched.
 The Y has always had a great appeal for the public and it is known that its work cannot be carried on with membership fees alone. A campaign such as this gave further opportunity to bring the attention of the citizens to additional information on the activities carried on during the year and to impress upon them the need of their support. Some people have the opinion that the Y should be self supporting but in his mind it is never came about the organization would cease to be alive and would in time lose its identity. If the work was to be aided by the Government or by some corporation deterioration would be the result. It is only by keeping in constant touch with the public that worthwhile results can be achieved.

The Y has been founded on the principle that the future of the nation rests with its youth and these voluntary subscriptions allowed the benefits of the organization to be afforded them. The speaker said that in Halifax three hundred underprivileged children were given membership at no cost. He quoted a successful financier as saying that the most important investment a person could make was in his home and the second most important was in the boys and girls of his community. It is in these young people that the future wealth of the country lies. He pointed out that in the countries ruled over by dictators this very important investment was not only realized but was being touched upon to the fullest extent. Vast youth organizations were being formed for the physical, mental and spiritual well being of their children. Democratic countries cannot agree with a being such as these groups are being taught but there was no doubt of the necessity of keeping up their own youth groups, foremost among which is the Y. M. C. A. If you can tell me what the boys and girls of the future will be I can tell you what the future of our nation will be, he concluded.

 Judge H. L. Palmer congratulated the chairman on having secured the services of Mr. Robertson and moved that a vote of thanks be extended to him for his inspiring address. Dr. J. A. Clark in seconding the motion added a word of appreciation to Mr. Luck saying that he did not know of his own people in Canada. The meeting was brought to a close with a prayer by Rev. Hugh Miller.

MORE FOX PELTS WANTED AT ONCE
 Just received an order from an Upper Canadian Furrier for 50 Silvers. MUST HAVE THEM BY APRIL 27th. Will be at REVERE HOTEL, Charlottetown, April 26th, and at QUEEN HOTEL, Summerside, on April 27th.
 HARRY KIRSH
 L-224-4-20-24

The Central Guardian

This column is reserved for news of local interest but advertising of a new nature may be inserted at cents a word strictly payable in advance.

CONFEDERATION LIFE INSURANCE L-6789-7-21-312

NOTICE—Dance tonight Brighton Club, Blanchard's Orchestra. L-229

THE CITY schools will not open until Monday morning. The day lost will be made up by teaching the following Saturday morning. L-230.

ISLANDER IN HOSPITAL—NEW GLASGOW, N. S., April 19—(CP)—Adison MacDonald of Souris, P. E. I., was in hospital tonight and will undergo an appendicitis operation. He is employed at a Pictou County lumber camp.

VESSEL LEAVES PORT—The motor-vessel Maheone, Capt. Harry Brown, left Monday for Chatham, P. E. I., from where she will sail for Sydney, Nova Scotia, with a cargo of produce. The Maheone had been tied up here since January when she was towed to this port by the icebreaker Montcalm after having been caught in the ice of Northumberland Strait for several days while enroute from Georgetown, P. E. I., to Victoria.

HOUSE DESTROYED—The home of Joseph J. Stewart at Bay View, P. E. I., was destroyed by fire on April 11 according to word here yesterday. The flames were discovered at midnight by Mr. Stewart's son, Loren, who called the fire department. The house was destroyed by a high wind fire spread rapidly and only a few small articles were saved. Neighbors who gathered formed a bucket brigade and were able to save the barn nearby. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

RECALL SNOWSTORM—Railway men yesterday recalled a snowstorm in April, 1926, which held up traffic for about two days. The storm in some sections of the province was accompanied by near zero weather. The storm began April 12 and trains began to encounter trouble when the snow fell in cuttings. Crews of men were sent out the next day to clear the tracks and in some sections they found from four to 10 feet of snow. Normal schedules were in operation about two days later.

POLICE COURT—A man who left the province Monday neglecting to pay a board bill of $20.00 was brought back to the city the same evening after being apprehended by R. C. M. P. Tormentine on instructions from the local authorities. When brought back to the local police station he was allowed to go on $20.00 bail. After being released he was relieved of $40.00 in cash. Yesterday morning failing to appear, his bail was estreated and "return" charges from Tormentine of $8.25 charged up against his $40.00. A drunk who failed to appear had his bail bond of $3.00 estreated.

WILD GESE INCREASING—Royal Canadian Mounted Police report that Canada geese in this province show a most encouraging increase over last spring. In certain sections, particularly in the Queens area, the increase is 100% over last season. The outlook for a bumper crop of black ducks is bright as the present numbers of breeding stock is considerably greater than in the corresponding period last year, which was considered by observers to have constituted a record. It is a little too early to offer a definite comment on the present situation of these birds at large, but it is believed, but books would give a child an opportunity to grasp the really worthwhile things of life. Good reading stimulates the mind and broadens the horizon. Apparently lacking to a great extent in Canadians possibly because this was a pioneer country and only now is becoming readily available in many places.

PERSONALS
 Master Sterling McLeod, Borden, spent his Easter holidays in Hunter River, the guest of his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLeod.

Mr. Peter Hughes has returned to his home in Montreal, after attending the funeral of his mother, the late Mrs. Peter Hughes.

Miss Helen Godkin left Saturday morning on return to Boston, Mass., after spending the past three months visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Godkin, Kent St.

Capt. R. J. Belyea of this City is at present patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital. His many friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

Among the passengers on the Murray Harbour train yesterday were Mr. and Mrs. A. Putnam who went to their summer home in Elton, and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Macdonald who goes to his farm in Pinette.

Mr. J. J. Campbell has just returned from Antigonish, where he completed a large contract for lathing, plastering and ornamental work on the new St. Francis Xavier University buildings.

Each speaker was given a hearty vote of thanks by the audience.

Today's program includes at this morning's session, an address by Hon. Mark MacGuigan, Minister of Education and Supervisor H. A. MacPhee, Headteacher, Mr. H. H. Shaw, Chief Superintendent of Education will speak briefly. Reports on education week will be given by Mr. Norman Macdonald and on the Rowell Commission brief by Mr. H. W. Geo.

In the evening Mr. R. E. G. Davidson, Dominion secretary Adult Education League will speak on "The European Crisis". A social hour for teachers will follow.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT
 "I wish to thank you for the confidence you placed in me in electing me to the responsible office of President of our Federation for the year now closing." Mr. C. F. Fine, said in beginning his report. "I have tried to carry out to the best of my ability the obligations I assumed in accepting this office and I have been glad to know you were having a happy and experienced executive to support me and in a membership which co-operated at all times. I have met with difficulties and perplexities but whatever situation arose the support and co-operation have referred to, enabled us to meet the problem and find a solution. This organization could not have advanced to its present important position were it not for the large number of members who have always given so willingly and articles emphasizing various phases to teach in a community where there was no such organization. The teacher should be an active living member of the community and show he or she is a member of the profession on which so much rests in this modern civilization, the speaker advised.

Teachers Ice Causes Damage To Waterfront

(Continued from page 1)

Curriculum Changes
 The present educational system was "barbaric" in its scope, respectively, Mr. Lancelot Devar, new teacher speaking on curriculum changes, told teachers. The system in use in this province for the past three-quarters of a century was designed to be of particular value to the clever people and had prostituted the common school to the position of a mere stepping stone for members of the profession to reach higher paid positions.

There was "no need to worry about clever people," Mr. Devar said. "They will look out for themselves." But persons who are carrying the weight of the world on their shoulders and in many cases getting very little for it.

In the course of his address Mr. Devar outlined briefly several of the changes in the school system that were being advocated. They included raising of school age to 7, freer use of the vernacular, elimination of interference, placing less stress on written examinations, governing of the Prince of Wales College by a non-political body, and teaching more of the vernacular, French, Geometry and Algebra.

The agitation for curriculum change was not confined to a few farmers, the speaker said. Earlier in the year he had referred to a statement in the press that farmers "had been led into sponsoring" resolutions asking for changes. That was not the case, he said. Farmers who attended the Farmers' Parliament could not easily "be led into anything."

Some educators hoped the agitation for reform would die down but it would not, the speaker assured the meeting. Farmers were in earnest and were going after what they wanted. He said that the conclusion teachers were told that the only way to improve their profession was to assist farmers to obtain a more practical education.

Mr. H. B. Chandler
 Inquiries concerning Prince Edward Island public libraries came from as far away as Russia, South Africa, New Zealand and South American Republics. Mr. H. B. Chandler, M. A., supervisor of the Prince Edward Island libraries informed the meeting in the course of a short address. There were only two such library systems in Canada, the British Columbia and the other in this Province, teachers were reminded.

At present there were 45,000 books in constant circulation in this Province through 23 rural branches. During the past year better service had been given rural schools. Books had been placed in a little more than half the public schools. Circulation for the first three months of this year had taken a big jump and it was believed that it had been for a corresponding period the previous year.

The speaker stressed the need for children to read a great deal in order to acquire facility in reading, regardless of whether the context was especially valuable. Prince Edward Island had a rich literary material, but books would give a child an opportunity to grasp the really worthwhile things of life. Good reading stimulates the mind and broadens the horizon. Apparently lacking to a great extent in Canadians possibly because this was a pioneer country and only now is becoming readily available in many places.

In closing his address Mr. Chandler stressed the need for reading for teachers.

Brief to Commission
 "In this connection, I should like to refer to a brief presented to the Rowell Commission. The Special Committee charged with this difficult task consisted of Mr. E. W. Kelly, L. T. Lowther and L. F. Macdonald. This Committee spent much time and effort in the preparation of material and I know you will have had the opportunity of examining the brief and report of the Commission. I am glad to report that during this convention, Education Week was observed across the Dominion. Our organization contributed a splendid program of radio talks, sermons, and newspaper articles emphasizing various phases

Teachers Ice Causes Damage To Waterfront

(Continued from page 1)

More than $6,500 damage was caused to the Charlottetown harbor front Monday when a large pan of ice dotted with bushes was swept down West River before a swift wind. The damage consisted of considerable portion of the head of Connolly's wharf, now occupied by H. R. Large, was carried away by the ice.

The pan then struck Carvell's wharf, tearing away a corner for about 30 feet causing damage estimated at $2,000.

Lyons' wharf escaped with slight damage but Bunton and Bell wharves were hit and damage amounting to about $2,000 was caused when the head was carried away.

Missing the Marine wharf the ice swept across the dock and hit Bruce Stewart and Company's wharf. Owners estimated their damage at $2,000.

The ice completed its route of the harbor front when it carried away a portion of the head of the Ferry wharf and damage amounted to $1,500. The head of the Rocky Point ferry "Fairview," docked at the Ferry wharf, heard the crunch of timber as the ice drifted against the wharves nearby and was able to move eastward from her berth to the other side of the wharf out of the path of the ice.

Aims of Federation
 "Among the chief aims of our Federation are: (1) professional recognition; (2) adequate salaries; (3) improved conditions of service; and (4) permanency. To what extent these objectives in recent years, I need not tell you. Certainly we have gone a great distance. Every executive has done its utmost to further our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the lack of moving our government and people to a consideration of the well-just demands of teachers is well-nigh overwhelming. Again, we have sacrificed to our own sacrifice, reduced through the years to comparative poverty, have become somewhat apathetic. Occasionally one justice will flame up at the injustice of it, become smothered with indifference, and finally consumed in his own ardor. Some of our interests along these lines with little appreciable success. May I advance some opinions as to why this is so. In the first place, the