Sarsaparilla For a Time Like This. After Influenza, the Grip. When purified blood, rebuilt strength and regulated bowels are essential. In the after-effects of influenza, the grip and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla has remarkable health-helping effect. It expels the poisons that have weakened and depleted the blood, causing pallor, anemia, flabby flesh and lax muscles. It is the standard blood remedy with a successful record of nearly fifty years. Many people-it is really astonishing how many-need a fine, gentle, easy cathartic in these trying times. We recommend Hood's Pills, used in the best families, and equally effective with delicate women or robust men.

McDONALD IN THE HARDEST OF FIGHT (GLOUCESTER TIMES)

Sergeant Roland T. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roderick McDonald of Gloucester formerly of Newport Lot 54 P. E. I. has returned from overseas and of all the Gloucester boys in the war none have a record any more thrilling than this well known young man who was in France for 18 months with the United States Marine Corps. He served with the 23rd company of the 6th Machine Gun Battalion, and was twice wounded, once by a "minnie-whever," and the second time by phosgene and chlorine gas.

Sergeant McDonald's foreign service record is one to be proud of. He enlisted in the Marines three years, nine and a half months ago and all but four months of that time he has served outside of the United States. Except for the first month he was in the outfit, every pay check but the last one has been drawn in foreign service. He has served in Haiti, San Domingoes, Cuba, Mexico and other places, where the Marines have been sent to quell outbreaks of disorder. At Haiti about two years ago he was cut in the wrist by a knife huried at him by a rebel outlaw.

In the Big Game

In the world war, Sergeant McDonald left the States in the first convoy on June 12, 1917. From the latter part of June until March, 1918, the Marines occupied back areas, principally around Verdun. He went into the front lines in March and from then until October, he saw fighting and plenty of it. He was with the Marines at Belleau Woods in June when the outfit sustained 7825 casualties out of 8900 men engaged. It was during that engagement that he was wounded in the leg by a "minnie-whever." The wound was a slight one, and he soon returned to duty, only to get a good dose of phosgene and chlorine gas and at times he is still bothered by burns breaking out on his feet. He was also involved in an explosion at this time and escaped miraculously when a Heinie shell struck an ammunition dump, and blew him several feet into the air, and then almost completely buried him. He escaped with only a strained back.

Receives Several Decorations

Sergeant McDonald possesses a Croix de Guerre with a palm awarded to the surviving Marines of the Belleau Wood engagement and also wears a sharpshooter's medal and a service ribbon for his previous foreign service and wound sustained in Haiti. He also wears three gold service chevrons on his left arm and two gold wound chevrons on his right arm. He can tell numerous thrilling tales of his long siege in France and in South American Republics. He said outside of the Prussians, he would rather fight the Germans than some of the treacherous natives. The Prussians were awfully dirty and tricky, but the Bavarians and Saxons were not so bad, although he was nearly always up against the Prussians.

Sergeant McDonald was out of the front lines when the armistice was signed. He returned to his country on the U. S. S. North Carolina and arrived in New York on January 6. He has been home for several days and was warmly greeted by his family and many friends. He arrived home unexpectedly as his parents did not know he was in the States.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from T. J. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

-FARMERS CLUB MEET.-Grahams Road Farmers' Club met on Thursday evening, February 13th at its regular meeting with a fair attendance. Their Secretary, T. Wigmore gave a lengthy talk on the advantages of every community having a well organized "Farmers' Club" and strongly urged that regular meetings would in future be held. Farmers must get together said he and talk their own business and do more of their own business and adjust ourselves to the conditions we are bound to face in this re-construction period. Next meeting will be held in the hall on Thursday evening February, 20th, subject "Economic Finance." Everybody welcome.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

Mrs W. D. Johnson, Peter's Road, P. E. I. Dear Madam:-On behalf of Cambridge Lodge, No.112 I. O. G. T. we desire to convey to you our sincere sympathy on the death of your beloved husband who has been called away to his heavenly home. Your departed husband was a young man of sterling character, and a faithful member of Cambridge lodge, and while able to attend took a strong interest in the principles for which our Order stands. We shall miss him in our community as one who took an active interest in everything that was for the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ. May God in His infinite wisdom, who doeth all things for the best, console and comfort you in your sad bereavement, for He promised to be a Father to the fatherless and a husband to the widow; and may you look forward to the time when you and your little boy may meet him in that heavenly home, where there is no more parting, and where no sorrow enters. Please do not think this letter formal, but a fervent expression of sympathy from every member of the Lodge.

Complications Face Canadian Liberals

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.-A crisis deep and complicated faces the Liberal party in Canada, according to students of public affairs here. The death of Sir Wilfrid will compel attention to the future of the party and the result whatever it is, will affect the course of national development. It is by no means merely an issue of who will lead the party, although that is important. The problem goes deeper than that involving the question, under scrutiny in other countries too. What is the place of Liberalism today? what are its functions? can it maintain itself, and how, in Canada as in Great Britain?

The problem for the Liberal party, here is still further complicated by reason of the fact that the party has just recently experienced a severe "split" and that many of its leading men have been estranged from it whether temporarily or permanently will be apparent sooner than if the crisis of Sir Wilfrid's death had not occurred at this time.

YORK SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

An interesting event which took place in York School on January 29, was the semi-annual examination of the pupils. With the trustees a large number of parents and visitors were present. The schoolroom presented an attractive appearance in its holiday dress of evergreens entwined with trimmings of red and white, the colors of the School Club. The pupils were examined by their popular and efficient teacher, Miss Gladys Crawford, assisted by the parents, and their ready answers showed that good work is being done. Following this, an enjoyable programme was rendered by the pupils, showing to advantage their natural ability in this direction, and certainly meriting the applause given them. One feature worthy of mention here, is that the chair was occupied by one of the pupils Master Harry Vessey, President of the School Club who filled his position with an ease and dignity worthy of more advanced years. Prizes were won by Ivan Vessey, Doris Brown and Wendall Vessey for proficiency in arithmetic. Remarks were made by the visitors congratulating teacher and pupils on the satisfactory progress of and evident enthusiasm in the school work. A treat of candy at the close was much appreciated, and, after singing the National Anthem a most successful examination was brought to a close.
