Amundsen's Book Rejected By His German Publisher

The manuscript was rejected because "Amundsen severed all connections with the German nations when, during the war, he returned his German decorations and resigned his honorary membership of German societies. The publishers in their statement concluded: "Not until Amundsen has made proper amends for his offensive behaviour to Germany, the result of misrepresentations by the anti-German press, will this firm consent to publish any more of his works."

Amundsen is scheduled to deliver a series of lectures in Berlin prior to sailing in September for America.

Fishermen Keep Up Ship Building Industry

(Canadian Press.)

SHELburne, N. S., Aug. 25.—The days when the Nova Scotia coasts were sliding scores of wood on ships into their harbors, from whence they scoured the seven seas, may be largely a memory but the demands of the provincial fishery fleet perpetuate them to no small extent. Comment by a newspaper on an eighty-two foot being supplied for a sailing vessel, drew attention of local residents to the fact that it is a common sight here to see ninety foot spars with tons of rigging and blocks attached, being raised into position in newly-built fishermen; as the whole mass being handled with much ease, apparently, as a garland bean pole. This year a one hundred foot spar was put into the "Hulligonian" prospective challenger for North Atlantic fishing schooner honors against the champion Blunese and other Nova Scotia crafts and Gloucestermen.

Masts of one hundred and three and one hundred and six feet are being supplied for American yachts.

If the American girl tries again this summer, it must be between August 31 and September 2. It is possible that should the attempt be made, she will be accompanied by Pouilly, the speedy French swimmer, who was forced to call off a try at the crossing because of his inability to obtain a tug to accompany him.

Lillian Harrison, the Argentine swimmer, is also preparing to attempt the channel again sometime in September. She will swim alone.

NEW MAP OF CANADA'S ISLAND PROVINCE

A glance at a map of Canada will show two important islands, one on the west coast and the other on the east, each fitting snugly into a space as though reserved for it, and separated from the mainland only by a narrow band of water.
