LETTER OF SYMPATHY

To Mr. Charles Coles, Milton, P.E.I.

Dear Sir and Brother:— We whose names are subscribed hereto have been deputed a committee representing Barton L. O. L. No. 1051 to convey to you and your family the heartfelt sympathy of your Orange Brethren in the recent and most sad double affliction through which the Master has been pleased to call upon you to pass. Mere words cannot adequately express what we feel for you.

A fervent grip of the hand and the prayerful wish May God comfort you and yours, convey far better the deep feeling not only of your Orange Brethren but of all who know you. We would remind you that Paradise has far more inhabitants than earth has; and we bid you take courage, and we thank God with you for the fact that Heaven will not seem a strange place to us, because

"I'm but a stranger here, Heaven is my Home."

For, not only will our Father, God, and His Son, our Master Jesus Christ and all the Redeemer, be there to welcome us, but also all those dear ones who sleep in the "Lord" and of whom we are mourning the temporary loss.

That a grand welcome therefore awaits us!

We cannot close without thanking you for the wonderful uplift and blessing your bright and steadfast faith have meant for many of us who have come into contact with you in your double bereavement. Our faith has been deepened and our outlook on the awful mystery of death has been made brighter and more fearless thereby, for now more than ever before, are we able to realize the words of scripture in I. Thessalonians, 4.13, "We sorrow not, like others who have no hope."

That in your remaining days, you may realize ever increasingly the Master's own words in John 14.18, "I will not leave you comfortless; I will come unto you" is the very earnest wish of your friends and Orange Brethren.

Signed on behalf of Barton L. O. L. No. 1051.

THE COST OF LIVING IN BELGIUM

Some of the Fabulous Prices and the Scarcity of Certain Foodstuffs.

While people in Canada are groaning about the high cost of living—and justly so—and the hardships they must endure because of the war, it will be interesting to read the following extract from the Belgian Bulletin, issued at Washington. The item concerns repatriation of Belgians and is issued in the form of advice to those returning to Belgium:

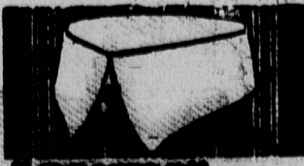

"The first commodity you must absolutely take with you is patience and in no small quantity either. Life is by no means easy and cannot be easy till, later, the reconstruction of Belgium has actually begun.

"Since there is at present no wool nor cotton nor garments of any kind nor shoes except at fabulous prices, be careful to renew your wardrobe and to provide yourself with enough wool for your bedding.

"Ladies, do not forget—this is a most valuable piece of advice—to carry thread, needles and pins. Also, since paper has reached an extraordinary value in Belgium, be sure to take boxes of writing paper, pens, ink and as much ordinary paper as your trunk will hold. You will find you have saved about 100 per cent on your stock.

"As far as food and provisions are concerned, do not hesitate to provide yourselves with as much sugar as you can get. There are some suburbs of Brussels where no sugar has been distributed for six weeks. As for butter, it has disappeared since the government brought the price down to $5.50 francs ($1.70). The farmers prefer to sell milk rather than to save it for butter and as a consequence not a single pound is displayed in the shop windows. Margarine does not even exist any more, so bring some of each.

"Though Brazil sends us coffee it still costs 10 francs ($2) a kilo. There is no cocoa left at all, nor candy, nor preserves, etc. Ham is not so scarce, but very dear."

WEDDING BELLS

An event of interest took place at St. Andrew's Church on Wednesday morning, Feb. 26th when Miss Ella J. McAdam, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McAdam, of West St. Peter's, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. J. Alexander McKenzie, Scotchfort, the ceremony being performed at eight o'clock by the pastor Rev. A. P. McLellan. The bride, who was attended by Miss Annie McKenzie, sister of the groom, looked charming in a tailored suit of brown broadcloth with brown furs and large picture hat, while the bridesmaid's costume was of blue charmeuse satin and georgette with plush coat, taupe hat and furs. The groom was supported by Mr. J. A. Burge, Station Agent of Bedford. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride where breakfast was partaken of after which the hours were pleasantly whiled away with both music and song, till noon when about thirty-five specially invited guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner prepared in Mrs. McAdam's well known style. About five o'clock the wedding party showed by the good wishes of those present left for the home of the groom where about sixty invited guests were present to hail their home coming and to offer felicitations on their nuptials. A splendid banquet prepared for the occasion was served at 6 o'clock when all present were decidedly renewed in fresh spirit. The repast terminating brief and appropriate speeches were delivered. Among those present who expressed sentiments of congratulation and felicitation were Rev. J. B. McIntyre, Messrs. James Bambrick and J. P. McIntyre. After which a few hours was pleasantly passed in dancing, music and song. The bride's costume for the night was a handsome gown of peach colored satin with silver and pearl trimmings. The large number of wedding presents received from friends far and near testified to the popularity in which the young couple were held. The groom's gift to the bride was an oak cabinet of silver, to the bridesmaid a pendant set with pearls and peridot's, and to the groomsmen a signet ring. A unique feature of the wedding was the fact that the bride was the third out of the household inside of a year, she being one of West St. Peter's most talented and genial young ladies and a favorite with everyone, while the groom is one of Scotchfort's progressive young farmers. About midnight all those present dispersed to their homes with cheers of admiration and felicitations for Mr. McKenzie and his handsome young bride.

ROYAL YEAST
The reason for changing the shape of Royal Yeast Cakes is that it is easier to wrap square cakes by machinery than round cakes. Each package will contain five cakes instead of six but the quality and quantity of yeast will be the same as formerly.

Mrs. McPherson Bellevue besides a host of friends and relatives. The late Mrs. McPhee was of a gentle and cheerful nature, quiet and unassuming, generous even to a fault, loved and respected by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. A Christian in every sense of the word. The call came sudden but found her prepared to meet her God. She entered the open portal of eternity with her lamps all trimmed and bright fully trusting in the redemption purchased by her crucified Saviour knowing that awaiting her in that beautiful Isle of somewhere sorrow is unknown, neither shadow of tears, was a robe and a crowns. Her mortal remains were to rest beside her parents in the beautiful cemetery that surrounds the historic church of Belfast. The funeral services at the home and grave conducted by the pastor Rev. J. McKenzie. The pall bearers were: James Nicholson, John McOrwell Cove, William Maitland, James Buchanan, John M. Buch Watson Bishop, of Mt. Buchanan.
