New St. Louis Coach Likes "Tough Spots"

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—Daniel Philip Howley, who has been signed to manage the St. Louis Browns for three years, likes "tough spots" He said so himself.

The declaration followed mention of the fact that he was encountering a "tough spot" in taking over the reins of Phil Ball's aggregation from George Sisler.

"I wouldn't feel at home in a soft spot," the Irish pilot said. "I've had tough ones all my life."

Brought Toronto To Top

He then recounted his experiences with Montreal for four years, his management of Toronto in 1918 when the war took away all his players, and how, in 1926, there was not a single player who had been in Toronto uniform when he was appointed manager. Toronto won the International League race and then whipped Louisville.

Howley, a native of Massachusetts, had a varied career in baseball. Farmed out by Indianapolis to Grand Rapids, he helped that club win a pennant in 1906. The next four years he caught for the Hoosier team and helped them win a bunting in 1910. Ordered to report and went to Utica. He was sold to Cleveland in 1912, was assigned to Portland and in 1913 was bought by the Phillies.

It was at that time Howley said, that he realized that he was not destined for a big league catcher. He chose to manage a club.

His Diamond Theories

Howley has several requisites for success on the diamond.

"You must have the players," he said. "The players must be in condition. The players must hustle and there must be harmony. "Never humiliate a baseball player on the field," is another.

As to his method of operation, he prefers a tight defense and good pitching rather than concentration on slugging.

One practice session a day during the training season is a cardinal virtue of the Brown's helm.

"I believe in one practice session a day, but it must be a long drill, with the players hustling every minute of the time. When you try two sessions, the noon hour and lunch break up the work and the afternoon session is worse than time wasted."

THE MARKETS

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 7.—A moderate amount of business was done in wheat with the United Kingdom on the Montreal grain market today. There was also an improved demand for ocean freight from Canadian winter ports and quite a few loads were booked at five shillings per quarter for December-January loading. A feature of the domestic market was the continued demand from exporters for wheat and barley and sales were made at c.i.f. prices by ports. The local and country demand for oats was steady and prices were unchanged. The spring wheat flour market was moderately active and firm. The movement of winter wheat flour was slow but values were steady. The market for four lines of millfeed was active with a strong undertone, but no further change in prices were announced.

The tone of the market for standard grades of rolled oats was firm under a steady demand. A fairly active business was done in storage eggs and indications are that values may go higher in the near future in sympathy with the strength of late in the United States markets. The tone of the market for strictly fresh eggs was strong on account of the small offerings and the good demand. The receipts were 819 cases. To Cut All Salaries In Minors

End of Star Play-Manager Prediction—No Contracts Offered Until Spring, Says Higgins

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Dec. 7.—High priced baseball play-managers are under fire here among baseball men gathering for the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball League.

Some of them predict the end of the star play-manager, pointing to the retirement recently of Eddie Collins, Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker and George Sisler as managers.

Manager Higgins, manager of the New York American League Club, said today that neither Babe Ruth nor any of the other Yankee stars would be offered a contract until next year.

$15,000 Limit

Along with the movement to bring down high salaries in managerial circles is a proposal of Otto Borchert, President and owner of the Milwaukee American Association Club, to limit the price to be paid by major league clubs for outstanding players in the minors. Borchert is of the opinion that $15,000 is price enough for any player and so will propose to the convention tomorrow

Opera Star Claims Noted Leiler Singer

HERLIN, Dec. 4.—Time has merely mellowed the charms of Lilli Lehmann, former prima donna of the Metropolitan opera. She still suggests the youthful interpreter of German lieder in the retention of her mental vigor at 78.

With her sister Marie, also a singer of note, Frau Lehmann spends her declining years in an attractive villa in the beautiful suburban section of Berlin known as Grunewald. Opera goes on occasionally and she hears her at a performance. She has a number of advanced music students, including a few Americans.

Was International Idol

Mozart is her favorite composer and this year she made her usual pilgrimage to the Salzburg festival, where in former years she sang the leading roles and stage managed Mozart gems.

Her pupils say from experience that she is as vigorous as ever. Madame Lehmann was the idol not only of the royal opera of Berlin but of New York and the numerous other American cities where she sang. The older opera goers of Prague, Danzig, Leipzig, Berlin, Bayreuth, Stockholm, London, Dresden, Vienna, Paris and Salzburg are enthusiastic admirers of her even today.

Few persons have hobnobbed with as many celebrities as has Lilli Lehmann. She counted Grover Cleveland among her closest friends. Richard Wagner liked her so much that he offered to adopt her. Andrew Carnegie presided over a musical program given by her on the high seas in 1899. She was a confident of William I of Germany, Francis Joseph of Austria, Oscar II of Sweden and William II of Germany in bestowing decorations upon her.

Honored by Contemporaries

Giuseppe Verdi agreed to com to Cologne in 1877 personally to conduct his "Requiem" when assured that Lilli Lehmann would sing the soprano solo part. Car Schurz was one of a group of legal minds in America who urged Frau Lehmann to break her contract with the royal opera at Berlin in order to branch out into a larger field in the United States. Adelin Fatti, then the queen of prima donnas, awarded her a place of one of her London benefits concert programs in 1881.

Franz Liszt, Johannes Brahms and Gustav Mahler, the composers; Carmen Sylva, the regal poetess; Adolf von Menzel, the painter and Theodore Thomas, the Chicago music master, are some of the geniuses with whom she associated.

In the semi-final Art Sanford, of England, 132 1/2, obtained the decision over Phil Rivers, of Toronto 133 1/2, after eight rounds.

Art Love, of Liverpool, 124, lost an unpopular decision to George Barber, of Toronto, 126, after six rounds.

Fredde Lonsdale of Hamilton, 13 1/2, was awarded the decision over Scotty Wilson of St. Catharines, 17 3/4, after six rounds.

Bowlers Banquetted At League Of Cross Last Night

After the Bowling match last night in the L. O. C. the different bowling teams were entertained by a social hour and smoker.

The President opened the entertainment by a few remarks after which he presented the cup to Capt. James Heron captain of the Anchors Bowling Team who won the championship for 1925-26. A prize was presented to each member of the winning team which was made up as follows: Capt. J. Heron, J. Webster, W. Halpenny, T. Howatt, B. Poole and P. McMahon. Special prizes were also presented to P. McMahon for the highest total in three games, 744, while C. Kelly won the prize for having the highest single, namely 311. After this the different teams were treated to a banquet and smokes. The musical numbers followed next and were much enjoyed.

Mr. H. Brydges played the harp and mouth organ.

Mr. A. McQuaid the violin and J. Heron mouth organ.

Mr. A. McLean at the piano.

Several pleasing solos were given by H. Brydges, A. McQuaid and L. Dolron, after which several of the members gave a sing song which was followed by God Save the King.

RAILWAY MEN HURT

(Canadian Press)

AMHERST, N. S.—Two Canada National Railway Trackmen were hurt today when a shunting engine struck them as they walked down the right of ways to investigate damage to the round house which had just been unroofed by the storm. Arthur O. Smith, was tossed into a snowbank and not badly hurt. His companion Wilfred Nelson, suffered a fractured skull. The engine was moving slowly but the engineer blinded by the snow, could not see the men on the track, while the wind drowned the sound of the engine.

Maritime Patrol Daily Watch Seas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—While seas quietly lap the shores of the world, a vigilant maritime patrol, unknown to most "landlubbers," busily stalks the silent but treacherous foe to commercial shipping—floating debris, land obstructions, drifting buoys, derelicts and opaque fogs are constant menaces to navigation against which war must be waged. The nerve center of operations the world over is the Hydrographic office of the Navy department.

This bureau traces first of all to keep a finger on the whereabouts of all dangers to shipping about which it is imperative, in safety's cause, to know. An elaborate intelligence service, enlisting cooperation of hydrographic services of other countries, assists the bureau to chart known impediments to water traffic, and send out warnings.

Constant communication with ships, at sea, advising them of newly sighted derelicts, rafts, and other things is maintained. The bureau supplies all navigators with information and asks their reciprocation by advising of the longitude and latitude of icebergs and other strayings. It immediately disseminates the news over all ocean highways.

Meanwhile the Navy and Coast Guard anti-submarine squadrons are notified and patrols sent to visit the scenes of drifters and remove them.

A target raft which had to be abandoned during a hurricane while it was being towed caused "police" of the main" some trouble.

After a ten day search it was located, the position signalled to the hydrographic bureau and six destroyers were sent to look for it. "The minesweeper "Rail" eventually picked up the tow, and hauled it into port.

Reconnaissance patrols are maintained along water highways in the spring months to look out for errant icebergs. The patrols are with-trawled June 30, when it is assumed the shipping lanes are safe. The duty of patrol boats is to report fully to the hydrographic office which rebroadcasts twice a day warnings to mariners.

Invaluable service is carried on by radio from the hydrographic office for the guidance of open-sea navigators who may lack knowledge of conditions on approaching American shores. Radio compass bearings are broadcast to aid them.
