A FINE NEW YEAR'S GIFT.

From the Montreal 'Daily Witness.'

One of the best New Year's gifts that Canada can receive is the announcement that the Canadian Pacific Railway is about to increase its capital by $28,320,000. At the head of the Canadian Pacific are not only many of the ablest men of the country, but, because of the vast enterprise they own and administer on the land and rivers, the lakes and the oceans, men exceptionally in a position to judge the likely course of future events. In such circumstances, the words of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the company, speaking for the board of directors are most inspiring. The directors 'are convinced that Canada will continue to progress, and that there will be no temporary set-back resulting from financial conditions in other parts of the world, it will prove comparatively unimportant.' Therefore it is held to be vitally important that the Canadian Pacific should proceed without cessation in the course adopted some years ago, of adding to the railway's facilities in every direction, so as to be prepared to cope with the very largely increased traffic sure to be thrown on your lines.' Such language is indeed inspiring, and will restore confidence and buoyancy to those who were formerly so timidly pessimistic as to the immediate future, even so far as Canada was concerned. As the 'Witness' has presciently
