War Veterans Column

ADDRESS CORRESPONDENCE TO WAR VETERANS COLUMN, P.O. BOX 365, CHARLOTTETOWN

CARELESS.—A soldier got a late pass one night to celebrate his sister's wedding in a proper way. Coming along the lane back to camp he ran into a comrade, who, seeing his rather "merry" condition, went to a lot of trouble in getting him back before his pass expired and tucking him safely between the blankets. The "merry" one awoke the next morning with a terrific headache and a puzzled look on his face. "I say," he cried, "who brought me home last night?" "I did", said a voice from the end of the hut. "And you put me to bed?" "I did that." "Well you're a fine sort of chap," came the grumbling reply. You for got to wind up my watch."

DISPOSAL OF WASTE PAPER. We suggest that some Civic arrangement be made to collect the waste paper and other rubbish which collects in the cellars and premises of our mercantile houses. It should be an easy matter to have a suitable conveyance call at business houses daily for this purpose. At the present time it appears that the most of these materials are either burned in rear of our business houses, or in the furnace. These practices are both bad as they add to the risk of fire, and are a waste of time.

* * *

CIVIC AFFAIRS. It appears to be a great pity that Great George Street from Euston to Grafton Street was not paved, as it would make a splendid entry into the City from Elm Avenue, which is already paved. This section of Great George Street is at present in a very bad state, and we believe it should be paved this year. The sidewalk just east of the Island Cold Storage Plant over the swamp and leading to the Hillsborough Bridge, is in a very bad state of repair. In one place at least, three planks have been removed, and a person stepping into this at night would have a fall of three or four feet. In other places, it is in almost as dangerous a condition. The railing in some places is in very bad condition. We suggest that repairs be made at once before an accident takes place.

* * *

GERMAN GUNS.—We would take the liberty of suggesting to those who have the disposing of the German guns that a gun of some kind be given to the Great War Veterans Association for use on the grounds of their new home. We do not know where a gun could be more suitably placed. A machine gun on each side of the main entrance to the new home would not look out of place. We would also suggest that a gun might well be given to the Navy League for use on their grounds.

SOLDIERS INSURANCE.—As has already been announced the Government scheme of life insurance for any male or female who served overseas in the Great War came into effect on 1st September. No applications for insurance will be considered after 1st. September 1922. We notice on the heading of the application for insurance that those now having insurance on their life are advised not to surrender it, without careful consideration. We trust that there are no returned men so foolish as to think of dropping their present insurance to take up new insurance under the government scheme, which we believe from a hasty glance through the official pamphlet issued on the subject, is neither cheaper nor better than insurance issued by the regular companies. The maximum insurance issued on any one life is $5,000 and the minimum $500. The premiums may be payable monthly, quarterly half-yearly or yearly. The rates for the government insurance appear to be very much the same as would be charged for similar without profit policies by the life companies. For example we find that the Government rate for a $1000 policy on the 20 payment plan is $21.12 per annum. This policy will pay to beneficiary a maximum of $200. down at death of assured and the balance in equal annual installments over periods of either 5, 10, 15 or 20 years. These rates are for age 25 for same year regular Company requires an annual premium of $20.95 on a 20 payment life policy which will give to beneficiary on death of assured an annual income for 20 years of $50.00. Both policies include the total disability clause. In some respects the Government scheme has slight advantages over the policies issued by the regular companies and vice versa. The one outstanding advantage in the Government scheme is that to procure it no medical examination is necessary, so that any person who has been overseas can secure the insurance no matter how badly he or she may be maimed. For these we believe the government has rightly and chiefly brought forward the scheme. It is impossible here to give a full idea of the scheme, but we will gladly give any information asked for through this column. Applications for insurance should be addressed to Commissioners, Returned Soldiers' Insurance, Ottawa, who will furnish all necessary information.

SUGGESTION. — The publicity agent has lately got out a nice little pamphlet entitled "Facts about Prince Edward Island," which gives those intending a visit to the Province much useful information. We notice that one of the cuts shows the south side of the square and Victoria Row with the old iron and wooden fence which was formerly there. We would suggest that in future issues a more up-to-date cut be used. We now have some good streets and we might just as well advertise the fact in the pamphlets we are sending abroad. We suggest also that the photographs to be used for the cuts be taken on a busy day. The most of the photographs of our city appear to be taken very early in the morning as our streets appear in most post card pictures to be almost deserted. This is no good advertizing.

There are insufficient jobs for Canadian ex-soldiers in England. It is estimated that 5,000 have returned and many are marrying girls they met when on service over there. They are advised to remain in Canada.

There is a League of Combatants in Germany and one in France made up of participants in the war. One of their principles is that there shall never be another war between the two countries they represent. We hope they will live up to it, but how can they bind those who come after?

MILITARY HISTORY.—(Continued from last issue.) With reference to the Senator's own province of Nova Scotia, to cerify the first mentioned facts and figures above, he quotes the adjutant-general of the province of Nova Scotia in a report dated 19th October, 1866: "I have the honour to state that the five day's annual drill of all the men of martial age, i,e, between 16 and 45 years of age, having now had the effect of forming a thorough organization by regiments, with nearly a full complement of well-trained, examined and passed officers, (with inconsequential exceptions), the militia forces of this province by last year's returns, consisting of 59,379 of all ranks, are now well in hand and capable of carrying out any orders they may receive from Your Excellency (the Lieutenant Governor) commanding-in-chief, with the object of further progress." A quotation is also given from an official report made in January, 1914: "It is undoubtedly the fact that the whole provincial militia was then (in March, 1866) in a splendid state of organization, extending to the remotest sections of the province, and was capable of being mustered at the shortest possible notice. By March 1866, there were 113 regiments of militia efficiently organized and under training, as well as five brigades of artillery and eleven voluntary corps. The 113 regimental districts covered every foot of territory in the province Artillery and voluntary corps were located at various points around the coast." The total expenditure on the militia system in Nova Scotia under the system in operation at the time of the union, was considerably less than $2.00 for each man actually trained, or than $1.50 for each man enrolled in the active militia. It is the writer's honest belief that the Nova Scotia system as it existed in 1867 was the best and cheapest in the world." The officers were obliged to undergo a fairly long course of instruction and to pass examinations on their duties, and the men were drilled by sergeants qualified as instructors. The privates, as a rule, did not wear uniform, and with the exception of the headquarters staff, the adjutant and the drill-sergeant, none of the officers were directly paid. In 1868, after Confederation, a Militia Act for the whole Dominion was passed, which is virtually the system at present existing, with an active militia and a dormant, or sedentary, militia as a reserve. The Militia Act of 1901 is, however, a more decided step in the direction of a standing army in that it provides for a permanent force of 2,000, increased in 1905 to 5,000 In 1906 a great change was inaugurated in the Militia Act, cutting away the underlying spirit of the original act and depriving it of the old title deeds of a true militia which saved Canada to the British Crown. Up to 1906 the militia consisted of "all male inhabitants of Canada of the age of 18 years and upwards, and under sixty, whereas after that date it is provided that "The male inhabitants between 18 and 60 shall be LIABLE to serve in the militia." As the powers in the Act apply only to the Militia, or to make drafts from such, this change vastly alters its character. (To be continued next issue.)

Bold Raid By Sinn Feiners

(Special to The Guardian.)

LONDON, Sept. 7.— Numerous Sinn Fein raids for the purpose of seizing arms in various parts of Ireland during the week end were reported yesterday. At Belleek in Fermanagh Sinn Feiners disguised as soldiers raided police barracks, overpowered guards and escaped with a large quantity of rifles and ammunitions. The guards were marched to church where the remainder of the garrison was attending services there. They were locked in while the barracks were burned.

DUBLIN, September 7.—Sinn Feiners attacked a military lorry at Balymakars. In the clash that resulted two Sinn Feiners met their death and three were wounded. In the troops guarding the lorry there were no casualties.

Mrs. Brown Can Eat Hearty Now

Never Sits Down at The Table Without Thanking Tanlac For Her Restored Health.

"For the first time in many years I am able to eat a hearty meal without suffering afterwards, and I never can sit down to the table without feeling grateful to Tanlac, "said Mrs. W. R. Brown, of 37 Rottenburg St., Halifax, Nova Scotia, recently.

"Before taking Tanlac I had suffered for four or five years from a bad case of indigestion. My appetite was very poor, and often I would go to the table and just drink a cup of tea and not eat a thing I dared not eat anything at all heavy, as I always suffered agonies afterwards, and in fact after nearly every meal I bloated up with gas and had the sharpest kind of pains in the pit of my stomach. I hardly new it was to be without a headache and had awful spells dizziness, when everything seemed to be swimming around before me,' worried a great deal about my condition and was very nervous and hardly got a good nights sleep. I had so little strength or energy it was all I could do to get any of my housework done at all. I felt tired and wornout all the time and there were times when I got so broken down I just had to take to my bed.

"But thanks to Tanlac all these miseries are past and now I am as well as ever I was in my life. My appetite is splendid and I can eat just anything I want and never suffer from gas or pains of any kind. I never have a headache now or a spell of dizziness. My nerves are steady and sleep soundly every night, never waking up till morning. It's certainly a pleasure to tell of what Tanlac has done for me. From now on I never expect to be without a bottle n the house.

Tanlac is sold in Charlottetown by Reddin Bros., in Montague by H.J. Mabon, J.P. White, Murray River, H M. Chisholm, North Tryon, R.H. Cameron & Co., Crapaud and H. P. Coohon, Murray Harbor.
