Imports Into South Africa

Total imports into South Africa fell from £57,880,747 in 1930 to £48,283,651 in 1931, a decline of £9,597,096 or approximately 16 per cent, writes J. L. Muller, Assistant Trade Commissioner at Cape Town in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Except for Japan, the decrease was felt by all the principal countries of supply. Notwithstanding this, Germany, Canada and Belgium held a larger share of the total trade, on a percentage basis, than they did in the previous year. The United States held the largest share, covering the percentage of those of Holland and Sweden, whose exports to the Union fell by 20.5 per cent and 28 per cent respectively. India, whose trade declined by 25.5 per cent; the United States, whose share of the Union's business was 24 per cent less than in 1930; Canada, whose trade fell by 16.5 per cent; and Japan, whose trade fell by 11.5 per cent. The only increase, and a most substantial one, occurred in the case of Japan, which was responsible for £2,446,967 as compared to £1,537,208 in the previous year or, on a percentage basis, 58 per cent of the Union's total imports in 1931 as against 2.5 per cent in 1930. The actual increase in imports from Japan for the year under review was 57.1 per cent.

Agriculturists Now Optimistic

Every Province Now Looking Forward To Increasing Trade In Farm Products With Great Britain.
Confidence as to the agricultural future of Canada, particularly in view of the favorable concessions in the British market obtained as a result of the Imperial Conference, was evident in the attitude of every delegation attending the Agricultural Conference last week at Toronto. This is the cheering message brought home by the Hon. G. Shelton Sharp, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, who returned last night from attending the sessions. He was accompanied to the conference at Toronto by Mr. J. W. Boulter, Deputy Minister, who returned home on Saturday.

With the enlarged market now available in Great Britain the conference felt that every effort should be made to increase the quality and uniformity in grading of Canadian farm products. The conference on agricultural services was called by Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, at Toronto on Aug. 29. There were present by invitation all the Provincial Ministers of Agriculture and their deputies, besides heads of agricultural and veterinary colleges, representatives of Provincial research councils, the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculture, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, Board of Grain Commissioners, Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, and the Federal Department of Agriculture. A total of about sixty-two were in attendance. The conference lasted four days, starting from 9 o'clock each morning and continuing until 5.30 p.m. with one hour for lunch.

Flour and Wheat Trade Of Japan

The annual production of about 33,000,000 bushels of domestic wheat is not sufficient to meet the requirements of the flour mills and the difference between demand and supply about 100,000,000 short tons must be imported, writes James A. Langley, Commercial Secretary at Tokyo, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Flour milling companies use foreign wheat during the first half of the year and domestic wheat during the second half, owing to the high protein content and excellent milling qualities of Canadian hard wheat. The Japanese market for Canadian wheat flour is very irregular, but there will always be a certain amount of demand. Japan offers a much greater market for Canadian wheat than for Canadian flour because of the increasing activity of the Japanese milling companies and the much higher tariff that is imposed on flour as compared with wheat. The Japanese market for dehydrated apple rings is also increasing.

"Did your husband—or—die a natural death?"
"Oh, yes; 'e was run over by a motor car!"

Soldiers Behind German Gov't.

(Canadian Press) BERLIN, Sept. 4.—One hundred and ninety five thousand members of the Nationalist Steel Helmet, acting for 1,000,000 more German Great War veterans today, aligned themselves behind the government of Chancellor Franz Von Papen in the most brilliant military display since the days of Kaiser Wilhelm. In a gigantic parade at Tempelhof aerodrome they indicated by their soldierly bearing and implicit obedience to commands that they could capably swell the ranks of the Reichswehr if and when Germany completes her negotiations for modification of the Versailles Treaty. From 5.30 to 10.30 in the morning seemingly endless columns of Steel Helmeters moved from every direction upon Tempelhof to hear Franz Sedlitz plead for patriotism, unity and love of their fellow-men, and to see Theodore Deusterberg dedicate hundreds of new flags to units just formed. Sedlitz and Deusterberg are co-leaders of the organization. For six hours following these ceremonies the aerodrome resounded to the tramp of marching feet as battalion after battalion passed in review before Chancellor Von Papen. Defense Minister Kurt Von Schleicher, interior minister Wilhelm Von Gayl and other Cabinet members in the uniforms of Reichswehr generals, greeted the Chancellor as he appeared with his staff. Sedlitz and Deusterberg, striking a keynote that "the old German army is no more but its spirit lives," administered a solemn oath of allegiance to the imperial colors of black, white and red to steel helmeters. Former Crown Prince Wilhelm and his wife witnessed the demonstration, while his brothers, Eitel and Oscar marched in the ranks.
