Peters Road And Vicinity

Her many friends are pleased to know that Mrs. J. H. McKinnon who resides with her daughter, Mrs. George A. MacDonald, is much improved from her recent illness.

Mr. Joe McLean and Mrs. Bessie Graham, Peter's Road, recently paid a weekend visit to St. Peter's where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and family.

Mr. Louis Harris, Murray Harbor, has been conducting evangelistic services in the school at Peter's Road. These meetings are largely attended and much interest is taken. Mr. Harris as a speaker possesses rare talent in evangelistic preaching, holding his audience in strict attention, as he unfolds the wonderful treasures contained in the Book that never grows old. Being possessed also with exceptional gifts as a singer, his well known power in the songs of praise sung at the services also appeal strongly to his hearers.

The donation of a beautifully designed all-wool mat by Mrs. John Millar, Point Pleasant to the Presbyterian Church at Peter's Road is much appreciated. The mat is specially intended for the pupil platform, and the thanks of the congregation is tendered Mrs. Millar for her kind act.

Mr. Artemas McSwain, Peter's Road, who was temporarily laid aside by a severe attack of lumbago is now around as usual.

Mr. Angus McLean, Peter's Road has purchased a valuable horse from Mr. Mont. Wright, Montague, who specializes in this line.

Mr. Raymond McKinnon, Peter's Road, who is quite an enthusiast in light stappers, with promise of speed, is frequently out for a spin with his young blood.

The season's activities in many rural homes over P. E. I. is now centered in the exacting but fascinating industry of mat-hooking, largely worked from home-made designs.

Mr. Garfield Johnson, Peter's Road, is again plying his work in the building of boats for the coming season's use.

Mr. and Mrs. George Johnston, Peter's Road, recently visited at the home of Mrs. Johnston's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crawford and family, Roseneath.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of snow much lumber has been extracted from the otherwise inaccessible tracts by the aid of Jack Frost, and the lumber-mills operated by Mr. J. B. Finlayson and Mr. Josiah Jenkins, Point Pleasant are kept humming.

Mrs. John A. Stewart with son Guy and Miss Myra McLennan, of Peter's Road, spent a recent weekend visit at the home of Mrs. Roger Westaway, Lower Montague.

German Press Is Criticised

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) DESSAU, Germany, March 15.—Germany has too many press chiefs, Captain Wilhelm Weiss, German Press Associations official, said tonight in an address warning against shattering of public confidence in the press, lest the Nationalist state itself suffer.

Capt. Weiss is chief of the federal association of the German press, to which all newspaper men must belong if they are to be employed in Nazi Germany.

Without mentioning the receipt stir over anti-American articles in Berlin newspapers, Capt. Weiss avowed it was time editors were given a chance to take direction from one superior—not six or seven.

Some saw in the address an indication of a general cleanup following the elimination of Dr. Ernst Hanfstaengl as Nazi press chief, and believed Weiss may have been inspired by Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda.

Apparently directing his fire chiefly at Julius Streicher, Munich Jew-baiter, Weiss scored efforts to "educate" German editors to new responsibilities under Nazi rule. He specified the recent incident in which Nurnberg theatre critics were required to attempt a program of acrobatic dancing for the amusement of showgirls. Streicher sponsored the show.

The Farrowing Sow

A little extra care at farrowing will often save a greater percentage of the litter. Include some bran in the meal ration to prevent a feverish condition. A week or ten days before farrowing, place the sow in a farrowing pen that is dry, clean, and free from draughts. Bed the pen with short straw. Keep a watchful eye on the sow at farrowing, do not disturb or assist her unless absolutely necessary. Provide a warm bran slop for the sow a few hours after farrowing.

There were now nearly 160,000 persons receiving old age pensions, said Mr. Dunning and the 75 per cent. contribution to the pensions from the Dominion Government would require $27,500,000 in the next fiscal year. By 1941 the total cost of old age pensions on the basis of the present system would be $46,000,000 and by 1951 $62,000,000.

Abuses in the system necessitated the appointment of inspectors and numerous cases of persons with substantial property and real income obtaining the pensions had come to light, said Mr. Dunning. Possibly these difficulties were due to the inherent weakness of a system which required joint action on two independent authorities, one contributing most of the money and the other spending it.

After listening to a number of complaints from British Columbia members chiefly to the effect deserving persons found it hard to get pensions Mr. Dunning declared: "The abuses are very great in the opposite direction." The problem, he said, could be solved by giving the Dominion Government full and sole control by a constitutional change. The Dominion, however, should not take on the added responsibility without an additional source of revenue being also transferred from the provinces.

Conservative Leader Bennett agreed with Mr. Dunning the abuses were numerous and glaring. He believed the government could purge the list of pensioners considerably by careful investigation, particularly in some provinces.

It was time, he said, for the government to consider a compulsory contributory system of old age pensions. Each year social problems were neglected the number of persons dependent on the state increased. It was for this reason he believed social legislation should be undertaken without delay but it should be of a contributory character.

Government Alarmed Over Amused Pensions

OTTAWA, March 17—(CP)—Alarmed at a heavy increase in outlay on old age pensions and the prevalence of abuses in the system, Finance Minister Dunning proposed in the House of Commons today that a conference exclusively devoted to old age pensions be held with the Provincial Governments.

The conference will be held between now and the next session of parliament and any proposals agreed upon will be submitted to parliament. The Minister made his statement as the House took advantage of the second reading and committee stage of the bill to provide pensions for blind persons at the age of 40 to discuss the whole subject of old age pensions.
