Re-roof without risk

No risk—of damage by rain during the work. Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles go right over the old roof.

No risk—of dirt and shingles on the lawn. The old shingles stay on the roof. The double roof keeps out both summer heat and winter cold.

No risk—of needing repairs. Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles are made of rock—they will outlast your home.

No risk—of fire on the roof. Even a blow-torch flame can't burn these Asbestos shingles.

No risk—of leaks, Asbestos shingles cannot curl or rot. They never wear out.

right over the old roof

THE old method of tearing off old shingles is long out of date. It's quicker, cleaner and easier to re-roof right over the old shingles. It's easy to get the beauty, permanence and fire-safety of Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles.

IMPRESSIVE.

Sir,—In the discussions pro and con respecting improved temperance legislation, three things thus far have impressed me very particularly.

First there is the statement of Rev. R. G. Fulton, in which he says:—

"The result of my study has led me to the conviction that it is useless to enact a law which will not be supported by the moral sentiment of the people. It is out of the question to legislate people into righteousness. My study has further led me to conclude that under the existing conditions the only course to pursue is to create legal methods for the purchase of liquor, accompanied by severe penalties in every case."

Then there is the evidence of Judge Emily F. Murphy, of the Juvenile Court of Alberta and Past President of the Women's Institutes of Canada, showing how she had talked and worked and argued against Government Control and in favor of Prohibition, but after several years, in which she had been called upon as magistrate and Judge to enforce the Liquor Control Act, the conditions in Alberta have steadily improved because the law was well conceived and is being well enforced.

And thirdly, the testimony of Sir Allan Aylesworth, formerly Minister of Justice in the Cabinet of Sir Wilfred Laurier, has impressed me, when prior to the recent Ontario election he said:

"I have been voting now for more than fifty years in parliamentary elections, and I have never given a Conservative vote, but I am going to do so this year, because I think that any measure of prohibition by law as opposed to prohibition by education is the very reverse of what I have always considered were the true principles of Liberalism. As well might one try to advance the interests of religion or Christianity by legislation that would compel the people to go to church."

REASONABLE THINKER.

WEST RIVER REPRESENTATION

Sir,—Since the Stewart Government was elected to power I have noticed that Mr. LePage has had many letters in the Press, such letters dealing with Conservative financial record or alleged outrageous treatment of the Stewart Government etc. Does he think he is throwing dust in the eyes of the electors of the West River district, or does he take them for fools,

Mr. LePage in dealing with the finance of this Province said. "I have made it a rule when speaking of the finance of this Province to quote only from the official records of the sworn auditors, and if this were followed by all such men and the Press of this Province on both sides of politics, the general public would know the true situation."

He also stated that the Honorable Speaker Jenkins voted against an amendment and voted for a Government bill. The writer never heard tell of the speaker in the chair voting for or against any amendment only in the case of a tie vote, and all will agree that the Stewart Government was never in danger where it needed the Speaker's help by casting a vote.

Knowing Premier Stewart personally I would think it extraordinary conduct of him to allow Mr. Speaker Jenkins to vote in the chair.

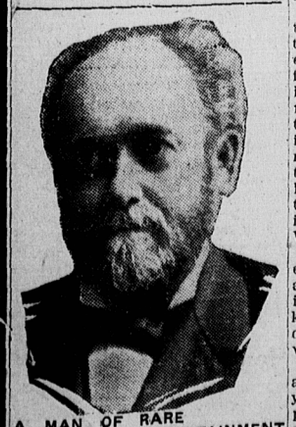
Mr. LePage goes on to say, "Would not this make the angels weep." If he had written his letters on April first, the public would then know that it was just some April first joke of Mr. LePage's, but such statements from a man of Mr. LePage's calibre are certainly outrageous.

I well remember a few years ago, the untimely death of the famous pugilist, "Battling Sikie," who was murdered at Hell's Kitchen, New York. The Press in its obituary notice had the following comments on this famous pugilist: "He was a Sinegallest with a wonderful physique, but the brain of a child.

Mr. LePage had a letter in the Press of March twenty-ninth which was very nice, and if true the Stewart Government deserves to be held by the nose and given a dose of the same medicine once suggested by a Liberal member of the Legislature, but how can the public put any dependence in such letters, which are sufficient to make "the angels weep."

I am, Sir, etc.,

VOTER.



A MAN OF RARE PROFESSIONAL ATTAINMENT

The originator of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the late Ray V. Pierce, M. D. At first he practised medicine in Western Pennsylvania and his unusual ability and success were soon recognized there, then he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and established the World's Dispensary where his famous home remedies have ever since been made.

Each succeeding year the sale of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been greatly increased. Evidently people appreciate the fact that it increases the appetite, stimulates the digestion, helps to enrich the blood, clears the skin of eruptions and blemishes, and makes both men and women feel as they did when they were young. It contains no harmful ingredient.

Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for a trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's branch Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont.

MINISTERS AND PARTY POLITICS.

Sir,—I want to draw the attention of your readers to the situation in our province at the present time with regard to the Temperance question, and the activity of our Liberal ministers when they see that an election is pending. This is not the first time that an effort was made by this class of citizens to stampede the electors, under one pretense or another when an election was near at hand. Some might think that I am not in favor of temperance when I would undertake to warn the electors against listening to such one-sided half-breed political temperance propaganda.

I have been all my life in favor of temperance, and I don't taste, touch or handle the cursed stuff, but it really sets me on edge when I see men who should be a pattern to the rest of us, stooping down to such low and unfair methods of party politics when it suits them, and when they can do so under the cloak of Temperance.

Now, I wish through the columns of your paper to ask those "clerical politicians" a few easy questions.

First: Are you really satisfied with the Temperance situation in this province for the last eight or ten years? Are you anxious to continue the same order of things as has been going on, and getting worse every year?

If you are not satisfied, what remedy are you suggesting?

Were you satisfied last Fall when the Dominion election was on, with the way the Mackenzie King Government permitted the mosts barefaced smuggling system ever known in Canada to continue without making any effort whatever to stop the same? This is no hearsay—it is the sworn evidence of scores of men during the Customs investigation. Hon. Mr. Meighen pledged himself to make a supreme effort to put a stop to this order of things if elected, and King was "mum". Which of them did you help out?

The Conservative politicians proved at the meetings that this glaring and systematic smuggling was going on for years with the full knowledge of the Customs officials of the Liberal Government at Ottawa.

If you had the Temperance cause at that time at heart, what part did you play? How often did the Temperance Alliance meet during this election, and did they take any strong stand to show the Liberal candidates that this great bulwark of Temperance, disapproved of the manner in which the Government was running things.

If you had been active then, your influence now would be worth something.

When the Bell Government gave license to a number of people in this province to keep a bonded warehouse for liquor, and thus made it possible to have liquor of all brands come to Charlottetown by the car load, how many meetings did the Liberal clergy and the Temperance Alliance hold throughout the country, asking the electors to vote against the Government which authorized this business, and were silent partners in the game? If you had been active then your influence at this time would be such that no Government would dare play loose while you were standing on your watch tower.

Personally, I do not think that matters could possibly be much worse than they are now.

I will now give you a clear statement of what is going on along the shores here,—what I have seen with my own eyes ,and what I have been told by others with regard to smuggling. From the early Spring till late in the Fall, for the last number of years, rum-running craft, large vessels at that, have been around our shores, three and four at a time, outside the three-mile limit, in the daytime, but closer in at night, unloading all kinds of liquor, as fast as motor boats could land it. Cars were on the road at all hours of the night, taking the stuff to different parts of the province. Many of those cars going along full speed without proper lights, making traffic on the shore road very dangerous at night. We could tell with a spyglass from day to day how the vessels were rising out of the water, showing the quick sales made.

Now, Sir, with cargo after cargo of this rum dumped on our shores, and illicit stills here and there in full blast, it is easier to get liquor today than it ever was since I was a boy, and I am no Spring chicken.

I ask the Temperance Alliance which Government is at fault with regard to the non-enforcement of the law, prohibiting the landing of thousands of gallons of what they call forty overproof rum, and all other kinds of liquor all summer long around our shores. Can anything be worse than the present situation? We have sent at different times petition after petition to the Government at Ottawa, asking them to do something to prevent this nefarious traffic, but without the least response.

I would ask our clerical friends to get busy and have something done by the Liberal Government at Ottawa, of which they are nearly all ardent supporters and have them stop this smuggling and illicit manufacturing of all kinds of strong drink, or we might as well have no law at all as Prohibition, which now is in name only.

Instead of using the political machine to broadcast cheap party politics, which will without a doubt defeat the cause they are striving to gain, plan out some real good Temperance work, such as the changing of the three-mile limit to twelve as they have it in the United States, and then have several cutters and a speed boat or two continually round our shores manned by men who are in sympathy with the Temperance cause and Prohibition, and when the Liberal ministers stop smuggling and moonshine manufacturing, the rest of the work of enforcing the law will be easy.

It is the wholesale smuggling without any attempt by the Federal Government to stop it, that is defeating the prohibition cause today, and not the Stewart Government.

No party would dare bring on any Government Control if an honest effort was made by the Federal Government to stop the flood-gates of smuggling and moonshine distilling.

I am, Sir, etc.,

SIMPLE WAY TO GET RID OF BLACKHEADS

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxine powder and the watern dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

That Car Of Yours

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Heart-to-Heart Talks With Automobile Owners and Drivers on How to Get the Most Out of Their Cars at the Least Expense.

GIVE CRANKCASE CLEANING

Dropping the crankcase and giving it a thorough cleaning is a worthwhile gesture that too few motorists make. It is not necessary to do this very often but, after several months of usage, the average crankcase collects a glutinous deposit that contains abrasive substances that might much better be removed. Washing the case with kerosene serves to good effect, but care should be taken that all of it is removed before the case is put up again.

MAKES PARKING SIMPLE

It unquestionably is true that many motorists contribute to their own difficulties in parking, particularly parallel parking. At no other time does a driver so desire a car that steers with ease. With steering so improved in design, achievement of this desire largely is a matter of keeping the system well lubricated and seeing that the tires are properly inflated. This does not create additional parking space, but it makes that which already exists easier to negotiate.

THOSE MYSTERIOUS LEAKS

It still happens that tires go flat for no apparent reason. Hunting for the leak frequently is marked by failure. After trying everything else, including particularly the valve "insides", it might be well to suspect the tube where the valve is fitted into it. If the nut that holds the valve at this point can be turned easily with a wrench, the chances are that the leak has been discovered.

SQUEAKS IN RUMBLE SEATS

Opening the rumble seat frequently is productive of ear spitting groans. The hinges of this seat are among the points that many motorists neglect to oil. A very light oil should be used. It works an almost immediate cure in most cases. It is well to wipe off all excess lubricant to protect the clothing of those who will use the seat later.

TIP ON BUYING USED CARS

In spite of all the advice to the contrary, many still make the odometer reading the most important factor in their appraisal of the used car. With so many fine machines of this class on the market today, the prospective purchaser should be warned against this practice. The value of a used car depends upon the care it has been given and use to which it has been put more than anything else. The odometer showing 30,000 miles easily may be borne by a car that is much better than one that has been driven but 10,000 miles if the latter has not been given good care.

INSTRUCTION BOOKS DIFFER

Instruction books coming with the latest automobiles differ greatly from those of an earlier day in the story they tell. No motorist can afford to presume to know his latest car merely because he was fairly well acquainted with the one he owned before. It still pays to read the instruction book for, otherwise, one cannot keep up with the procession. New car features have wrought many changes in the design of the car as well as in performance. It pays to know them.

TIRE CARRIER RATTLES TOO

Car owners who have been puzzled by odd noises from the rear of the automobile may be given a clue to detecting the cause by knowing that the tire carrier often is guilty. The noise it makes sometimes is difficult to locate because it is transmitted through the frame and seems to be coming from some other point. Tightening up the bolts that hold the carrier often will remedy the trouble.

William IV. 1830-1837

The negative reign of William IV. inspired the great Political, Moral and Artistic renaissance which made the Victorian era such a glorious chapter in British history.

One of the glorious chapters in the history of smoking unfolded its pages with the introduction of REX Cigarettes. Made of the finest Virginia straight cut tobacco, they are an inspiration for every smoker—a royal pleasure of royal quality.

KING OF CIGARETTES

The Wolf-Child

(By British United Press)

ALLAHABAD, April 27. —The so-called wolf-child, who was found some days ago in a cave near Allahabad, since his detention under medical supervision shows signs of understanding and repeatedly mutters "Roti," (Hindustani for "bread"), but though offered comforts he does not avail himself of them and lives in a manner lower than the lowest animals. His appetite is unsatiable and if he is not given a continuous supply of food he devours with apparent relish mud from the floor of his cell.

He was first sent to the infirmary at Allahabad, but here, when he became enraged, he bit children, tore up the floor, and attempted to pull down the walls, so he was removed to the European prison. There he tore his bedclothes to ribbons. The first night he became enraged, foamed at the mouth, bit his own arm, and attacked a burly policeman. The superintendent pinioned the child, and finding his temperature to be 104, sent for medical aid. The fit was of short duration and the following morning the temperature was normal.

The child spends the day in a sitting position, playing with his fingers, picking holes in the earthen floor, eating mud and refuse and paying no attention to the wardens or other persons. While always hungry he has little thirst, this being probably accounted for by the scarcity of water in the jungle during the summer.

The medical authorities have not certified the child as insane; hence his detention here. The fact that he has pronounced one word proves that the child was not nurtured by wolves but probably strayed into the jungle at the age of four or five. His diet is of meat, vegetables, and bread which he tears to bits like a wild animal. His teeth are in a poor state, worn probably by eating roots and gnawing bones. Doctors are reluctant to give an opinion as to the possibility of the youth regaining his reason, though the majority are of opinion that he is permanently insane.

MRS. MARGARET McPHERSON

DORCHESTER, April 27.—Mrs. Margaret McPherson, widow of Andrew McPherson, died on Thursday at the home of her son, Neil McPherson. She had been ill for two weeks.

The funeral services were held from her home at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, Rev. Charles Flemington, pastor of the United Church conducted the services.

Mrs. McPherson was born in Lot 7 P. E. Island, in 1845, later moving to Boston, where she resided until four years ago when she came to Dorchester and has lived with her son ever since.

The United Church choir sang two of her favorite hymns.

She is survived by two sons, James J., Sackville, and Neil at home, and two daughters, Mrs. Sara Cotter and Mrs. Louise McQuire of Boston, Mass.

The remains were taken to Tyne Valley, P. E. I., Tuesday where funeral services were held and interment made at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.
