BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES
 (By Thornton W. Burgess)

THE PADDY'S HAVE VISITORS
 Some folks just love to loaf and lurk Where they can watch their neighbors work.

—Paddy the Beaver.

Paddy knows. He is a worker. He comes of a working family. The Beavers have always been workers. They believe that anything worth having is worth working for; that getting what you want is fun and therefore working is fun.

"The tree you cut yourself tastes better than trees cut by some one else." is an old Beaver saying.

But is isn't that way with a lot of their neighbors. They would much rather watch Paddy and Mrs. Paddy work than do any work themselves. Some of them are, I suspect even sorry for Paddy and Mrs. Paddy. Others with nothing to do themselves look down on them. It often is that way with idle folk.

For a few days after starting work on the new dam that was to make the pond was to be their new home they had no visitors. No one knew where they were. They were glad of it. They didn't want any visitors. Visitors sometimes interfere with work. Even if they do not interfere it isn't pleasant to feel that you are being watched and that everything you do is being criticized. No sir, it isn't pleasant at all. It is curious how those looking on seem always to know better how a thing should be done than those doing it.

Mr. and Mrs. Paddy had a chance to make a good beginning on their new dam before they were discovered. Then the news of where they were and what they were doing travelled fast as such news does in the Green Forest, and visitors began coming. Most of them were friendly enough, but the two workers knew that sooner or later certain hungry hunters would come looking for a Beaver dinner. This meant that now while they worked they must also keep constant watch lest danger creep upon them when least suspected.

Croaker the Raven stopped every morning to see how work was progressing.

Croaker the Raven stopped every morning to see how work was progressing. Some folks seem to think that Croaker is black-hearted. They think the same thing of his smaller cousin, Blacky general. Often the worst looking are the very nicest people. It is just because their coats are black. How queer it is that people so often are judged almost wholly by their clothes and their looks in general. Often the worst looking are the very nicest people. It is just because their coats are black. How queer it is that people so often are judged almost wholly by their clothes and their looks in general.

"What is too bad?" asked Paddy. "That you had to leave your fine home on the Great Mountain. It certainly is too bad," replied Croaker.

"It is bad," agreed Paddy. "Of course it is bad, but not too bad. It could be worse. Nothing is too bad than can be worse. We will have a good home here."

"But think of the work you'll have to do," said Croaker dolefully.

"Croak won't hurt us," spoke up Mrs. Paddy.

"You haven't much time," croaked the big Raven.

Just then Lightfoot the Deer arrived. "So here you are! I've won. Here's what had become of you," said he.

"Yes replied Paddy, "here we are and here we are going to stay."

"Do you expect that puddle to be a pond big enough for you to live in before Jack Frost comes?" asked Lightfoot.

"We hope so," said Paddy.

"He may come early," said Lightfoot.

"And he may not," snapped Mrs. Paddy.

"Think of the work they will have to do," said Croaker.

Lightfoot shook his handsome head. "I don't want to think of it. I don't work myself. Just thinking of it gives me that tired feeling."

"Safety and plenty to eat when some folks I know are in danger of starving," said Mrs. Paddy. She was looking straight at Lightfoot when she spoke.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it!
 AXYDLBAAXE is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
