NOTE FOR HITLER

There has been no successful invasion of Britain since 1066; no civil war since 1660.

THE COOK'S CORNER

Miner one pound pork until meat is tender, enough to slip from bones. Remove meat, cool and grind. Measure remaining liquid and add enough water to make a quart. Bring broth to a boil. Add 1-2 cups corn meal slowly, stirring the while. Add teaspoon salt, tablespoon celery leaves, minced, also 1-4 cup minced parsley and 1-2 teaspoon sage, and add 1/2 cup fat. Pour mixture into loaf pan and chill until set. Slice, dip in beaten egg and then in cracker crumbs. Fry in lard until slices are crisp and nicely browned.

WHEN CHILDREN Catch Cold

It is usually because their resistance is lowered. Build up their vital reserves of strength with the aid of Father John's Medicine. This body-building medicine has been used successfully for over 85 years both in the treatment of colds and to help rebuild strength and vitality. Free from alcohol or harmful drugs, it is absolutely safe for children and adults.

Ottawa Experienced Severe Cold Spell

OTTAWA, Feb. 17 (CP)—In a week-end storm that sent temperatures to the lowest point in 10 years thousands of railway passengers in this district spent the night in stranded trains. Under censorship regulations publication of information about the storm outside eastern Ontario and Quebec was withheld until today. In Ottawa, residents shivered in a temperature of 36 degrees below zero and faced curtailment of milk supplies when roads were blocked. The temperature was the lowest officially recorded since the winter of 1933-34 when thermometers reached 38 below, a record for 59 years. Railways and bus lines faced the double handicap of unusually cold weather and heavy snow drifts, which were piled up by a sharp wind that accentuated the cold. Bus lines suspended most operations and local trains out of Ottawa were cancelled Monday.

Alberta Decides To Ration Liquor

EDMONTON, Feb. 21 (CP)—J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, late Saturday announced new liquor purchasing regulations, effective Monday, which Albertans will be limited to 20 ounces of any hard liquor per month. The single exception, he said, would be in brands of hard liquor still in stock in 40-ounce bottles and these will be sold, 40 ounces to each permit holder per month, until the supply is exhausted. No change was made in the beer purchase limit of a dozen pints or half a dozen quarts per week.

NEW DELHI, Feb. 21 (CP)—British planes hammered the Japanese in the wide area of Burma Saturday, a communique said today. Blenheim bombers attacked Aungmye and Simabak on the Mayu Peninsula and villages north of Akyab, the Bay of Bengal port that is the immediate objective of Field Marshal Sir Archibald Wavell's army. Hurricanes shot up railways, trucks and a paddle steamer in the lower Chindwin River valley. A small craft was sunk in the Kalandan River.

THE VALLEYFIELD W.M.S.—February meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Munroe Bruce. Plans were made for the World Day of Prayer service which is to be observed on March 12th this year. The Program for the evening on the topic "Wholesome Recreation" was in charge of Mrs. Harry Van Brusker; several interesting readings were given on this topic and a special period followed on questions relating to the topic. Mrs. M. J. Fraser, who attended the P. E. I. Presbyterial which was held at Kensington gave a very full and interesting report of the meetings and carried on a contest to acquaint the members with the names of officers of the Presbyterial for this year. Miss Annie MacLeod led in the closing worship service, the theme being in keeping with the topic of Wholesome Recreation. Several members took part in this devotional period; at the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Miss Annie MacLeod.

Stresses Value Of Good Work

The following inspiring address was given by Mr. W. G. Gog at the recent Father and Son Banquet in the United Church. "Give us a Good Start, Daddy." What an unsuspected prayer, what trusting assumption of fatherly love and helpfulness there is in those innocent, perhaps words, "Give us a good start, Daddy." So that when we enter into that life and death race men call "earnings and living," we shall not be unfairly handicapped at the outset by lack of ability to do those things which today's technical age promises will be far more difficult and intricate tomorrow. "Give us a good start, Daddy," the educational advantages and opportunities that are essential to cultural well-being, prestige, and the respect of those with whom our business and social competitors when we have grown to manhood. "Give us a good start, Daddy," so that the final record of our lives may be a fitting monument to the memory of a loving father who wisely made sure that we would receive our rightful heritage from his dear hands, regardless of fate. Dreaming of the things that we dream to do is not given to mock us. There is a reality back of it. There is a divinity behind the legitimate desires of the soul for the realization of those ideals. A man will remain a rag-picker as long as he has only the vision of the rag-picker. Our attitude, our hearts desire, is our perpetual prayer which Nature answers. She takes it for granted that we desire what we are headed toward, and she helps us to find the way. That is the answer he received: In our home we have a practice of gathering in a family circle and sitting down as we gather at our table at meal time. The father offers a prayer. I miss that more than anything else. A story is told of a gentleman who, while on a business trip, met one of the wealthiest business citizens of a large city. The business man, in the course of conversation, said: "Would you like to know what I am going to do for my boy for Christmas?" His friend said yes, and expected to hear that a large cheque was to be given. But instead the father pulled out his wallet and took from it a piece of paper, and this is what his travelling companion read: "To my dear son: I give you one hour of each week for the next six months. If you want it without interference of any kind whatsoever." Then the father said this explanation: "One day I was in my office and a human derelict came in to see me. When he mentioned his name I said 'lad to see you like this—and with such a father!' 'Well I have often heard that he was a fine man, the boy answered. All his friends have said so, never knew him. He was so much occupied with his business and his associates that only saw him occasionally at meals. I never knew him, 'that made me think, but so I am going to try and have my boy.' Henry Grady once stood in Washington and, looking up at the hill where the Capital stands, he said: 'That is the Capital of my nation, the Capital where the laws are made.' But later he went back home to Atlanta and wrote: 'I was wrong when I said that was the Capital of the nation; the Capital is where the children are taught to love God, whether it be a palace or a hog hut, and what the nation needs is more Christian homes.'

Human Mind Ageless

I like to think of William Pitt becoming Prime Minister of England at 24, and of Gladstone as Prime Minister at 8. Of Newton deducting the law of gravitation at 24, and of Galileo building a modern pendulum clock at 79, of Westinghouse inventing the air brake at 22, and of Einstein completing his "Cosmos" at the age of 30. Of Alexander Hamilton being Secretary of U.S. Treasury at 32. It is good to know that genius for accomplishment knows no boundaries of age, that the human mind does not grow old, and that the capacity for great performance remains with us always. If it were not so, then the high performance would be unattainable, and when the deadline of forty or forty-five had been reached, we could only look enviously at the triumphs of others. All rivers do not reach the sea. Yet, they should, it is their destiny. But some rivers succumb themselves in the barren sands of loss before they reach the sea.

Victory For Love

By PAMELA WYNNE CHAPTER VI In spite of herself Joan was pleased and excited. To make someone someone else's was fun, especially the English people were suit and handsome. So they were because they were self-conscious. "Mere, mere, Madame; je vous en prie." "Thank you, thank you, Monsieur. I pray you, Monsieur. Monsieur seized the back of the chair that Joan was hospitably urging forward. The lady must not incommode herself. He tried to go haltingly. "Oh, no, but I want you to be comfortable; you see, you've had a most frightful journey—at least I expect you have. Look, you sit there and I'll sit here and I'll pour out your tea and have some more myself. As a rule, I should have tea and my visitors because I expect they'd much rather be alone, but this evening I shall have my meals with you unless you mind because I shall be charmed," said Monsieur courteously. Seating himself with care he adjusted the creases of his faultlessly pressed trousers. He smiled across at Joan because he felt she deserved it. She was trying to make him feel at home and at ease, and she did not know—how could she?—how he would rather be left to himself to adjust to his new circumstances. "We have another sitting room here." "A different sort of room to this; more scrubby. Then there's another quite tiny one that I have got ready for myself, so that I can be alone, and so can my visitors. Do

Boy Scout Week

From the Director of Military Training to the Chief Executive Commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association.

BINGO

Holy Redeemer Hall TONIGHT 8.30 The prizes are the same as those prevailing at other Bingos in the city. Freezout For Charitable Purposes

Dear Mr. Stiles: I am sure that you are finding it most difficult to obtain Scout Leaders and older boys, in view of the very large numbers who have enlisted for overseas service. This, of course, was inevitable, and as the spirit of public service engendered in members of your organization is just the sort of thing that would dictate such a course of action in the present emergency.

I have followed rather closely the training being given to Boy Scouts over a period of a good many years, and I can only speak in the very highest terms of this training and what it means to the youth of our day.

There is something rather difficult to define in the Boy Scout; something many, independent in its very finest sense, reliable, courteous, something that is so often lacking in the modern boy who has not come under the influence of the Boy Scouts Association.

The development of character, courage, and sense of responsibility produced through your lectures and practical application of woodcraft, camping, swimming, navigation and handicrafts of various sorts, a good deal up to a total which makes the Boy Scout stand out far ahead of the average boy who has not had the advantages of this training.

The training is, of course, important in civil as well as in military life, but is particularly valuable in time of war to officers and soldiers, as I do most sincerely wish your Association the degree of success which it deserves in the marvellous work that they are doing in connection with the training of youth in Canada.

Yours sincerely, R. G. WHITELAW, Colonel, Director of Military Training, Department of National Defence, Ottawa, 16th May, 1942.
