BUYS QUARTER MILLION.—At the Board of Trade Meeting Monday, Mr. Garfield Ross of Eidon remarked on the difficulty of keeping local industries going at the present time. Price competition was the serious difficulty. His firm bought a quarter of a million feet of lumber annually from Belfast District, not a half as appeared.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Simpson, Cavendish, presented a festive appearance on the evening of March 17, when neighbors and friends gathered to honor Miss Margaret Lowther and Mr. Keith Webb with a miscellaneous shower. The young couple who were seated in a prettily decorated double chair, received many useful gifts and a purse accompanied by an address. In spite of the inclement weather all was merry as a wedding bell. After a dainty luncheon and the bouncing of several of the guests the party wended their homeward way, wishing the young couple a happy voyage on the sea of matrimony.

Recollections of Early Summerside Presby. Church

Last Sunday the Presbyterian Church at Summerside celebrated its 68th anniversary. This Sunday the minister, Rev. Mr. Jeans, spoke to the congregation of the early history of the church at Summerside, touching upon several points and paying a very high tribute to the pioneer ministers and congregations, some of whom are still living and worshipping in this present sanctuary.

He chose for his text part of the 22nd verse of I Chron. chap. 4 "And there are ancient things."

At the outset of his remarks he made a touching reference to the late T. D. Ramsay and Wm. McMurdo, who have recently passed away and who had been life long members of the church. He also referred to the splendid work of the late Dr. Dill, a former pastor from 1894 to 1898 and mentioned that at the morning service a resolution had been passed by the session that a record be placed on the minutes of the church, of the appreciation of his services.

The speaker then read an extract from the Home and Foreign Record of the Presbyterian Church of the Lower Provinces of British North America of 1865 which gave an account of the opening of the Presbyterian Church at Summerside, written by Rev. R. S. Paterson. Besides other details it mentioned that Rev. W. R. Frame was the morning speaker and Rev. Isaac Murray of Cavendish, the evening preacher.

Rev. Mr. Jeans spoke of the work of Rev. R. S. Paterson as one of the most outstanding in the Presbyterian ministry on Prince Edward Island, with 56 years of unbroken service—from 1826 to 1882—at Bedeque.

Presbytery asking that Summerside be made a separate charge. This was granted and in spite of many difficulties has continued to flourish. Many of the Elders of the pioneer church were parents of the present congregation, and to this congregation and the future generations has been left the sacred charge of carrying on the work so well begun by their forefathers.

Other interesting facts were: the donation of the beautiful pipe organ by Bruce McKelvie in 1896 and the building of the Sunday School in 1880. Mention was also made of Dr. Leslie Clay, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who as a boy was a member of this congregation.

Rev. Mr. Jeans sermon was an eloquent appeal to the present generation to keep up the traditions of the Church and to revere the past and all the associations which this building has with those old inhabitants, who raised such an edifice as this to the glory of God. "There memory goes with us always." Fitting hymns and prayers for the occasion were the order of the day.—S.

25th Wedding Anniversary On the evening of March 4th a gay company of merry makers from Tyne Valley and vicinity assembled and to the accompaniment of tooting horns and ringing bells proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Milligan to make merry with them, the occasion being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

The host and hostess recovering from their surprise occasioned by the arrival of so many uninvited guests, were waited upon by Mr. W. F. Wood with an address which explained the cause of their coming and expressed the sentiments of the whole company. A presentation of a beautiful chest of silver containing thirty-six pieces, was made by Miss Gertrude McNevin, after which a very enjoyable time was spent in dancing, card playing and other amusements. A bountiful luncheon which had been provided by the ladies was then served and when the new day was more than an hour old the company dispersed to their homes, leaving behind many good wishes for another opportunity to celebrate succeeding anniversaries with them. Following is the address: To Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Milligan, Tyne Valley.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Milligan:—We your friends of Tyne Valley School District and vicinity having learned with pleasure of your marriage deem it our pleasant duty to assemble in your beautiful and spacious home this evening to express to you in some tangible way our deep appreciation of your valuable services in our community. Although you expressed yourselves that you were having no celebration to mark this event, yet would our hearts be cold indeed if we did not utter at least a hearty congratulation. There is no doubt but that in the past 25 years you have met with reverses—none of us but have—but possessed with good strong determination you have not been daunted nor has anything bedimmed your minds to the fact that onward "ever onward" lies the success.

To you, Mrs. Milligan, we offer our sincere thanks for all you have done towards the welfare of our community. You have been a tower of strength towards the advancement and prosperity of both church and school and to you in no small measure is due the success and welfare of our Women's Institute on whose worthy shoulders the mantle of president rested for a few years, never daunted, never known to say "no", it is indeed but fitting that you should be spared to celebrate an occasion of

MRS. WILLIAM CLAREY

Died in Somerville, Mass., Mar. 16, 1933, Margaret Hamilton, beloved wife of Wm. Clarey. Mr. and Mrs. Clarey lived happily in their home at 8 Waterhouse St., Somerville, when cruel death put in his claim and the faithful soul returned to its Maker. The death of Mrs. Clarey, formerly Margaret Hamilton of Pictou, N. S., was a great shock to that community, especially her loving mother who naturally shares the heaviest part of the sorrow of a mother for her beloved child. It also cast a gloom over Milltown Cross, P. E. I., Mr. Clarey's former home. The deceased was only confined to bed a few days when her condition became critical. She was sent to the hospital as a final resource to save her life. Nothing was overlooked to insure her chance for recovery but regardless of the best of physicians and surgeons, assisted by special nurses, the loved one died at 11 p. m., Thursday, Mar. 16, after having been fortified by the last rites of the Catholic Church. Her husband and his sister were united in prayer at her side when she died. The body was waked from A. E. Long, Cambridge. The funeral proceeded to the Immaculate Conception Church, Cambridge, Mass., where a solemn High Mass was chanted and the last ceremonies of the Church were performed, after which the funeral proceeded to Holy Cross cemetery, Malden, Mass. She is survived by a sorrowing husband, a fond mother, three brothers, who will cherish that sweet name, Margaret, till they meet again. (Pictou papers please copy)

The Dear Little Shamrock of Ireland

By Rev. J. W. S. Lowry
As many sported the shamrock yesterday, it may be well to explain how it became the choice emblem of the sons and daughters of Erin. Its adoption as Ireland's emblem came about in this wise. Druidism, which was the ancient Pagan religion of Ireland, had arranged a great convention of chieftains and nobles and Druid priests at Tara's Halls in County Meath on a certain Easter Sunday, to which St. Patrick, accompanied by several of his disciples and teachers, resolved to repair and to make known the Christian gospel before the assembled throng. On that memorable occasion St. Patrick preached on the doctrine of the Trinity of the Godhead, and on being questioned by some of the people regarding it further, he illustrated the great truth of the adorable Trinity by the trefoll growing on the soil of Ireland, three leaves on one stem and the plant one in three. It was this very interesting event which led to the adoption of the shamrock as Ireland's badge of distinction. It is not the Irish emblem therefore, merely because it is green as the badge of a political or national idea, but of a spiritual truth, the truth of the Holy Trinity. Before preaching at Tara—the ancient seat of the Irish kings—St. Patrick offered a beautiful prayer, which is still preserved, and is said to be one of the oldest productions of the Irish language now extant in which he implored the protection and guidance of the Triune Jehovah of hosts. He concluded the prayer thus: "Christ be with me, Christ above me, Christ within me, Christ at my right, Christ at my left, Christ in every eye that sees me, Christ in every ear that hears me." On that memorable occasion, it is said that many were won from Druidism to the faith in our Divine Savior. "O the shamrock, the green immortal shamrock Chosen leaf of bard and chief, Old Erin's native shamrock."

Remedy Is Sought For Forestalling

(Canadian Press)
OTTAWA, March 28.—Hon. E. N. Rhodes told the House of Commons today he had received many reports that wholesalers anticipated the sugar tax and increased prices. There was no penalty for forestalling as far as he knew.

This question of forestalling had always been a difficult and baffling one. Up to the moment no remedy had been discovered. However, it had to be said that although an exact balance could not be struck, yet when the tax was remitted the situation was reversed, said the Minister.

All wholesalers were not so fortunate as the sugar dealers, Mr. Rhodes continued. He knew of one firm that had borrowed $18,000 to get some tea and coffee out of bond before the budget was announced. That firm would lose much of that money on account of carrying charges, etc., since neither of these commodities had been altered.

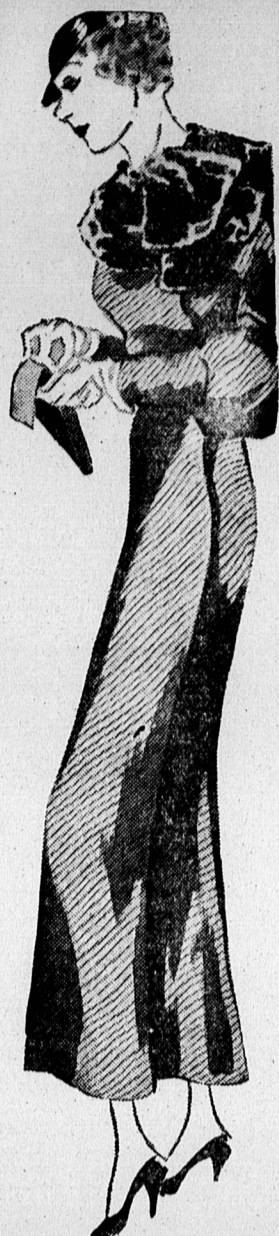

The Minister assured the House that the situation would be enquired into and if any remedy could be found it would be applied.

CANADA'S SUPREME REMEDY FOR COUGHS & COLDS

Think of it—70 per cent of the good people of Canada swear by Buckley's Mixture (it's strength)—and buy it every time they need it.

One little sip and the ordinary cough is gone—a few doses and that tough old hang-on cough is heard no more—it's wonderful to watch how speedily had, lingering colds are put out of business.

It's the same with bronchitis—right away that tightness loosens up—the bronchial passages clear—you're on your toes again—happy and breathing easier.

And here's something else—Buckley's starts at once to neutralize the acid condition present and that helps too.

You may need Buckley's Mixture to-night for yourself or the child's—to get a bottle and keep it handy—acts like a flash—a single sip proves it—For your health's sake, demand Buckley's. Cheap imitations are numerous.
