THAT CHESS TOURNAMENT

Dear "Rynography"—Is there no way of goading on those delinquent Chess players? The catch as catch can method has drifted into the go as you please business now. They say "no sign of a gentleman to be in a hurry. If that's true all chess players are gentlemen and I can sympathize with any one who is slow in getting a move on," especially in a Tournament struggle.

I heard over the wire this week that Doctor Lundie was snowed under by President. Worth and has come to me to see. It's pretty hard to keep track of the score, or say, who will win the "enchanted Trophy" this year. You will remember this little verse, which seems suitable at this stage of the game.

"Here we go up, up, up.
Here we go down, down downy
Here we go backward and forward,
And here goes, twentieth round rowdy"

At Kensington the Mayor of the town, another kindly about our chess Tournament. You know, he is a 33rd degree Mason, and if all Masons are as nice to meet (and as useful) as he, and you are, I have a desire to be one.

Summerside one brainy merchant has bought a set of chess and had a game with me. So you see our publicity department has already had good results. It makes me tired, to hear one of our members say, this newspaper business is all "Tommy they isn't good to be able to show him off, he is a poor man, if one has any thing good to advertise, let it be publicly known. Here I am writing this on the train, some passengers think the car too cold, others think it too hot and the poor brakeman tries to please everybody, and likely as not get no thanks for his trouble. I wish you would run a course in suggesting how to please everybody. A philosopher once said (wasn't it you?) if a man in politics is for graft, if he is out of politics, he is no good to his country. If he doesn't give to charity show, if he is poor he is a poor manager, if he is rich he's dishonest. If religious he is a hypocrite, if not interested in religion a hardened sinner. If he stays home at nights and plays chess, with his wife and family he's an easy mark. If he joins the Chess Club, gets his clothes and lungs filled with smoke and joins in the Gladiatorial Contests, he is a hero, so what the use to try and please everybody, it only ends in "checkmate" after all. The last rounds will likely be pulled off this week in the Chess Arena, off and keep me posted, and the public enemy, who are far more interested in who will be champion this year than you imagine.

Yours sincerely

UNUSUAL PROGRAMME AT THE PRINCE EDWARD

Great crowds paid for admission to the Prince Edward Theatre last evening, when a programme of rare excellence, variety and abundance was put on. "Daughters of Men," an unusually strong drama, was the leading feature, in five long reels, and it proved an interesting play as "The Lion and the Mouse," by the same author. It was the story of a labour union and a young lawyer, whose moral influence on the labourers—he was a member of the Union—averted a serious strike, and on the other hand, the lawyer, who turns a deaf ear to the pleas of the President and Vice-President of a large manufacturing establishment having retired, their sons succeeded them in their respective positions. The young president does not manage the affairs of the Company very well and to all the representatives of the Union he turns a deaf ear. The lawyer, Stedman, seeing a "red hot" editorial in the "Workman's Champion," the paper of the Union, dealing with the extravagance of the "bosses, while the labourers starve," determines to interest himself in the cause of the workmen. He wins the good opinion of the majority of labourers and is admitted to the Council of the Union. The daughter of the Union's President becomes temporarily infatuated with Stedman, who however, while he is able with her, does not reciprocate the affection. Stedman meets Grace, the Capitalist's niece, a couple of times and at last proposes marriage to her. By this time the labourers have struck and the factory is at a standstill. In fact, they are almost riotous. The capitalist, knowing that the lawyer can use his influence to put an end to the strike, urges him to accept the proposal on condition that Stedman do so. The lawyer in a fine love scene gracefully rejects the proposition, which he told her would be tantamount to her becoming his wife at the price of his honour. Grace, stung by remorse, goes to Stedman's house and explains the situation. Hearing that the lawyer had been to the capitalist's, some of the labourers call on him to explain his intimacy with the "boss," and in an interview in which Grace and the disappointed Union's president, take a leading part, matters are set right and the labourers promised their just due. Stedman and Grace are united, while the other girl finds comfort in her lover's arms. This drama was unquestionably a masterpiece. The second feature was the astounding war drama, "For The Empire," which proved to be one of the best patriotic dramas ever shown here. It was a story dealing with the present war—an attempted invasion of England with a splendid love story—and it is portrayed marvelously well with superb scenic investiture. There is action in every foot of the two reels and it should be seen by all who appreciate an extraordinary patriotic production.

Last but not least, Harry Lauder, the bonny Scotch comedian, who has convinced American people from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was presented in "A Comedy Game of Golf" and in this reel the audience enjoyed a thousand feet of humor. The film was greatly appreciated by the large audiences.

ST PATRICK'S IN THE TRENCHES

LONDON, March 17.—St. Patrick's Day was not forgotten in the trenches in Northern France and Flanders today. Thousands of sprigs of Shamrock, forwarded to the front a few days ago, were distributed to the British soldiers today.

THREE SUBMARINES CHASED CAMERONIA.

LONDON, March 21.—The Anchor Line steamer Cameronia, which arrived at Liverpool from New York March 15, with a cargo valued at $5,000,000, successfully ran the German submarine blockade. The vessel reports that she was chased by three German under-water boats on her voyage through the Irish Sea. The first submarine came up only a few hundred yards away from the liner, but the Cameronia evaded her. Later, two other submarines appeared, one of each of the steamer's bows, but again the speed of the Cameronia enabled her to get away safely.

FRENCH ACADEMY EXPELS GERMANS

PARIS, March 20.—There now are no German members of the French Academy of Sciences for the last four years. The roll were ordered stricken off at a session last night. The last of the Germans to be expelled were Professor von Bazer of Munich, Waldeyer, of Berlin, Fischer of Berlin and Klein of Goettingen.

REAR ADMIRAL GROGAN DROWNED BY FALLING FROM SHIP.

LONDON, March 21.—Rear-Admiral William J. Grogan has fallen overboard from his ship and been drowned, according to an announcement made by the Admiralty. The name of his ship is not given. Rear-Admiral Grogan went on the retired list seven years ago, but re-entered the active service at the commencement of the war.

WOUNDED SERGEANT TELLS OF SHOOTING.

LONDON, March 20.—A wounded sergeant from Winnipeg, who has just arrived in London, is anxious to locate the man who first put round the story that the Germans cannot shoot straight. This sergeant, speaking of his own battalion, says it went into the trenches for forty-eight hours. During the night all the Germans had to do was to fire at the Canadian rifles. During that night seven rifles in his portion of the trench alone were smashed by rifle fire and the bearers were more or less wounded. Many wounded Canadians, he says, will be fit for the firing line again very soon, as heaps of the wounds are of the slightest nature and a few days rest at the base helps wonderfully in restoring the men to full strength. Several Canadians now at Shorncliffe and Clevedon, while primarily suffering such ailments as rheumatism and frostbite, are really nerve-racked. They have been sent home for this reason.

CARE OF LINEN.

Linen stored in a closet warm and poorly ventilated will become yellow and will crack earlier than if stored otherwise. The properly constructed linen closet should be in a cool, dry place. Each shelf should be covered with linen slips fastened with drawing pins. Have the linen slips broad enough to fold back and cover the contents of the shelves. Cid sheets may be used for this purpose.—Washington Herald.

Lady De Blaquiere is a daughter of George Desharats, Montreal. Another son is a midshipman on the battleship Lion.

BRITAIN PREPARED IF GERMANS COME.

LONDON, March 21.—The Marquess of Crewe, Lord of the Privy Seal, addressing a delegation of the volunteer training corps, which has been raised for home defence, said that while there was a possibility of a hostile landing in England, this was considered more likely some months ago than now. There was no telling, he added, what form the latest stages of the war might take, or to what devices or stratagems Germany's desperation might drive her. Therefore, he said, it would be unwise to dismiss from consideration the possibility that a hostile force might land, in no great numbers, but in sufficiently formidable force, to make a strong resistance necessary, and possibly the invoking of the assistance of the volunteers.

REGULATIONS HAMPER TRAVEL.

LONDON, March 20.—The stringent regulations governing the securing of passports by persons desiring to travel from England to France promulgated yesterday, have been followed by the announcement of other regulations governing travel to Holland. The difficulties of transit between England and the Continent has been materially increased. Authorities hope that consistent application of the regulations will lessen danger from spies. Under the new orders no traveller may go to Holland without giving the Home Office three days notice of his intended departure. Travellers must supply full information concerning their plans, and the truth of their statements must be vouched for by two responsible British citizens.

sides for or against, until the dividing line widened into the great gulf that no man can cross. The last judgment is just this separation made final.

III. The Gospel of Christ makes mighty sacrifices. If you have a religion that does not demand your best is not Christianity but a man-made or devil-made substitute. Saint Martin in his cell prayed long and earnestly for a vision of his Lord. Rising from his knees he saw a princely figure dressed in royal robes and of splendid mien. Saint Martin sprang towards his visitor intending to prostrate himself at his feet, but a closer vision revealed the truth. The marks of the cross were lacking in those jewelled hands. Bezone said St. Martin, you are Satan disguised as an angel of light. If the marks of the cross were lacking in our lives we are not the followers of the crucified. "The way of the cross leads home."

You are offered to-night the grandest cause, and the mightiest leader this world ever saw. He is worth infinitely more than all the sacrifices He demands. May His sword be the sword of our hearts removing all the false, the mean, the selfish and the impure.

The subject of to-night's sermon by Rev. L. E. Ackland will be "Christ the Offender." All are welcome. Service begins at 8 o'clock.

A Great Blessing to be Freed of Indigestion

For Years He Suffered After Almost Every Meal—Attributes Complete Cure to Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The experience of many people who suffer from indigestion is like that of the writer of this letter. Stomach medicines may bring some relief, but chronic indigestion is almost invariably the result of derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and cannot be actually cured until these organs are set right.

With the liver sluggish there is constipation, and the food ferments in the bowels instead of being digested. This is the source of pain and suffering, and the cause of such dreaded diseases as appendicitis, peritonitis and kidney disease. It is much better to be on the safe side and prevent such ailments by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. J. D. S. Barrett, Nelson, B.C., and formerly of Twillingate, Nfld., writes:—"For several years I was a great sufferer from indigestion. The least bit of food caused me considerable trouble, and often I could scarcely eat a meal a day. The many remedies I tried proved futile until I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and after using about eight boxes I was completely cured. "Since that time I have not been troubled with indigestion, which I consider a great blessing. I feel grateful for this cure, and shall gladly answer any inquiries from persons suffering as I did."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, 25c a box, 5 for $1.00, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

here, the local government committee, in a report that will be submitted today, says it is not satisfied that a sufficient cause for alteration has been made out.

Recently the County Council decided to take no action with regard to renaming Berlin Road, Gafford Road. Suggestions have been made by many citizens to change the name Hanover Square to St. Petersburg Place.
