The trunks in the attic were being ransacked for Halloween in attempts to find costume material. Some of grandmothers dresses or shawl were pressed into service to make very quaint costumes. If left to their own devices it is amazing the costumes that some imaginative child will produce. It is much more fun for themselves and others, too, to fool people with their strange disguises than to make a general nuisance playing harmful pranks. — E. P.

Residents have been aroused to the fact that old man winter will soon be on his way. On Wednesday, Oct. 20 the first snow fell and on Friday the first sharp frost. Early risers found the ground white and stiff with frost. Those who had their fruits and vegetables stored away were glad for having taken the necessary precaution. The flower gardens on Saturday morning showed evidence of Jack Frost's visit. The Gladioli and Dahlias were blackened while other flowers such as Pinks and Delphiniums, which have a harder nature, were left intact. On one rose bush was noticed a solitary red rose. The first blossoms appeared on it some four months previously, therefore this one must surely be the "last rose of summer."

The frost has played havoc with other things besides the flowers. He nipped the cranberries particularly those on heavy clay soil. Those in very sandy soil went almost unscathed. The frost together with the snow which fell made the roads slippery especially a section of road at South Lake approximately two miles long. This road was last June and not gravelled. This would be a good time to have the work done as the snow is now working at the gravel pit at Frost's barra. The road was dangerously slippery for several days but from Saturday noon up to the present time was navigable. The bus service around the block through East Point has been terminated because of the poor condition of the road or so rumor has it, the service was appreciated very much during the summer months.

The annual meeting of the Montague Hockey Club was held at the Montague Curling Rink on Thursday, October 28th. In the absence of the President, Mr. Cecil Beck, Mr. Ronald MacDonald presided. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mr. Archie Hickey, and the Financial report was also read. Both minutes and report were approved as read. It was moved by Mr. Bryer Llewellyn and seconded by Mr. Ken Clements, that an agreement be made with Mr. B. H. Yeo, with regard to hockey games on Saturday night. In the election of officers, it was moved by H. Fower that Mr. Archie Hickey be re-elected secretary for the coming season. Mr. Kenneth Clements agreed to see all the young men in Montague who are interested in hockey. It is also understood that physical fitness is giving a course in Charlottetown in November. It is expected that two members from the local club will attend this course so that there will be men here capable of handling any references. Other items were discussed, and it is hoped that there will be two local teams entered in the Eastern Kings League this year. Word from Georgetown and Murray Harbour is expected soon so that the formation of the League will get underway for the winter season. After discussing many general questions, the meeting closed.

Mr. Gordon Ross, Mr. Joseph Johnson and Mr. Albert Skinner motored to Faigle Mansion on the St. Peter's Road on Sunday—Geo.

Saturday night witnessed one of the quietest celebrations of Halloween in many years and a minimum of damage was reported. The Halloween party for all ages, sponsored by the Georgetown Community Welfare League, no doubt aided materially in a sane and entertaining evening for all.

The second annual Halloween party sponsored by the Georgetown Welfare League was held in the Town Hall on Saturday night. Practically all children of the town attended and also a large number of parents. Costumes representing all characters of the historic, humorous and fictional past, present and future were in evidence and gave to the whole proceedings a Mad! Gras appearance. Bingo was indulged in by young and old and many were smiled upon by lady luck. Apples and candy were passed around to all present, after which a lovely lunch, which was generously donated by the ladies of the Town, was served. At the proper time the younger of the merry-makers were dispatched to their homes and dancing was then enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.
