In Memoriam

MRS. CATHERINE CROKEN

There passed peacefully away on Tuesday, July 16th at her home in Emerald Jct., Mrs. Catherine Croken, widow of the late Edward Croken of that place. Mrs. Croken was in her seventy-eighth year, and although in failing health for a number of years was able to be up around until a week previous to her sudden death, caused by a stroke. She was a woman of sterling character and the good she has done and assistance she has rendered to the needy will never be known, and all recipients of her hospitality and friendship feel that a lady of high christian character has passed from them to the great beyond.

She was a devout member of the Roman Catholic Church and will be greatly missed in this community for her ever untiring efforts in securing all good things for the community. She received the last rites of the church from her pastor, Rev. Phalen McKenna, who visited with her many times during her illness. She leaves to mourn her loss one daughter, Mrs. Earl McCarville, Emerald Jct., and two sons, St. Clair on the homestead with whom she resided, and Aloysius of Kensington; two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Sheenan, Kinkora and Mrs. Pennie O'Grady of Leaminster, Mass.

Her largely attended funeral took place on Thursday morning, July 18th to St. James Church, Summerfield, where a solemn High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. B. Croken who also conducted the services at the grave.

The many beautiful floral offerings and numerous mass cards themselves speak of the respect and esteem in which this kind old lady was held by all.

The pallbearers were Messrs. George Mayne, George Power, Joseph McDonald, Thomas Hughes John McEntee and Clayton Green. May her soul rest in peace.—H.

Women Take Over Many Jobs In Britain

(Attached to the London Bureau of the Canadian Presss since she fled from France at the fall of Paris Gladys Arnold contributes this fifth story in a series on Britain's metamorphosis since the French surrender. For several years Miss Arnold, formerly of the Regina Leader-Post, wrote a weekly Paris letter for the Canadian Press).

By GLADYS ARNOLD
Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 5.—(CP)— There are few jobs in Britain that women aren't doing today, and none they wouldn't tackle if given a chance. Repercussions from the crumbling of France pushed the national service doors a little further ajar to women as more men became needed for the armed forces.

Determination Strengthened

"Women were aware of the work they could do and were itching to do it even before France was overrun," Miss Elizabeth MacDonald, writer and influential member of many women's organizations told me. "Their determination has only been strengthened to make it can't happen here' a reality. That's why Im behind the Amazons Defence Corps. The desire thousands of British women are expressing to be armed and trained to shoot is only one symptom that the lesson of France has been understood. Had the women over there been armed, who knows what might have happened?"

Red-headed, wide-awake Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor M.P., agreed with her. "Yet it is being objected to by those who still believe we are frail and helpless creatures," she lamented.

Dr. Summerskill's patients are drawn from the women and girls of many industries. They come to her tired and worn after weeks of working 12 hours a day.

"They don't ask for a week or 10 days rest," she explained. "They say 'I'll be all right in a day or two; won't I, doctor? Just give me a bottle of tonic to fix me up'.

"As one of my telephone girls expressed their feelings: 'Guess we've just got to speed up now we are on our own, and just go to it as 'Erbie Morrison says.'"

Speed Up is Word

Speed-up is the word. It has given a handful of internationally-known airwomen their chance—Amy Johnson, Mrs. Lambton and Mona Friedlander among them. Thousands of girls want to be pilots.

Every time a call goes out for women, thousands queue for the few positions open. When London bus companies asked for 200 "smart, alert girls, used to handling money and who won't get flustered in awkward or difficult situations," more than 40 times as many who exactly fitted the bill applied, an official reported.

Housewives have discovered many ways of speeding up their part besides giving tons of aluminum kettles and sauce pans for building aircraft. Mass canning of the country's fruit by methods that require little sugar is proceeding at more than 1,000 "national jam" depots. Tired factory workers are being given a day's rest or a week-end by volunteer housewives. Some have joined in A. R. P. work by guaranteeing supplies of hot water, blankets and bandages for the wounded.

Women members of the National Cyclists Union have found jobs as messengers for the Minister of Information, A. R. P. and other services. More thousands are applying. White coats and smart blue "Kepis" are uniforms of girls delivering milk in parts of London. Garages throughout the country are filling with girl mechanics.

In London there are 140 policewomen, but women are urging that the number be increased to release men for other work. Even the staid London banks have opened cashier jobs to women just as they did 25 years ago.

Another outlet for women desiring to help is the land army in which many city girls are hard at work raising vegetables which will bring the country nearer self-sufficiency on the food front.

Lakes Towing Firm Tightens-up On Information

CLEVELAND, Aug. 5 —(AP) — The Great Lakes Towing Company, "in cooperation with the government," is restricting its distribution of information concerning movements of Great Lakes freighters, President Chester W. Willett said today.

"We are now refusing to give out information of that kind promiscuously," Willett said. "We shall not furnish answers to telephone calls for information unless we are sure to whom we are talking. We started this last fall, and now are tightening up more."

The company does harbor-towing in all the major Great Lakes ports except Milwaukee. It brings to dock the 300 freighters which are engaged in transporting iron from northern ranges to steel mills via the Sault Ste. Marie canal, which is closely guarded by the government.

Willett said, however, the clamp upon information was in "cooperation" with the United States government rather than a result of a direct order. He said relatives of crewmen would continue to receive information, and port lists would be available as usual to newspapers in the lakes territory for their own own information, but other queries would be referred to the boats' owners for disposition as the latter saw fit.

Several Bitten By Snake In Religious Orgy

CINCINNATI, Aug. 5.—(AP) — Bitten by a copperhead snake at the height of a religious orgy, a 46-year-old nurse was in a serious condition today and two men-members of a cult bore lesser wounds.

"We'll use snakes in our services whenever the Lord requires," declared Roberts Sears, railroad worker who as pastor of the "True Church of God" employs the title "brother." He added that Mrs. Ethel Sheeby, the nurse, was in a hospital because "she didn't feel the power of the Lord" as the poisonous reptile was passed to her and other members of the congregation at services last night. Police invaded the meeting and seized two snakes.

"We only handle them when the Lord gives us power," he asserted, "At any other time we suffer from the poison, too."

Brother Sears reached for a Bible, turned to Mark XVI:18: "They shall take up serpents and if they drink any deedly thing it shall not hurt them . . ." Then to Luke X:19 "Behold I give unto you the power to tread on serpents — nothing shall by any means hurt you."

"See there," he smiled, "that's what the Bible tells you . . . and it's true!"

(In Adel, Ga., today Albert Rowan, father of a six-year-old girl, who was bitten by a snake during religious rites, was released from jail on bond after his daughter, Letha Mae, was declared "out of danger")

Royal Navy Loses 6,221 Killed Or Missing

LONDON, Aug. 6—(Tuesday) — (CP) — The Royal Navy was estimated today to have lost 6,221 officers and men, killed or missing, since war began.

Royal Air Force casualties in 11 months of fighting were placed at more than 4,000.

Admiralty announcements showed 2,988 sailors and officers killed or fatally wounded, 3,204, missing and 29 taken prisoner. In addition, 1,849 were wounded.

The Air Ministry's 41st casualty list, covering an unspecified period, was released today, showing 150 airmen missing and 22 killed in action.

Added to the previous lists, it gave a total for the war of 1,782 missing, 620 killed and 241 wounded in action; 358 who died, 736 killed and 174 wounded "on active service"; and 188 prisoners of war.

"Active service" casualties are those suffered in non-operational flying duties, or on the ground through enemy action, the Air Ministry explained.
