LONDON PAPERS ON THE LATEST RAID

LONDON, Oct. 22.—While admitting the existence of widespread popular dissatisfaction over the apparent impunity with which Zeppelins raided England Friday night, a majority of the morning newspapers take a more sober view than that expressed by the Saturday and Sunday papers.

The story of the raid is still rather obscure and no official explanation has been given of the absence of a gunfire in the London area or of the escape of the raiders from England. It is assumed, however, by thoughtful writers that the directors of the defensive system adopted a policy dictated by circumstances and acted with the vigilance and enterprise.

While the raiders were not attacked by gunfire in London, they were bombarded considerably elsewhere, and there is reason to believe that one was so damaged that it left England under imperfect control. It is suggested that the authorities had reasonable ground for believing that the Zeppelins would be unable to find London, owing to the darkness and the height at which they were traveling and the firing of guns and the flashing of searchlights would only have revealed the target.

It is known that British airplanes were up in considerable numbers during the raid, and writers in the morning papers hint that these had much to do with the driving of the Zeppelins to France, where the French gunners and aviators—whose skill is praised warmly—were able to deal with them by daylight.

Nevertheless, it is contended that an explanation is due to the public and ought to be given, preferably in Parliament.

IF THEY COULD SEE.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The King and Queen paid a surprise visit yesterday afternoon to one of the bombed districts of London and talked for two hours with victims. Speaking to a local clergyman, the King said: "I wish people who are against retaliation could see this wreckage."

THE BRITISH NAVY

At the present time when the work of the navy is so much in evidence and which every loyal and patriotic person cannot but admire the following extracts from a letter received by Mr. David H. Auld of Carleton from his son Dr. Fred M. Auld who is now a Military Surgeon in France will be read with interest by our numerous readers. It will be remembered that Dr. Auld left Canada to join the Allied cause in the first part of the summer and crossed over to France in the latter part of June.

My Dear Father:— I must write a few lines at any rate to say all goes well, but fairly busy. I have been here since July 2nd, and wrote you a short note just after arrival.

I am 50 miles from the firing line and can often hear the big guns during an attack at that distance. Paris is less than 100 miles away from here. It is not permissible to name places where we are stationed however. My work consists in looking after sick Chinese. I am in charge of the surgical ward. A good many of the patients are accident cases. The weather here is wet, rain falls almost every day but we are very comfortable in tents and have an abundance of good food. The crops are remarkably good in this locality; fields of rank growing wheat and oats etc., on every hand. Harvesting is now on and in the field adjoining my tent a Massey Harris binder is at work. There are many of them here and it was a surprise to find that Canadian Agricultural implements are largely used here.

A man here who has been in Russia tells me that enormous numbers of Canadian binders are there too.

We had an uneventful trip across the Atlantic. Did not see any submarines at all but saw some wreckage and a crew of a steamer that had been sunk was picked up by our convoy. Some of the steamers have been submerged. The British navy is a wonderful organization. During the latter half of our journey we were told that at 8 a. m. on a certain day, we would have destroyers join us. At 7.15 faint specks were discovered on the horizon. They gradually grew larger and proved to be destroyers and precisely at 8.00 on the dot they were in their allotted positions as convoys. They are wonderful boats, bobbing around like a cork on the rough water and capable of going an hour, the newest of them. We betide the submarine that they get on the scent of.

Again we were told that on a certain evening at 9 a. m., more destroyers would join us. Precisely on time they appeared over the horizon and joined us not a minute late nor a minute before time. We were told that at midnight another would join us, and precisely on the hour her signal light appeared on the horizon announcing that she had come. All this arranged by wireless on the trackless ocean; time and distance being worked out to absolute accuracy.

The Commander-in-chief of the British forces Sir Douglas Haig, visited this centre yesterday afternoon for a short time.

The Chinese Ambassador to England is coming within the next few days. He is a warm friend of the Allies and speaks English perfectly. The Chinese are winning golden opinions for themselves here. Well for now I must close.

Lovingly, FRED.

OLD-TIME REMEDY MAKES PURE BLOOD

Hood's Sarsaparilla has been and still is the people's medicine because of the reliable character and its wonderful success in purifying, enriching and revitalizing the blood and relieving the common diseases and ailments—scrofula, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, general debility. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies and enriches the blood, and in so doing renders the human system the greatest service possible. This medicine has been tested for years. It is perfectly pure, clean and absolutely safe, as well as of peculiar and unequalled medicinal merit. Get Hood's, and get it now from any drug store.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On the evening of Oct. 10th, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guildford Lowther, was the scene of a very pleasant surprise, when a large portion of the West River congregation met to spend a last social evening with their pastor, the Rev. W. J. MacLeod, before bidding him farewell. After an evening spent in games, music and social intercourse, the company were invited to the dining room to partake of the good things provided by the ladies of the congregation. Having satisfied the "cravings of the inner man," all assembled together, and the Secretary, Mr. T. A. Stewart, was called upon to read and present the following address, while Mr. Daniel N. Taylor presented him with a purse.

To the Rev. Wilfred J. MacLeod, Pastor, West and Clyde River church.

Dear Sir,—In behalf of the members and adherents of the Presbyterian Church at West River, we wish to express to you our deep regret at your decision to sever your connection with our church, as minister.

During your short stay among us, you have by your able discourses, your genial and courteous manner, endeared yourself to the whole congregation. We feel that your influence over us has been the means of making our congregation spiritually, financially and socially better than it has been for years. But, while we greatly regret your removal from our midst, we trust and pray that our loss may be your gain. During the year you have been our minister, our congregation has prospered beyond the hopes of the most sanguine. The admission at your first Communion of fifteen young men and women into full membership of the church, was an event that should inspire all who witnessed it, to put forth greater efforts than ever before in the work of the Master. Your large Bible class, and Sunday school, where so much religious instruction was imparted, will long remain green in the memory of those who attended. The remodeling, painting and carpeting of the church at a large expense by voluntary offering, was another proof of your good influence over us. We cannot allow you to depart from us without, in some way, showing our appreciation of your influence and helpful counsel, during the year you have been with us. Please accept this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but as a small token of the high esteem in which you are held by the whole of our people, and we trust and pray that in whatever portion of God's vineyard you may choose to locate, the Giver of all Good may bless and sustain you all through life. Signed: Hector McLaine, Elder. Guildford Lowther, Chairman of Trustees. T. A. Stewart, Secretary.
