S. S. CONVENTION.—The fourteenth Annual Convention of N. W. Queens District S. S. Association was held in the Methodist Church, Pleasant Valley, Aug. 15th. The meetings were presided over by Rev. L. J. Leard, President of the District. Reports from 13 schools were received which totalled a membership of 478 scholars and 62 officers and teachers. In the afternoon session Rev. W. Ross, General Secretary gave many very helpful suggestions on the welfare of the schools, some of them were: Holding Rallies, Keeping the Schools, Evergreen, Missions, Ministers should give more time to the Sunday School. Holding the school sessions immediately after the Regular Service. The greater part of the congregations would thereby be induced to attend school also. The hour of worship to be called earlier for that reason. At the evening meeting the nominating came. Reported the following officers for the ensuing year. President, Rev. L. J. Leard. Re-elected. Vice-President—Mr. Artemas Moffatt. Secy.—Treas.—Hugh F. McKay. Department. Elementary—Mr. D. M. McDonald. Adult—Mr. H. T. Pickering. Teacher Training—Rev. J. H. Jones. Temperance—Mr. Thomas Bertram. Missionary—Mrs. Hammond Tombs. I. B. R. A.—Mr. Artemas Moffatt. The committee on Resolutions submitted the following. Resolved that the delegates tender to the good People of this Community their sincere thanks for their kind hospitality. Resolved that this District Association assembled in annual convention do hereby instruct its incoming Executive Com., to plan for a number of Rallies to be held in the most needy parts of the district during the incoming year with a view to stimulating greater interest in Sunday School Work. Resolved that we express our deep sense of gratitude to our loyal boys who have enlisted to fight our battles in the Titanic struggle, and that we commend them and their relatives and friends to Him who is able to keep and present them harmless in Glory. Resolved that the Pastor of the several congregations in the District be registered to set apart one day in each week for special thought of Sunday School problems and the training and encouraging of the workers. The suggested outline of the plan proposed by Gen. Secy. Ross in the afternoon session being regarded as a practical way of doing this work. Resolved that we extend our sincere thanks to the Pastor, Trustee, and members of this Church for placing it at the disposal of this Convention. Siding addresses were given by Gen. Secy. Ross, and Mr. J. C. Jardine, Prov. Secy. The Secy.'s-Treas Report was read and adopted. Three little girls sang a Little Sunbeam. A very encouraging feature of the convention was the presence at the afternoon and evening of consecrated men and women who have been identified with the work in this District for many years and who by coming a considerable distance at this busy time of haying show by their zeal their heart interest in this most important Branch of the Church Work which cannot fail while fostered by such as they.

PASSING OF THE SAILBOAT.—Chatham World: Sailing craft, except coasting schooners, free disarmed from P. E. Islands ports even more completely than from our own. At Summerside and Charlottetown, which used to have fleets of sailing yachts, a recent visitor from Chatham looked for one in vain. And sails are rapidly disappearing from the fishing fleet also. The gasoline motor has displaced the wind as driving power on the water.

TO VISIT MONCTON.—The Moncton Times says:—There has been considerable uncertainty as to just when the Summerside baseball team would be here to play with the locals, but it has now been decided to have them come here this week, when they will play Friday evening and Saturday afternoon. The local fans are expecting two fast games when these teams clash, as at Summerside the Moncton nine suffered a severe trimming at the hands of the Island aggregation. Arrangements had been underway for games here this week, but at the last minute these fell through.

A PLEA FOR BELGIUM

Sir,—I hope you will grant me space to say a few words about the Belgians still in Belgium. The admirable efforts of the National Committee for Relief in Belgium are going a long way to avert famine, but if the million-and-a-half destitute Belgians are to be kept alive the National Committee must have yet further support. The only conceivable cause of doubt in the matter must lie in a mere weariness in well-doing, produced not by any intellectual difficulty but by such wholly unintellectual things as time and fatigue. I think therefore, the best way of preventing any possible neglect of so great a matter is to repeat once more the great truths upon which rested the whole original claim, not so much on our sympathy as on our common honesty. The simplicity and enormity of the Belgian story can best be set forth, perhaps, in four truisms, all toweringly self-evident.

First, of course, the mere badness of the story is almost too big to be held in the mind. There have been stories of a woman or a child actually robbed of reason for life by the actor of a story of gibbering cruelty done in their presence. There was really a danger of something of the kind paralyzing our protest against the largest and, by the help of God, the last of the crimes of the Prussian Kings. The ontologists might have been struck into a state of gibbering imbecility and even inability, by the full and indefensible finality of the foul stroke. We had no machines that could measure the stunning directness of the blow from hell. We could hardly realize an enormous public act which the actor did not wish to see, but only to execute. Yet such an act was the occupation of Belgium; almost the only act in history for which there was quite simply and literally nothing to be said. Bad history is the whole basis of Prussia; but even in bad history the Prussians could find no excuse and no palliation; and the more intelligent Prussians did not try. A few were so feeble-minded as to say they had found dangerous documents in Brussels, as if what they had done could possibly be excused by things they did not know when they did it. This almost pitiable lapse in argument was, however, covered up by the cleverer Prussians as quickly as might be. They preferred to stand without a rag of reason on their than with such a rag as that. Before we came to the monstrous material assertion of the existing situation in an abstract unreason, but an abstract insanity, which the brain of man must not bear. A nightmare must not abide to the end. The tiniest trace of Prussian victory that remains will make us think of something which is not to be thought of something like the victory of the beasts over mankind.

Second, it must be remembered that this murder has been done upon a people of such proximity and familiarity that there cannot be any mistake about the matter. The only comparative indifference to the wrongs of very remote people: for it is not easy for us to guess how much slavery shocks a negro or cannibalism a cannibal. But the inkeepers and shopkeepers of Ostend felt exactly as the men who were shot by the Indians would feel. We have to imagine a prehistoric cruelty coming suddenly upon a scene which was civilized and almost commonplace. Imagine tigers breaking out of the Zoological Gardens, and eating all the people in Albany Street; imagine Rev. Indians exclaiming at Ostend literally scalping every passer-by from that place to Hammersmith Broadway; imagine Jack the Ripper crowned King of Whitechapel and conducting his executions in broad daylight outside the Tube station at Aldgate; imagine as much an amount of what is violent and contradictory in an over-turn of all modern life by troglodytes; and you are still falling short of this fearful Belgian scene in that familiar Belgian scenery. It is idle to talk of exaggerations or misrepresentations about a case so close to us. Chinese torturers tell us; Siberia may not be so desolate as its fugitives say it is; but we could no more invent such a massacre in Belgium than we could a massacre in Balham. The things of mere something worse than prodigies, worse than nightmares, worse than devils; they are facts.

Third, this people we have heard of daily have endured this unheard of things; and endured it for us. There are countless cases for comparison among the howling and heart-rending by-products of this war; but this is not a case for compassion. This is a case for that mere working minimum of a sense of honour that makes us repay a poor man who has advanced his last penny to post a letter we have forgotten to stamp in that respect Belgium stands alone; and the claims even of other Allies may well stand aside till she is paid to the uttermost farthing. There has been self-sacrifice everywhere else; but it is self-sacrifice of individuals, each for his own country; the Serbians dying for Serbia, or the Italian for Italy. But the Belgian did not merely die for Belgium. Belgium died for Europe. Not only was the soldier sacrificed for the nation; the nation was sacrificed for mankind. It is a sacrifice which I think, quite unique even among Christians; and quite inconceivable among pagans. If we even privately utter a murmur, or even privately grudge a penny for binding the wounds of so solitary and exceptional a martyr, we ourselves shall be something almost as solitary and exceptional. We shall perhaps be nearest to the state of that unspeakable sociologist who persuaded his wife to partake of a simultaneous suicide; and then himself cheerfully lived on.

Fourth: If there is anyone on this earth who does not find the final success of such crime more than the mind can bear; if there is anyone who does not feel it as the more graphic since it walks among the tramway lines and lamp-posts of a life like our own; if

NO INFORMATION OF CANADIANS SAILING.

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—The militia authorities have no information that the second Canadian contingent has left England, and do not attach any importance to the despatches of the New York Tribune that the contingent sailed last Wednesday.

As far as the officials here know the Canadians are still in England. However, movements of troops are being kept very dark at the present time and the report might be correct.

I therefore plead for further help for the Members of the National Committee who have taken this duty upon themselves. All subscriptions can be addressed to the Treasurer at Trafalgar Buildings, Trafalgar Square, London, or Local Committees where they have been formed.

MISCHIEF MAKER.

Now Strong and Robust.

An adult's food that can save a baby from itself to be nourished and easily digested and good for big and little folks. An Eastern man says: "When our baby was about eleven months old he began to grow thin and pale. This was attributed to the heat and the fact that his teeth were coming, but, in reality, the poor little thing was starving, his mother's milk not being sufficient nourishment."

"One day after he had cried bitterly for an hour, I suggested that my wife try him on Grape-Nuts. She soaked two teaspoonfuls in a half cup of warm water for 5 or 6 minutes. Then poured out the liquid and to it added a like amount of rich milk and a little sugar. This baby ate ravenously."

"It was not many days before he forgot all about being nursed, and has since lived almost exclusively on Grape-Nuts. Today the boy is strong and robust, and as cute a mischief maker as a thirteen months old baby is expected to be."

"Use this letter any way you wish, for my wife and I can never praise Grape-Nuts enough after the brightness it has brought to the household. Grape-Nuts is not made for a baby food, but experience with thousands of babies shows it to be among the best, if not entirely the best in use. Being a scientific preparation of Nature's grains, it is equally effective as a body and brain builder for grown-ups. There's a Reason."
