The British Soldier

The British soldier, 2.15½, is a remarkably handsome horse, dark chestnut, no white except star. A stout, strong, compactly built horse, with heavy bone; stands square on the best of feet and legs.

He has proved himself to be the fastest trotting horse that ever raced in the Provinces. He holds the 4-year old record made at Halifax, 1915, also the Charlottetown Track record since 1916, and he is the most likely horse in sight to reduce it in 1918.

His trotting action is perfection; goes without boots and has better than two-minute speed.

The British Soldier is sired by Cochato, 2.11½, at 3 years, winner of the Hartford Futurity, 1906, (Todd's greatest speed-siring son) Todd 2.14¾ was sired by Bingen, 2.06¼, founder of the greatest speed producing family in the world.

The dam of the British Soldier is the great brood mare, Miss Pratt 2.11¼, by Heir-at-Law, 2.05¾. Miss Pratt is the dam of nine with standard records, including The Leading Lady, 2.07, at 3 years (a world's record at the time.) The Prattler 2.12½ at 2 years. The Prattler is a full brother to The British Soldier.

Miss Pratt is also granddam of six with records from 2.05½ to 2.13¼, all aged 3 and 4 years. No trotting stallion in Canada has more speed or stronger license to produce a fast trotter, than the British Soldier, and he has the best crop of colts to show ever shown by a trotting horse on P. E. Island; large, sound and handsome colts that are showing extreme speed.

Last fall at Charlottetown Exhibition in a large field of foals sired by the leading stallions foals sired by The British Soldier took all the prizes eligible to blood foals.

Mr. John B. Andrews, East Royalty, who has bred and sold more fast colts than any P. E. Island breeder, says that he has the most promising colts from The British Soldier he ever had on his farm. He has 2 yearlings and 2 foals this spring.

Autos have taken the place of the carriage horse, but they will never take the place of the fast trotter, so breed your best mares to The British Soldier and avoid disappointment, for he will sire speed just as sure as his namesake will beat the Germans.

Commodore Ledyard
No. 34709

ENROLLMENT No. 11

Will make the season 1918 at the owner's stable Montague. Terms:—Five dollars at time of first service and ten dollars additional when mare proves in foal. Commodore Ledyard foaled in 1901 was sired by Admiral Dewey the son of Bingen and Nancy Hanks. Commodore's dam was Lady Ethelyne by Jackdaw. Hence, it will be seen that no horse stands higher in point of breeding. As a sire, he stands without peer in the Maritime Provinces. In fact he has produced more race horses than all the other stallions confined standing for service today on P. E. Island. He is the sire of Bob Mac, 213¼, Hilda S., 2.16, Orwell Belle, 2.19, Iona Girl 2.17½, Rex Hal 2.17¼, and 19 others in the 2.30 list, besides a host of others that have trotted in better time than standard time but were successful in having their time suppressed. Commodore is now 17 years old and was never in such good condition as at the present time. He is at the age at which all great sires have transmitted their greatest number of trotters, as it is an unquestionable fact that our greatest sires beget more speed between 15 years and 22 years than they do before that age. Anyone owning a likely mare that wishes to get a colt with speed or a superb driver will run less risk of failure by breeding to Commodore than in using those unproved sires that owe their reputation to their owner's ability as boosters.

When he drove him at Summerside last year he won the free-for-all trot and pace setting a new track record for Summerside of 2.17¼. Dunholm started last season in 11 races, winning 8 first moneys and only for an accident at New Annan track in which he cut himself in the front foot would have ended the season unbeaten.

JESUS FACES BETRAYAL AND DENIAL

(Mark 14:10-72-

"Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation."—Mark 14:38.— Golden Text.

It was customary for the citizens of Jerusalem to offer their homes to strangers who came to the city for the Passover feast. Sometimes a curtain was hung over the door of a house to make known that there was still room for guests at the table.

It was on the afternoon of Thursday that Jesus and his disciples gathered in the upper room to observe the feast of the Paschal lamb. All was in readiness, the tabe supplied with the lamb, the dish of bitter herbs, the thin cakes of unleavened bread and the wine. After one of the cups of wine had been blessed and drunk by all present, it was customary for the head of the household to rise and wash his hands. Probably it was at this juncture that Jesus rose, and taking a basin of water and girding himself with a towel, began to teach the disciples a lesson in humility and service by washing their feet. Peter remonstrated, and Jesus answered, "If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with Me." "Lord, not my feet only, but also my hands, and my head," Peter returned. "Ye are clean, but not all" Jesus said, and later openly declared, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, one of you shall betray Me." Lord is it I" questioned each one. "He it is for whom I shall dip the sop and give it him," and taking a bit of bread and dipping it in the dish of herbs, he gave it to Judas. Only John, who must have sat near the Master, heard the answer, and when Jesus said to Judas, "What thou doest do quickly," they thought Judas had been sent forth on an errand.

After the close of the Paschal Feast, when the third cup had been blessed and passed around. Jesus instituted the rite which we call the Lord's Supper. "This day shall be unto you a memorial," the law of the Passover had been, and now Jesus said of his new rite which was to take the place of the Passover with his followers, "This do in remembrance of me."

Lovingly he talked with them. "Little children, yet a little while I am with you: whither I go, ye cannot come." "Why not?" questioned Peter, "I will lay down my life for thee." "Wilt thou lay down thy life for me? Verily, verily I say unto thee, the cock shall not crow till thou hast denied me thrice."

Now we may think of Jesus uttering the beautiful words recorded by John in the fourteenth chapter of John. "Let not your hearts be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in Me. I go to prepare a place for you. I come again and will receive you unto myself." Thomas remonstrated that they knew not whither he was going, they knew not the way. "I am the way, and the truth, and the life: no one cometh unto the Father ,but by me," Jesus answered. Philip asked to be shown the Father. "Have I been so long time with you, and dost thou not know me, Philip?" sadly Jesus questioned. He that hath seen me hath seen the Father."

Continuing his discourse, Jesus sought to comfort his disciples and to prepare them for the future, its work and its suffering. I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit, when he, the Sprit of truth is come, he shall guide you into all the truth.

Then followed that wonderfully beautiful prayer which John records in the 17th chapter, "Father, the hour is come."

The singing of the hymn followed—probably the 118th Psalm, one of the Psalms which were always sung at the Passover Feast—"Arise, let us go hence," was Jesus' signal for departure. When Jesus had spoken these words, he went forth with his disciples over the brook Kidron, unto the Mount of Olives.

Coming to the Garden of Gethsemane, Jesus left the larger group of disciples and taking with him Peter and James and John went on farther. "My soul is exceeding sorrowful," he said to his best loved disciples, "abide ye here and watch with me." Going still farther on, he fell on his face and prayed in angush: "Abba Father, all things are possible unto thee; remove this cup from me: howbeit, not what I will, but what thou wilt." Returning to the three, he found them asleep To Peter he said reproachfully, "Couldest thou not watch with me one hour? Watch and yray, that ye enter not into temptation," and then in his tender compassion he added, "The spiri indeed is willing but the flesh is weak." A second and a third time he prayed and returned a second and third time to find the disciples sleeping. "Sleep on, now, and take your rest," he told them: the time for watching was over for the hour was at hand when he should be betrayed. He had come from the struggle calm and confident, for his will and his Father's will were one, and he bade the disciples arise and go with him to meet the betrayer.

From Gethsemane Jesus was taken bound to Jerusalem. At an informal trial before Annas no witnesses were called, but the oft-tried attempt was made to ensnare Jesus in his words. Jesus said that he had taught openly, and those who had heard him could answer Annas, whereupon a brutal officer struck him, saying, "Answerest thou the high priest so?" "If I have spoken evil," returned Jesus, "but if well, why smitest thou me "

From Annas Jesus was taken to Caiaphas, the high priest whom the Romans recognized, and the Sanhedrin, who had been hastily summoned in the dead of night. False witnesses were sought who testified, "This man said, I will destroy this temple that is made with hands, and in three days I will build another made without hands." Thus did they pervert his saying about his own death. "Answerest thou nothing What is that which these witness against thee " asked Caiaphas, but Jesus remained silent. "Art thou the Christ?" Caiaphas asked. And Jesus said, "I am," and added that he should sit hereafter on the right hand of Power. This was what Caiaphas had been seeking. What mattered it if he found no charge worthy of the ear of the Roman governor who alone could put Jesus to death? The Sanhedrin could condemn him on a religious charge, and Caiaphas could turn that charge into a political one. He promptly accused Jesus of blasphemy, and according to the custom, rent his garment in token of his horror. Then he put the question —"What think ye?" The ready answer came, "He is worthy of death." The scene closed with the infamous treatment of Jesus; spat upon, struck and further insulted, he still "held his peace."

Peter's Denials.—You recall Peter's protestations of his loyalty to his Lord how did it turn out? When Jesus was seized and taken to the court of the high priest, Peter followed afar, and entering the court took a place by the fire. A maid charged him with having been with Jesus, the Nazarene. "I know not what thou sayest," quickly answered Peter. A second time he was questioned, and again he denied that that he knew Jesus. The second crowing of the cook recalled to Peter his Lord's warning, and he went out and wept bitterly.

Overconfidence was one of Peter's great failings. We see this overconfidence on the Sea of Galilee when he started to walk across the water to Jesus, and then becoming fearful called out, "Lord save me". We see it when he told his Lord, "Though all men should deny thee, yet will not I." We see it when after the arrest he did not fice with the other disciples but followed "afar off," for he thought he was brave enough to go into temptation Jesus "knew what was in the man" he knew Peter, and he gave him frequent warnings. In the Garden of Gethsemane he bade him watch and pray that he might not enter into temptation, but Jesus neither watched nor prayed, and by the court fire his courage, which he thought all-sufficient, quailed and gave way. He was after all a moral coward. He had been confident in his own power, and he solely needed God's power.

GARAGES SAVING GREASE

Auto Parts Washed in Soda Solution —Oil Reclaimed by Boiling

Fully 80 per cent of the amount of kerosene formerly used at garages and service stations in England for cleaning motor vehicles is now saved by employing a weak solution of hot caustic soda. Also the grease that is removed from axles, wheels, gear boxes and other parts, is salvaged and even the rags in the work are reclaimed by at least one company that operates many stations in London. When the parts have been dismantled they are placed in a tank of boiling water to which enough caustic soda is added to make about a three per cent. solution. After the grease has risen to the top of the water, i is drawn off, and the rack holding the parts is transferred to a tank of fresh boiling water in which the cleaning is completed. The grease is then reclaimed by boiling.

U.S.A. SENDING LARGE ARMY.

According to the revised estimate of Maj.-Gen. George W. Gothals, acting quartermaster general, the United States will have an army of 2,200,000 men by July 1. This means that by that date there ill be 600,000 more men in training than were contemplated when the original estimates for the fiscal year were sent to Congress. And as a result of the revision of these figures it is probable that an appropriation of $10,000,000,000 to $11,000,000,000 will be asked for the army. Upon this basis of increase, the army by the end of the year is likely to be up to the strength of 3,000,000 men.

It is also proposed to increase the strength of the marine corps from 30,000 to 75,000 men. The plan is to maintain a full division of 28,000 marines on the battlefields of France permanently, leaving 47,000 for replacements and reserves. When the United States became involved in the war the marine corps numbered but 15,000 men.

This is America's response to appeal of the Allies for men to help defeat Germany.—Wash. Post.

"The Turks spread mines in the path of the Queen Elizabeth." "Quite a departure from Sir Walter Raleigh's politeness of old."

Impossible

The old lady was going to visit with her married daughter, and, incidentally, make her first railway journey. When she arrived at the station she did not know what to do next.

"Young man," she said to a porter who looked about as old as Methuselah, "can you tell me where I can get my ticket?" "Why, mum," he replied, "you get it at the ticket office, through the pigeonhole." Being very stout, she looked the pigeonhole in amazement, and then burst out in a rage. Go way with you, you old idiot! How can I get through there? I ain't no blessed pigeon!"
