HARBOR OPEN

Congratulations to Captain Murchison on opening Charlottetown Harbor at this comparatively early date! The entry is somewhat later than that of last year but the conditions prevailing throughout the winter were much severer than those of last year and the opening of the harbor was accomplished at as early a date, as could be expected, earlier indeed than many had hoped for.

The opening of the harbor is an event always looked forward to and always warmly welcomed not only by the citizens but by the province at large as it means greater facilities for the movement of freight, for travel and for the mail service. It could easily have been delayed for another week or more had it not been for the careful watching of conditions by Captain Murchison who was ready to seize the opportunity, as soon as it presented itself. Some difficulty was experienced it is true, but the good ship Earl Grey was equal to the task and her magnificent negotiation of the difficult task was seen and admired by many citizens as she steamed up through the heavy harbor ice.

It is hoped that little further difficulty will be met with and that in a few days the Earl Grey will be joined by her sister ship, the Minto.

THE STREETS

The streets in Charlottetown are, generally speaking, in as good condition during the greater part of the year, as those perhaps in any city in Canada. During the other part of the year—that is about NOW they are anything but creditable.

The winter's accumulation of filth has lain undisturbed on our streets since the snow left, with the result that the streets are too filthy even to drive on comfortably and the crossings are scarcely fordable. The sidewalks are perfectly clean and if a little attention were paid to the crossings a "walk around the city" would be a pleasure. At present it is positively painful.

Apart from the unsightliness and the inconvenience there is the question of healthfulness. The filth on the streets, now in a fluid state, will eventually dry up to be blown as dust into our stores and residences, to be breathed by all who venture abroad and to be a general nuisance and a menace to health.

While in a semi-fluid condition this filth can be removed without difficulty and, what is more important, without danger to the health of the citizens. It has been pointed out by medical authorities that the frequent epidemics which occur in spring and early summer are the direct result of windblown dust formed from the accumulation of filth which has lain frozen on the streets all winter. It would be little short of criminal to leave this mass of filth even to partially dry up before being removed; it would be nothing short of it to leave it to dry up and be blown about the streets and into the homes and stores.

Unfortunately Charlottetown is not properly equipped for handling nuisances of this kind. The only way to cope with the mud nuisance at present is to employ men with shovels, and have it slowly, and only partially, removed during a period extending over several days. Some means more in keeping with this progressive age should be adopted. A rotary sweeper, which could be bought for a modest amount, would be found not only more effective but cheaper than the manual labor now employed. Moreover, by means of a proper rotary, the street cleaning process could be kept up during the summer and the inconvenience, damage and danger to health caused by the dust nuisance, could be avoided. In the meantime the streets should be cleaned up at once, beginning with the crossings, so as to enable people to move around without unnecessary wading.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

According to a report from Edmonton, Alberta, thirty-five thousand men and women and pupils in the public and parochial schools, or half of the population, will take part in the annual spring cleaning and city beautification week, beginning the morning of May 4. The City Beautiful Committee of the Edmonton Industrial Association, which is composed of over six hundred active business and professional men, will have charge of co-operation with the Public Works Department in cleaning several hundred miles of paved and graded streets and lanes, and the ground on vacant properties will be ploughed and seeded to grass, grasses, root crops, and flowers and shrubbery adapted to that part of the country. The horticultural society also will assist. The committee having charge of the work will encourage the painting of houses and the repairing of walks and fences wherever necessary, and assist residents in all parts of the city in beautifying their places. It is expected that the mayor will proclaim a public holiday during the week, so that all may assist in the work. The western city is setting an example that might very well be followed in other towns and cities.

AN EXPLANATION

Sir,—In reference to an article appearing in your paper of the 26th inst. entitled "Mystery Surrounds Disappearance," I wish to state that although vague in exact details of identification, yet, in the main points, sufficient information is offered to make the case applicable to that of the writer. For the information of the public generally I wish to make the following explanatory remarks through your paper, (my parents, already, having been advised by letter.)

I may say that I am quite well, and living with a decent, respectable class of people in a rural part of this Island and am happy to say that I still retain my mental equilibrium despite the fact that the contents of my cranium were called into question.

Now Sir, I think a great deal of this unnecessary uproar has been caused by injudicious reflections upon my sanity and I venture to say that if any person capable of passing judgment in this respect, were to compare my accuser and myself as we both sat in his house the odds would be in his favor in getting a place among the demented. The fact that he has been so ready to pass unfavorably upon my intelligence reflects to that extent upon his own.

It is my intention to call upon you within a day or two and give you fuller particulars, but I trust in the meantime you will give this letter the same prominence accorded the article referred to in your paper of the 25th.

short courses in agriculture, the domestic science courses, the egg classes, seed fairs and exhibitions which form part of this campaign. And much more might still be said, for a veritable revolution is in progress and the province is feeling the throbs of a new life in its greatest calling, as a result of the campaign.

Interwoven with the question of advanced agriculture is that of rural conditions, the manner of living throughout the province, the inducements that are to keep the young people on the farms, the means to be employed in stemming the stream that has so long been flowing from country to city and has not yet wholly ceased. This phase of the subject requires much attention for it is equally important with, and forms part of agricultural education.

It is important to know that, with a little more care and better selection of seed, the production of field crops in the province could be increased two or three hundred per cent. This has been tested on a sufficiently large scale to prove its possibility. It is important to know that agriculture as a calling is one of the most remunerative and most honorable callings that it is possible to engage in. This also has been abundantly proven, as many of our farmers can testify.

It is equally important to make farm life and conditions in the country so attractive that the young will seek rather than shun them. City life is said to be attractive but it is not the glare and the glitter of city life that is attracting the young people to the cities but the dullness and rigidity of life in the country.

This dullness and rigidity are disappearing to a very large extent and many rural communities in our province today compare more than favorably with the city in social pleasure and in means of entertainment. Country clubs, Farmers' Institutes, Women's Institutes and organizations of various kinds contribute to the making of conditions which possess all the attractiveness of the city without its innumerable handicaps.

Dr. George Creelman in an address before the Canadian Club in Toronto the other day dealing with this subject, made a vigorous appeal for better roads, for rural playgrounds, for centres of entertainment, for electric energy on the farm and for a freer, fuller and happier life in the rural communities.

He set the honor and dignity of a good cook against a poor artist or a commonplace musician and argued for a better adaptation of the schools to rural needs and conditions and to the activities in which children of the farm must engage. He pleaded for co-operation among farmers, for mutual confidence, for common effort to increase the profits of agriculture.

It is only through such co-operation, through the mutual helpfulness of all that country life can be redeemed from the unattractiveness which custom has imposed upon it, and it is pleasing to note that this spirit of co-operation is making progress, largely through the influence of the organizations recently formed. The good work should be extended as soon as possible to places not yet reached and eventually our whole province will become in reality as well as in name a "garden" in which it will be pleasant to dwell.

Disappearance," I wish to state that although vague in exact details of identification, yet, in the main points, sufficient information is offered to make the case applicable to that of the writer. ST. PATRICK'S DAY IN TIGNISH.

St. Patrick's Day has always been duly observed and fittingly celebrated in Tignish owing chiefly to the fact, that it contains a flourishing branch of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Although the weather was inclement and the roads in a very bad condition, a very large number of people attended at Mass. The members of the local branch of the A.O.H. marched from the Hall to the Church under the efficient direction of Mr. J. Albert Brennan. Mass was sung by Fr. D. M. McDonald and Fr. Stephen McDonald of Campbellton preached the sermon. He said it was always the custom of the church to honor her heroes and her prelates, and that none of her many heroes is worthy of more praise than St. Patrick the Patron Saint of Ireland.

In continuation of the custom of former years an entertainment was given in Tignish Hall in the evening. Despite the inclemency of the weather there was a very large attendance and the receipts were very satisfactory. The chief feature of the programme was a comedy in three acts entitled "A Gay Deceiver". There is always a great difference of opinion in regard to a play, but, judging from the marked applause accorded the different actors, and subsequent comments this play seems to have pleased the entire audience. Some even went so far as to say that it was one of the best staged plays ever seen in Tignish. The following is a brief synopsis of the play:—Florrie Boomer daughter of Gen. Boomer, elopes with Randolph Dearborn and they are closely followed by one irate father. They go to Judge Hessel to be married but find that a license is necessary. While they are gone to procure one the General arrives and he and the Judge recognizes each other as old friends. When Randolph returns the Judge offers for a consideration to pacify Gen. Boomer and obtain his consent to the marriage. He finds out that Randolph has no relations and decides to supply him with parents. He works up Rev. Stiggins and Miss Lucretia Spriggins, an elderly schoolma'am into a plot to personate the parents. The Judge introduces them to the Gen. and success is about to crown his efforts when Mrs. Swatton denounces the conspiracy. Gen. Boomer decides that Florrie must marry and offers her to Judge Hessel. He jumps at the offer and goes to Boomer's villa to pay his court. For the purpose of playing a prank on the Judge, Florrie masquerades as her cousin Bill and the Judge is completely taken in. Having heard that Dearborn has arrived for a stolen interview with Florrie he suggests that Bill should dress up to represent his cousin and fool his rival. To carry the joke to its limit he marries Dearborn and the supposed "Bill." The Gen. returns from town finds that the marriage is valid and makes the best of a bad job.

Miss Mary Kinch as Florrie Boomer took her part splendidly and certainly showed by her every movement that she had much experience in theatrical. Miss Hannah Olobosev in the role of Mrs. Swatton reflected much credit on herself and added another to her long list of successes on stage. Miss Mary Gavin in her first appearance on the stage deserves much credit for her splendid personation of Miss Lucretia Spriggins. In her antiquated styles she certainly looked the part of an elderly spinster. Mr. Leo Gilligan as Judge Hessel, J. R. did his part very creditably. Mr. J. Albert Brennan both looked and acted the part of Boomer an excellent general of the Confederate Army. Mr. Brennan is an old actor having been closely associated with amateur theatricals in Tignish for twenty years or more. As present stage manager he deserves much credit for the success of the play. Mr. Albert O'Connor took the part of Randolph Dearborn, the ardent lover in a manner which elicited much applause. Mr. William DesRoches in his personation of Guy McGuffin one of the leading characters in the play, acted himself in a manner that would satisfy the most fastidious. Mr. Oswald Foley took the part of Rev. Ezra Stiggins in a manner that could not be excelled. Other features of the entertainment worthy of special mention were a recitation by Miss Gertrude McElroy, and a song by Mr. Sylvère Richard. Both were encored and received much well-merited applause. Excellent music was rendered during the intervals by the Tignish Orchestra. The singing of the National Anthem brought the entertainment to a close.

FOX AND FUR COMPANIES
ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

FARMER, EASTERN KING: Thought it better to write rather than keep you waiting. The proposition is sound and well backed.

ENQUIRER, UNION ROAD: The capital is $20,000, the company is incorporated by letters patent; there are seven pairs of crosses valued at $8,500; and the prospects are said to be good.

G. B. CRAPAUD: None better, so far as we can see.

CLERK, SUMMERSIDE: If you can afford to let the principal lie all right, but we don't think people with small means should tie up their all in the way you suggest.

J. P. HAMILTON, ONT: The prospects are excellent, and you need not hesitate for a moment.

O. B. ATKINSON, NEB: We are sending you the literature you desire, but cannot select a particular company for your investment. Pick out one or two of the companies that take your fancy, and we will supply you with the necessary particulars.

N. R. CHARLOTTETOWN: On the best authority we are assured the company will pay one hundred per cent this year.

J. D. ALBERTA: The company is sound, some of the best people are connected with it.

T. R., TORONTO: (1) Yes. (2) Yes. The chances are all in your favour now. A few 1914 companies are still selling their stock at par.

FOX DIV: Not till the fall. The earliest dividends will be declared about September, though the earnings will in all probability be known before then.

T. J., ST. JOHN: Have mailed you prospectus which will give you the information you desire. The directors are men of standing, and the forces of the best stock.

INVESTOR, TRURO: Any of the Fox Exchanges here will buy the shares for you. You will see Fox Exchange advertisements in our present issue.

U. S. I. BERLIN: His reputation is the highest, and he is thoroughly reliable.

APPRECIATION

That the work of the ice boat crews under such trying circumstances as on Saturday, March 21st, is appreciated by one who was a passenger on the boat on that day, is shown by the following letter with a cheque for $10 enclosed.

To Capt. W. M. Allen, C. Tormentine.

Dear Sir,—I take much pleasure in enclosing $10.00 as a small mark of my personal appreciation of the efforts on behalf of yourself and the ice boat crews that shared the difficulties and hardships encountered in the attempt to cross Northumberland Strait on Saturday last with me. I can assure you that both the conduct of yourself and the crews that took part in bringing the boats to a safe landing after a struggle with such difficult conditions, was much appreciated and will always be remembered.

THE SHAMROCK AND THE ROSE.

As a fitting close of the celebration of St. Patrick's the Amateur Dramatic Club of Morrell presented in the hall of that place the drama entitled "The Shamrock and the Rose." Although the roads on that evening were almost impassable yet the people managed to get there from far and near, and when the curtain rose at 7.30 it was witnessed by a hall full of people, taxed to its utmost capacity. From start to finish the play was well presented each of the actors and actresses doing their part in a creditable manner, surpassing all criticism. The drama was beautifully declaimed by a number of songs between each act.

The following was the cast of characters:

Squire Fitzgerald—Ernie Rossiter.
Rose Fitzgerald, the squire's daughter—Annie E. McKenzie.
Shaun Carey, (spy), Frank Jay.
Barney O'Grady, the Irishman—Ralph Dingwell.
Ileen O'Rourke, Barney's sweetheart—Katie M. Clarkin.
Mono—Isabel Leslie.
John Fulton (Barney's lover)—Lieut. Rossiter.
The Irish girl, who with Mr. Ralph Dingwell was Barney O'Grady, was the cause of most of the fun and also of Miss Annie E. McKenzie who played the part of Rose Fitzgerald, John Desmond's sweetheart and may be classed foremost among the good amateur actors. All the different parts were heartily applauded and from start to finish the play was one which held the attention of every one of the large audience present, humor being interspersed among the more tragic and dramatic parts keeping every person in a happy and excellent mood and when the curtain dropped on the last act it ended a play which each participant has every reason to feel proud of and to congratulate themselves for the high standard of acting they attained on St. Patrick's night. The proceeds, which amounted to $100 are in aid of a new skating rink.
