

Protect your car against Winter's Cold

PROTECTION against frozen radiators and costly motor damage—easier starting without excessive choking and thinning of oil—prevention of rust and saving of finish . . . these are the advantages which make it an economy to line your garage with Beaver Board. The cost is surprisingly small.

Many prefer to use Beaver Insulating Board—7/16 inch thick, laminated board which presents a weatherproof blanket against extremes of weather. You can apply Beaver Board or Beaver Insulating Board easily and quickly yourself—or get an estimate from any carpenter.

Bear River North. The bride was attended by Miss Eileen MacGough, Bear River, and the groom was ably supported by Mr. E. E. Doucette, St. Charles. The happy couple left immediately on a honeymoon trip to Boston before returning to Bear River where they will in future reside. Prior to her marriage she was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower arranged by her sister-in-law Mrs. E. F. Peters, at which she was the recipient of many valuable and useful gifts. The house was very prettily decorated with yellow and white streamers and white bells. Tall yellow tapers and flowers were used on the table the center decoration being the bride's cake. A generous supply of firecrackers containing paper caps, added to the merriment as each guest wore their caps during supper. Several hours music and dancing added to an enjoyable evening.

CONNOLLY AND STOREY NUPTIALS.

A very pleasing and happy event took place at St. Dunstons' Basilica, on the morning of Aug. 25th, ult., when Mr. J. F. Connolly, son of Mrs. Mary Connolly, Fitzroy street was united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony, to Miss Helen Storey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Storey of this city.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McCarthy and during the Nuptials Mass, various selections appropriate to the occasion were skillfully rendered by Miss. Beson on their honeymoon trip to New Brunswick.

The bride and groom being unattended, Miss Mary Connolly and Ray Hughes very capably acted as witnesses, while many of their intimate friends were in attendance.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a lovely pale green georgette dress with hat and shoes to match, and carried a beautiful bouquet of roses and maiden hair fern. Her travelling costume was of fawn crepe and fox furs, with hat and shoes to match.

After the marriage the happy couple motored to 186 Fitzroy street where a dainty breakfast was graciously served by the groom's mother; afterward they left by the Borden train

New Cognomen For Sir. John

LONDON, September 14—Sir John Simon, who headed the commission on India, earned a new name among the Hindus. Sir Walter Layton, financial adviser to the commission, told the Liberal Summer School at Oxford.

"In parts of India the commission had black flags waved at them and were greeted with cries of "Simon, Go Back," said Sir Walter.

"This phrase became a party cry all over India until in Assam some it was Sir John's real name. He was called "Simon-Go-Back Sahib."
