HUGE CUT IN CROP ESTIMATE BOOSTS VALUES

Increased Potato Prices Predicted By Maine Dealer.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 12.—Potato prices which will reach $7 a barrel and may go as high as $10, were predicted for this fall by S. A. Wathen, of Fort Fairfield, Me., one of the big growers and dealers in the Aroostook district, who was in Woodstock today attending the Woodstock Exhibition. Mr. Wathen based his prediction on the United States crop report issued yesterday which cut $4,000,000 bushels off the previous estimate of the potato crop for this fall in the whole republic.

He pointed out that in 1926, when the total U. S. potato yield was 351 million bushels, the tubers reached the record high price of $10 per barrel. The latest estimate placed the prospective yield at $49,000,000 bushels, or two million bushels below the 1926 figures.

The first effect of the new potato estimate, he said, was the increase in the price of the product across the line to $3.50 per barrel, whereas they had been varying between $2.50 and $3 during the last few days.

SANATORIUM CAMPAIGN IS UNDER WAY

Present Indications That $60,000 Objective Will Be Realized Are Most Promising.

The present indications are that the campaign for $60,000 to build and equip a Provincial Sanatorium, which opens in all sections of Prince Edward Island on Monday, September 16th, will be the most complete and all-embracing drive ever attempted here. DR. JENKINS SERIOUSLY ILL

Montreal Doctor Expected By Plane Bringing Pneumonia Serum.

The Guardian regrets to report the serious illness of Dr. S. R. Jenkins of this city. While at his professional duty at the Charlottetown Hospital Monday morning Dr. Jenkins was seized with an acute gall bladder attack. His condition, though very painful and distressing, was not regarded as serious, and he continued to improve until early yesterday morning, when he developed left sided pneumonia, and his condition is now a subject of grave concern.

His two daughters, Miss Nora Jenkins and Miss Hilda Jenkins, nurses in New York City, are now on their way home. His son, Dr. J. S. Jenkins, got in touch with the Rockefeller Institute, New York, in an endeavor to procure immediate delivery of pneumonia serum, but found that no aeroplane was available for flight service in the Maritime Provinces. He then communicated by phone with Dr. Ray Brown, Montreal, who served three years with the Rockefeller Institute and is an authority on the treatment. Dr. Brown left by the Ocean Limited last night, carrying with him the four types of serum that may be required. He will be met at Campbellton, N. B., by Pilot Wendell Rogers, of the Atlantic Airways, St. John, and is expected to reach here by plane at noon today.

Further reports of Dr. Jenkins' condition will be awaited with keen anxiety throughout the Province.

The King of Spain may introduce dirt-track motorcycle racing into his country.

SERUM AVAILABLE WITHIN FEW DAYS

Efforts Will Be Made To Combat Infantile Paralysis By Preparing Serum At P. E. I. Hospital Many Children, Previously Stricken, Offer Their Blood.

It is hoped to have serum available for the treatment of infantile paralysis in the course of a few days, according to an authoritative statement received by The Guardian yesterday.

The Prince Edward Island Hospital is making arrangements to prepare the blood of a number of children who have recovered from the disease. Through the efforts of Miss Wilson, chief Red Cross nurse, eleven children will be in readiness at the hospital today to give the necessary quantity of blood for the preparation of the serum. Several other children, it is understood, have volunteered in this noble service to the community. The eagerness with which the children have offered their services in this connection is a fine example of unselfishness and good citizenship. Apart from the nominal remuneration they will receive for their blood they are helping to prevent other children from contracting the disease from which they themselves had suffered, and this fact will long stand to their credit. One little tot, whose parents considered her too young to risk the ordeal, was quite insistent that she be given an opportunity of serving in this way.

Most of the children selected contracted the disease during the epidemic four years ago, and are regarded as suitable cases for the experiment. It is supposed that the length of time that has elapsed since the children recovered from the disease may have some bearing on the efficacy of the serum produced from their blood. The time limit, however, is indefinite, as instances are recorded in which blood was taken after a long period of years. Re-

COLLISION VICTIM IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Arthur Cloutier Now Under Arrest In Connection With Yesterday's Traffic Accident.

A serious accident took place yesterday morning shortly before 11 o'clock, when Mr. J. J. McGillivray, of Vernon Bridge was painfully injured in a collision between two cars; one, a Ford, driven by Mr. McGillivray, and the other a Pontiac driven by Arthur Cloutier, of Ontario, engineer of the suction dredge, operating here, who was arrested in the city at 7:30 yesterday evening.

The accident took place at the intersection of Queen and Dorchester Streets. Mr. McGillivray was driving along Dorchester Street going east when Cloutier's car, alleged to have been driven at a high rate of speed came down Queen Street, struck the Ford, causing it to spin around three times, and finally lodged it against the curb. Mr. McGillivray was thrown out of the car as it struck the curb, and was found in a very painful condition, suffering internally as well as from injuries to the head and spine. One hand was badly crushed and there was a long gash over the left eye. He was taken to the City Hospital, where an X-ray examination showed a small bone fractured in the skull as well as three broken ribs. At a late hour last night he was reported resting fairly well, although suffering some abdominal pain. The doctors state that he should make a good recovery if nothing unforeseen results from the internal injuries.

The occupants of the other car, three local men and three from the suction dredge, lost no time in making a getaway. Their car received but slight damage—a bent engine hood and a twisted axle.

Mr. McGillivray's car was badly smashed. Both wheels and both mudguards on one side were twisted and broken. The running board was also smashed and the glass in the windshield and window demolished.

Two of the men in the Pontiac car got on board the dredge which was leaving port at the time. It appears that shortly before the dredge was due to leave the engineer and two companions went up town to bid some friends good bye. The men were rushing to embark when the accident occurred, the tug blowing for several minutes for the rising members of the crew.

Some of the men were in the car while two or three were standing on the running board, all singing and shouting. After the accident they ran for the wharf but the dredge had just pulled out and one of the men jumped overboard thinking he could swim the distance but it was impossible and he was rescued by others on the wharf. The men then hired a motor boat and were put on board the dredge at Governor's Island.

Ten minutes after the accident Chief of Police Birtwistle with Police Officer Joseph Trainor were on board Malcolm Irwin's motor yacht in pursuit of the driver of the car

MUSSOLINI GIVES UP PORTFOLIOS

Relinquishes Six Cabinet Posts and Distributes Them Among His Under-Secretaries.

(Special to The Guardian)
ROME, Sept. 12.—Premier Benito Mussolini startled the political world today by giving up six of his cabinet posts and distributing them among his under-secretaries. The portfolios given up by the Italian dictator were for Foreign Affairs, War, Marine, Air, Colonies and Labor. He retained two cabinet posts besides his premiership, those of Public Works and Interior.

In retaining the Interior portfolio and the premiership, Signor Mussolini kept the two posts considered most important in his government. A royal decree announced changes also in other cabinet posts and in the under secretaryship of the Interior portfolio, which the duke retained.

The reorganization astounded Rome. Although it was known that a shakeup was impending, it has been thought that the ministers merely would be eliminated and Mussolini become a sort of chancellor with sole title of the ministries vested in himself. Instead, Mussolini has more markedly placed in a post of distinction as president of the cabinet. He will be more than the time-honored "primus inter pares," but will outrank the remainder of the cabinet in every way and will hold each answerable to himself. The system will resemble somewhat that of the United States where the secretaries are answerable to the president.

QUEBEC, Sept. 12.—A. R. McMaster, K. C., former member of parliament for Brome, Que., was today appointed provincial treasurer in succession to Hon. Jacob Nicol who has resigned the portfolio to accept a seat in the legislative council. The new treasurer was sworn in at the legislative building by Lieutenant Governor Hon. H. G. REFUSED PERMIT TO ENTER N. B. FORESTS

Publicity Intended By The Experiment Is Not Desirable For The Province of New Brunswick.

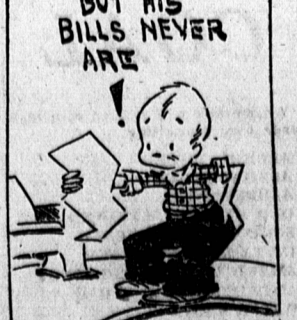

(Canadian Press)
FREDERICTON, N. B., September 12.—Burt W. McConnell, of New York, has been refused a permit to enter the forests of New Brunswick to make the attempt to maintain himself for eight or ten weeks without weapons or tools and lightly clad or nude. Hon. C. D. Richards, Minister of Lands and Mines, has declined to alter his original decision to grant no permit. After Mr. McConnell's personal application on Tuesday the minister reconsidered the matter but again has refused and has so notified Mr. McConnell, who is now in St. John with Chester Hope, a New York press representative.

The grounds stated by Hon. Mr. Richards in stating his refusal are that the selection of New Brunswick for the experiment in primitive life is not appreciated, and that the fire hazard in the forests still is too great and that the publicity intended by the experiment is not desirable for the Province of New Brunswick. Facilities to hunt or fish in New Brunswick at the usual season and under ordinary conditions were offered by the minister.

RUSSIANS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE

China Drifting Helplessly Into War With Powerful Soviet Neighbor.

(Special to The Guardian)
SHANGHAI, Sept. 12.—With the entire Manchurian-Siberian border ablaze with war and Russia expecting pressure by land and rivers, official admission was made by Chinese sources of their initial defeat on the eastern front by the announcement that Pogradichnaya was reduced to ashes and a new defense line is being established by the Manchurian forces at Muling, the first place of any size 40 miles west of the border.

The railway ceased to operate east of Muling, and the remnant of the Chinese defenders of the Pogradichnaya region were out of touch with the new defense position except by military wireless.

The intensive bombardments by Russian artillery and planes of Manchuria and Dalainor were indecisive, Chinese reports declare. Two minor engagements occurred on the Amur River between gunboats near Blagoveshensk, and seven Soviet gunboats appeared at the mouth of the Sungarie River which had been mined by the Chinese. The large bodies of Russians which captured Tunghing-Hsien three days ago are now advancing upon the railway, having flanked Pogradichnaya by this move, and aerial bombers are extending their activities to the new Chinese line at Muling.

That Nanking still hopes for a settlement was indicated by its continued official silence and utter lack of war-like propaganda to arouse the country against Russia. This abstention from propaganda is puzzling and in marked contrast to the immediate report to this weapon against Japan in May of last year during the Tsinan'g clash.

The pathetic spectacle is afforded here of a nation practically bankrupt drifting helplessly into war with a powerful neighbor. Grave anxiety is felt lest Russia plans to synchronize its onslaught from without with a communistic uprising within, and so achieve its long cherished project of the Sovietization of China.

Fighting Resumed

(Canadian Press)
MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 12.—A Chinese official communique today stated fighting was resumed this morning at Pogradichnaya, Eastern Terminal of the Chinese Eastern Railway. Russian forces were repulsed it was stated.
