

Abegweits Defeat Victorias 8 to 2

"BY TEC"
Condition, hockey brains and a well timed and co-ordinated attack, especially in the first two sessions of a hectic hockey game at the Arena last night, earned the Abegweits a popular verdict over the Victorias by an overwhelming score of 8 to 2 in the second game of the Prince Edward Island Hockey League.

The appearance of Williams and McEachern on the ice last night seemed to clinch the argument for the Victorias before Referee Diamond's whistle sounded the face-off, but there is many the slip 'twixt the cup and the lip, and this proved proverbially so in the case of the above mentioned fixture.

The Abegweits on the tap of the gong reported progress, with the result that before the fans got settled in their seats, Spillet, heady and scintillating defence man, rang the bell after Gordon carried and passed in the nick of time to beat both Williams and McEachern between the posts. It took half a minute to complete a perfect advance.

The offensive launched and the successive number of goals scored is a long, long story. The red and black clan on the short end of an early league schedule were determined to give their all—and behind the experienced coaching of Fred Moore, piled up an early lead of 6 counts to nothing in the opening stanzas and virtually clinching the game.

At no time during the sixty minutes of play were the Victorias a threatening factor; they seemed to be an aggregation in a daze, the victims of a kaleidoscopic whirl of hockey, that not only took their breaths away, but dumbfounded the spectators as well.

On the other hand the Vics demonstrated good team work and fine hockey last night, but consistency was lacking in the extreme. Williams was great, but tied up at all times; McEachern was over-anxious and Diamond in the nets had 38 shots to handle against 19 for McEwen in the red and black curtains.

The front line of the blue and white excelled themselves in stick-handling, but attention to business on the part of Abegweit puck chasers broke up every fast skating and passing advance attempted.

Williams and McEachern were marked puck chasers on the Vic line last evening, "Chick" managed two direct shots on the cage last evening while McEachern, famous for rebound registers, did not get the semblance of a chance. It looked very much to the writer, as a case of over-confidence on the part of the blue and white, and determination plus great hockey ability and coaching on the part of the Abegweits.

Never have the fans seen such an opening period as that which was unleashed last night. The pace set by the Abegweits was fast and phantom-like; Diamond in the Vic cage was working—and working hard before the first whistle was heard, but an open defence against clever stickhandling and passing could not stand the strain.

The Vics, although having a band of die hunters equal to any team on the Island, could not seem to get together. Their offensive only demoralized their attack, and when things looked bright a sad awakening arose in the form of a well placed poke-check, which started a general advance culminating in a score or a bad fright.

From a press-box viewpoint, it looks as if the Prince Edward Island Hockey League is going to be a battle—and a herculean struggle before a representative flag is hoisted to the top of the staff.

Individually, the shining lights in last evening's set-to were—Prowse, Saunders, Spillet, and McLellan of the Abegweits, and Williams, "Dempsey" Diamond, Nicholson and Melvin Diamond of the Victorias. McEachern seemed over-anxious and out of place last night, but this may have been due to the qui vive attitude of his opponents. At any rate he was spared every time he made a move—and he moved often.

THE SCORES

First Period

Spillet, Abbes, scored half minute of play after Gordon carried for a solo. Abbes, 1; Vics, 0. McLellan, Abbes, counted for the Abegweits nine and one half minutes later on a rebound from Prowse's stick. Half minute later, McLellan, playing a whole of a game scored number three for the Abegweits on a solo, after hurdling "Dempsey" Diamond. Vic defence man, Number four came when Earl Prowse flashy winger repeated a lone hand with two of his team-mates in "sinners' avenue." It was a great exhibition of stickhandling.

Second Period

The red and black made it five to nil when Spillet, after eight minutes of play negotiated the entire ice surface to again beat the Vic custodian. Saunders duplicated the same stunt three minutes later. Abegweits, 6; Vics, 0.

Third Period

"Dempsey" Diamond broke the age-old goose-egg in fourteen minutes on a shot from centre ice; the puck camouflaged off McLellan's glove to lodge behind McEwen. Saunders of the Abegweits evened up one half minute later on another great endeavor.

On the resumption of play a mix-up occurred in front of the Vic net. Diamond, Vic goalie, hard pushed and perhaps overheated, took a punch at Murnaghan, who lifted a threatening stick on an oversteer into the net. Murnaghan took a brief count and whiffs, prostrate was pushed by McEachern; both went to the penalty box.

Gillis, on the face-off counted for the Vics second and last goal. The following was the line-up:

Abegweits	Goal	Victorias
McEwen	Defence	M. Diamond
McLellan	Williams
Spillet	McDonald
	E. Diamond
	Forwards
Gordon	McEachern
Prowse	Gillis
Saunders	Nicholson
Cox	A. Doucette
Elandhard	B. Dolton
Referee—S. Diamond.

A vagrant was given sixty days in jail and a woman charged with theft, remanded from the first of the week had her case further adjourned.

PRESENTATION—On New Year's eve thirty in number of the choir and congregation of the Baptist and United Presbyterian Church of Bonshaw gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Hickox, the occasion being to do honor to Mrs. S. Hickox, organist of both churches. Address of appreciation was read by Mr. J. J. McLeod and Mrs. S. Hickox was presented with a well filled purse by Mrs. C. Crosby. Mrs. Hickox in a few words thanked all for their gift and kind words of appreciation. Lunch was then served by the young ladies, when the rest of the evening was spent in games and social chat when the party wended their way home, after spending a very pleasant evening.

ABOUT THE FLU—When you get the flu, says the Huron Expositor, go to bed and stay there for your own good and the good of the community. The argument, the Toronto Star thinks, is pressed too far. "A man with the flu has enough trouble without being asked to think of himself as a pest who ought to stay in bed for the good of the community. The plea would be more persuasive if that part of it were kept dark. Just tell a man it is for his own good, so that his valuable life will be preserved and his important recovery hastened. When a man isn't well it is advisable to jolly him."

Week of Prayer Service at St. James Church

The Week of Prayer Services were continued last night in St. James, this being the final meeting. There was a goodly attendance. The Rev. Mr. Muir, pastor of St. James presided; with him on the platform were Adjutant Martin, Rev. Ross Eaton and Dr. Ramsay. Mr. Methven was at the organ and was supported by members of the church choir, one of whom—Miss MacDonald—sang an appropriate solo. Mr. Muir read the Scripture and Messrs Eaton and Martin led in prayer. The address was given by Dr. Ramsay.

The speakers subject was Education for the Kingdom of God as carried on in the home, church and school. He stressed the necessity of homes built on the right conception of marriage, which is a spiritual union of two persons who are complimentary to each other—a union the inspiration and bond of which is love. Selfishness and world-mindedness are the two enemies of marriage felicity. The desire to be lovable and the presence of the God of love are its two defenders. In the house of love the children grow up into sweet and beautiful characters. The characters of the children are the crystallization of the atmosphere of the home.

The church has its place in education. The Lords Command to "Feed my lambs" must be obeyed first. This work must come first before worship. And to feed them is first to love and then to instruct them. In religion instruction cannot properly be separated from practice. Children are to be apprentices in religious things, as the farmer lad learns to farm by working at it with his father, so the children of the church learn to love the Father by serving Him in love, and their neighbor by doing service to their neighbors.

The speaker touched on our educational system in this province, deploring the fact that facilities do not exist for all our boys and girls who desire to get a complete high school education, a state of things which should not be longer tolerated. Then he went on to say that the religious principle cannot be shut out of education, for it is the only adequate principle for the unifying of personality, to command the mind, the heart, the will and the conscience. The consequence of divorcing religion and education in America is the rise of a new denomination, the secular which is the largest in that Nation. We have followed the cue of America in the schools, and the secular universities, as ideals in education, have also had their influence. But the founders of the free universities in this country left religion, and the culture associated with Palestine, not only because of exigencies of the circumstances, not because they did not believe in christianity.

The address was thought-provoking, and we hope will be productive of good. At the close, Mr. Muir spoke of the early departure of Mr. Eaton from our city, where he has been a faithful minister and good citizen, to Brandon, Manitoba, and the good wishes of all follow him and may the blessing of Heaven crown his labors.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—It is expected that the claims of the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada to lands in the United States roughly estimated at $4,000,000,000 will be drawn up in a memorial for presentation to King George through the medium of the British Government. The executive of the Association will meet shortly when final arrangements regarding the petition will be made.

Five thousand recently took the examination for teachers' certificates in the Irish Free State. Nearly 24,000,000 square meters of lass are being produced each month in Belgium.

colony, and, as recompense for these grants, which deprived the Island of all public lands, the colonial office paid the salary of the Governor.

Among the causes, which made the Island slow about coming into the Union was her isolated position, cut off as she was from the mainland in winter time. Then, her trade was not so much with Canada as it was with other States. Moreover, Canada, as it then was, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia had large debts, and, until 1876, there was no railway communication between the Maritimes and Upper and Lower Canada.

In April, 1864, the Island Legislature adopted a resolution appointing five delegates to consider a union between the three Maritime provinces. There was no enthusiasm for this on the Island, and when the delegates from the three colonies met in Charlottetown, our delegates insisted that this city should be the capital of the proposed United Colony, so the scheme fell through.

However a ship with representative men came down from Canada to Charlottetown, while this conference was sitting and as a result we sent seven delegates to Quebec to consider the larger union. The Island delegates voted against the financial provisions offered them, which were not at all satisfactory. When the proposal was submitted to the Island Legislature, met with an overwhelming defeat, four of the five members voting for it being delegates to Quebec.

But other considerations tended to force the Island into union. The Imperial Government was apprehensive of war with the United States at the time, and used pressure to bring the Union about. They cut off the grant for the salary of the Lieutenant Governor, and the Colonial Minister directed him to tell the Legislature that the proposed union was much to be desired.

The Island Government, still repudiated union and in October, 1870 began paying the Governor's salary, at the time when Governor Robertson took office. The Premier of Canada, (Sir John A. Macdonald) then took a hand in the game, and sent a letter to the Governor General, representing to him the necessity of the Island joining the union for the safety and welfare of Canada. Following on this much better terms were offered by the Government of Canada, in December, 1869.

The terms of December, 1869, were however rejected by the Liberal Government which came into power the following summer. This was followed by a coalition, Lieut-Governor Robertson, called first on Mr. Pope, then on Mr. Haviland to form a government under the express condition that the terms offered by Canada be accepted, if none better could be secured. But, Mr. Pope would not consent to this, and Mr. Haviland found it would be useless to try to. So Mr. Pope was recalled, and given a free hand. The Railway was built and for this purpose a loan was obtained from a local bank, which finding itself in difficulties, as regards the sale of the bonds, which it had received for funds, communicated with Sir John Rose in London, a former Canadian Finance Minister, who advised union with Canada.

Although the financial condition of the Island was in good shape, the pressure of that nervous bank president caused negotiations to be reopened with the result that after the governor had gone out of office, in the issue the Island entered the union.

Judge Stewart then enumerated the bad results to the trade and industry of the province as a result of this union. Cloth factories, brick kilns, lime kilns, cooper shops, grist mills, carding mills, flax manufacturing all had gone, and only a few small repair shops were left.
