A BAR.

Charles Raymond, a writer in the Toronto Daily Star, who has some very terse and well put items at times, gives the following on the Bar:

I stood before a door and read upon it in gilded letters the one word, "Bar." As I read a man pushed open the door, and staggered out, fell upon his face on the pavement. When he rose a thin red stream trickled down his cheek. He fumbled for his handkerchief, and the blood stained it, and dyed his hands. It was the blood of a sacrifice offered up at the shrine of the bar.

A Bar! Yes, well named, a bar to happiness, for what happiness is there in a mind that is distorted, and a face that is bloody?

A Bar! Yes, to good society, for who wants a drunken man? He is not welcome at the theatre, club or concert. He is a nuisance as he reels the street; he is a trouble at home.

A Bar! Yes, drunken man, there is a bargain to you in the very hotel where you bought the liquor and got full. You are not wanted there for you are a bad advertisement, for who is the hotel man who will point to you and say: "That is my make." "That is my customer," "That is a product of my brand?"

A Bar! Well named, well put, short, pithy and to the point, bar. Bar to a position of trust, to an increase of power, to the full confidence of the employer and a better using of time. A bar to good, to the white life, to the strong life and well rounded character.

A Bar! Yes, see it, the bottles behind, the rill in front, and the row of worshippers offering themselves soul and body at the shrine.

A Bar! Yes, a bar to decency, to right judgment.

A Bar! The rent is behind, the grocer is unpaid and the money is blown, but what odds "Have another."

A Bar! Yes, to all that makes for man's best interests and the development of his higher nature, to that character that is the only thing that will stand the wreck of time.

A Bar! How short, terse, and expressive. Yes, but not a bar to a hell on earth and hell hereafter.

Saving Teeth is Dentistry

Everyone has seen the sunken cheeks and marred appearance of the faces of those who have lost their teeth. Beauty, a thing so much desired is often destroyed by the ruthless use of the forceps, and health a priceless treasure, is often lost from the extraction or decay of the teeth. Everyone knows of it, if they have not experienced, the tortures of indigestion arising from the improper mastication of food dependent on the loss of the teeth. SAVE YOUR TEETH! Because a tooth is decayed or aching is no reason why it should be extracted. By proper treatment it can be restored to health to do the work nature intended it for. Give your teeth attention before it is too late. Remember SAVING TEETH IS OUR SPECIALTY. All work done in the most durable and most up-to-date manner. A Ten Year Written Guarantee with all work.
